VOTE TEACHERS SCRIP, BUT THEY DON'T WANT IT

Doubt It Can Be Used in Buying.

As preparations were under way yesterday to close the public schools for the summer vacation period tomorrow the already thin prospect of the teachers for cash with which to go on their vacations went glimmering. Instead of money the school board voted to make the payment of the millions of back salaries in "participation certificates," commonly called scrip.

The school board plan is simple. It is proposed to set aside in a trust $5,200,000 worth of 1931 tax anticipation warrants, which will be held in that trust until the warrants can be sold. Instead of $100 due in salary a teacher will be offered a certificate of participation in that trust. The certificate will be redeemable only when the trust sells its warrants. When the schools close tomorrow the board will owe more than $9,736,000 to teachers and school civil service employés.

Not Acceptable to Banks.

There were immediate and emphatic proofs that the paper will not be acceptable to the banks or to the tradesmen from whom the teachers must purchase their daily necessities. Proof of this came from Eben N. Baty, executive secretary of the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association, and from Sol Westerfeld, veteran former head of the Chicago Grocers and Butchers' association and the Retail Grocers' association.

The participation certificate payment plan was adopted with the support of President Myers and Trustees Savage, Caldwell and English, all holdovers from the last administration. Trustees Hefferan and Brandenburg voted against it. Attorney Thomas M. Sullivan announced that he will draw up the trust agreement under which the certificates will be issued this morning so that the trust will be ready to operate this afternoon.

Banker Gives Interview.

Representatives of various teachers' groups have been told by individual bankers that the new form of paper would not be acceptable to them, but the first showing that this attitude would prevail throughout the city came when Mr. Baty was asked for an interview.

This action was followed by a protest from still another teachers' organization. Ald. Wiley W. Mills, representing the High School Teachers' association, announced that its directors had adopted resolutions urging its members not to accept the certificates until the payment of interest upon them is assured and all other means of raising revenue have failed.

How Bankers Feel.

"Since there was no formal decision by the board until today" he said, "we have taken no official action. In answer to your question of what the attitude of the association will be I can best refer you to a very positive statement issued by the association last year when it was proposed to pay city employés with tax warrants, which in effect, is the same plan as this."

Reference to the files of THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 2, 1930, disclosed that this statement read in part:

"Your directors are unanimous in the belief that city and county employés should not be paid in tax anticipation warrants. They strongly recommend if such a procedure is followed that no member bank cash these warrants for customers or others or accept them as collateral."

Grocers Follow Bankers.

Mr. Westerfeld, now identified with the Chicago Meat Dealers' association, said he felt that the attitude of the grocers and meat dealers of the city toward the new paper would depend upon the attitude of the banks.

"If such paper is bankable," he said, "it will be accepted. If it is not bankable there might be a few dealers who would be able to receive small amounts of it. But as a whole the stores are in the position of being compelled to know that the certificates would be accepted in payment of their own bills to the wholesalers and the packers, and that appears extremely doubtful at this time."

Blast Damages Palatial Boat; Loss $75,000

Four men narrowly escaped death late yesterday afternoon when an explosion damaged the new $150,000 pleasure yacht Kenkora, owned by Kenneth G. Smith of Winnetka, wealthy tooth paste manufacturer, as the boat lay at anchor at the docks of the Great Lakes Boat Building corporation, 3250 North Washtenaw avenue, in the north branch of the Chicago river near the Belmont avenue bridge.

The force of the blast, which occurred in the galley below deck, shattered the main cabin and hurled the yacht's captain, Leonard B. Clark, 2516 Pine Grove avenue, and the steward, John Wartell, 948 Edgecomb place, from the cabin to the afterdeck. The ship's chef, Ralph Jasperson, who was in the galley where the explosion took place, was severely burned and was taken to the Belmont hospital.

Hit by Flying Débris.

Austin Jacobson, 1453 North Lotus avenue, a custodian for the department of justice, who was standing on the docks, was thrown into the river by the force of the explosion. He was rescued and taken to the hospital.

According to Chief Edward Kugelman of the 4th battalion of the fire department, the explosion apparently was caused by the ignition of liquid petroleum gas used in the ship's galley. The force of the explosion virtually ruined the interior of the yacht, which was launched two months ago.

Craft Being Examined.

The craft had been resting at anchor in Belmont harbor until yesterday afternoon when it was transferred to the boat company docks for an examination by insurance engineers, who were making an appraisal for an insurance company.

The chef was preparing the evening meal for the ship's crew when the blast occurred.

The captain said he thought there were six sailors besides himself, the steward and chef, aboard at the time of the explosion.

Battalion Chief Kugelman estimated the damage to the boat at $75,000. The yacht is a twin screw 83 foot express cruiser with 1,100 horse power motors and was completed recently at a cost of $150,000.

SPEEDBOAT BURNS

A woman and three men, all passengers, and a pilot were imperiled last night when a 30 foot speed boat caught fire in the lake about 250 feet from the docks of the Edgewater Beach hotel, 5349 Sheridan road.

All were rescued, but the boat, valued at $7,000, was burned to the water's edge. It later sank under a wave. The craft was owned by the Rapid Water Transit company.

The passengers boarded the boat for a pleasure cruise to and from Wilmette. Soon after the craft left the wharf, a puff of flame and fire broke out in the engine compartment. Within a few moments another speedboat motored alongside, and took off the five imperiled people, and then towed the burning boat a half mile into the lake. Hundreds of spectators, many in their hotel rooms, saw the fire on the lake.

THIEVES CRASH INTO MOTORIST; ALL 5 CAUGHT

A five mile chase in which a Fillmore police squad, firing shot after shot, pursued five 17 year old automobile thieves from Crawford avenue and Harrison street all the way to the loop, ended at Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard early this morning when the fugitives' automobile speeded past a stoplight and crashed into a car on the boulevard, severely injuring its occupant. Both automobiles were wrecked and the police squad, arriving a few seconds later, seized all the youths they had been pursuing.

The injured motorist is Addison Dione, 21 years old, 656 Grace street, a starter for the Yellow Cab company. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital with a possible skull fracture.

The prisoners, arrested by Sergt. Frank Olis and his squad, are: Benjamin Paccio, 735 Sholto street; Ambrose Russo, 725 South May street; William Bovenzo, 620 South Paulina street; James Caliendo, 1139 Harrison street, and John Corty, 713 Sholto street. They confessed, Sergt. Olis said, that they had stolen the car in which they were riding as it stood parked near State and Adams street last evening.

ANOTHER WARM, AND HUMID DAY, FORECASTER SAYS

Another warm and humid day with temperatures probably in the 80s was predicted for today by C. A. Donnel, government weather forecaster, last night. There is a possibility of showers.

The mercury climbed to 87 degrees at 6 and 7 o'clock last night. An unusual condition of yesterday's weather, the forecaster said, was the high degree of humidity. Under a temperature of about 86, the humid content of the air is normally 45. Yesterday it was 72.

"Southeast winds coming over the lake saved Chicago from a temperature of about 95 degrees," said Forecaster Donnel. "It was 98 not far from Chicago. In Davenport and in Sioux City it was 100, a June record."

Lightning struck and destroyed the Methodist church at Chandler, Ind. The parsonage and adjoining building were saved. The loss was estimated at $20,000.

TAKE BOOKS OF LINDY'S FATHER FROM LIBRARY

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—[Special.]—"Overzealous admirers" of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh have removed copies of the writings of his father, former Congressman C. A. Lindbergh, from the shelves of the public library, it was charged today.

Two of three books by the former congressman, "The Economic Pinch," "Why Is Your Country at War?" and "Banking, Currency, and the Money Trust," were given to the library, but they have disappeared from the shelves.

The books have drawn criticism as being decidedly radical, and it is believed that admirers of the flyer have been responsible for the "suppression" in the library here and in neighboring states.

The younger Lindbergh now is son-in-law of Dwight Morrow, former partner in J. P. Morgan & Co. The banking house often was attacked by Congressman Lindbergh.

Woman Shop Owner Shot by Burglars

Mrs. Celia Caplan, 46 years old, owner with her husband, Max, of the Snappy Style Dress shop at 1848½ West 35th street, was shot and possibly fatally wounded early this morning by one of two burglars whom she surprised looting the shop.

Aroused from sleep by a crash of glass at 4:30 o'clock, Mrs. Caplan left the family apartment at the rear of the store, where her husband and son, Sydney, 17 years old, were sleeping, and in her night clothing walked through the door into the shop. There she came upon the two burglars, who had broken the front window with a brick to gain entrance.

Their arms were full of dresses with which they were preparing to leave the store. Mrs. Caplan screamed. One of the burglars turned, drew a pistol and shot her through the abdomen. Caplan, aroused by his wife's cry and the shot, rushed into the shop and caught a fleeting glimpse of the gunmen as they leaped into an automobile at the curb and speeded away. He summoned the Brighton Park police, who took Mrs. Caplan to St. Anthony's hospital.

Woman Nurse Dies in Loop Hotel; Poison Is Found

Miss Edna Hanson, 27 years old, a trained nurse, who until Tuesday had been employed in the home of W. W. Turner, 359 Valley road, Glencoe, was found dead on the floor of the bathroom in her room at the Hotel Sherman last night. Two vials, one containing poison, were found in the bathroom.

Samuel Levin, former vice president of the Consumers Gas and Oil company, who was kidnaped for $5,000 ransom last Saturday night, returned to his home at 165 North Pine avenue shortly after 1 o'clock this morning.

He was apparently uninjured by his captivity, although in a somewhat nervous condition, partly due to his having been blindfolded for nearly ninety-six hours. Levin was freed by his abductors near a section of west side cemeteries presumably in Forest Park. No ransom was paid for his release, according to his attorney, William J. Robinson, who hastened to the Levin home on news of his return.

Telephones to His Wife.

Still blindfolded when ejected from the kidnapers' automobile, Levin groped about for a few minutes, then tore off his eye shields. He telephoned his wife, Rhea, and she found him. At their home neither Levin nor his wife would discuss the kidnaping at any length.

The story is, however, that Levin was driving in Crawford avenue Saturday night when an automobile containing several men forced him into the curb. Two of the men leaped out, menaced him with revolvers, and dragged him from his car into theirs. Another man immediately clapped bandages over his eyes. Levin was driven around for more than an hour. Nothing was said.

Finally Levin was taken into a house. He does not know where. He was led up a flight of stairs and into a room. He was still blindfolded.

$5,000 Ransom Demanded.

"We've got you now, Levin," said one of his captors. "We know you've got lots of dough. We're holding out for $5,000. It's your life or your money."

Levin said nothing. The spokesman then asked him to name some of his friends. Levin gave about fifteen names, among them that of Max Glasser, 1457 Summerdale avenue, owner of a filling station at Division street and Western avenue.

Glasser was selected to act as go-between, and a stranger, not associated with the kidnap gang, carried a letter to him directing that negotiations for the ransom be made with Attorney Robinson. Glasser, as other developments showed, carried out the compulsory negotiations and was held by the police for questioning.

Asks Glasser's Release.

What transpired from then on Levin does not remember with exact detail except that he was placed in an automobile last night and then released. At the time he was hatless and coatless. After a conference with his attorney, Robinson, Levin got into communication with the detective bureau to arrange for Glasser's release.

Glasser meanwhile had continuously protested his innocence and had described himself as an unwitting tool of the kidnapers. His fear of reprisal at the abductors' hands was so strong that he pleaded last night to be held in a cell.

CONDI NAMED IN SIDNEY SMITH GEM ROBBERY

Joe Condi, New York hoodlum who figured with Izzy Alderman as among the first subjects of the vagrancy drive of Judge John H. Lyle last fall, was identified last night as one of the bandits who stole $50,000 in jewels from Sidney Smith, TRIBUNE cartoonist and creator of the Gumps, and his wife, Kathryn. The holdup occurred June 14.

The identification was made by Charles Cannon, Negro chauffeur for the Smiths, in the office of Chief of Detectives John Norton. Cannon, who was accompanied by William P. Korsland, Mr. Smith's secretary, said Condi sat in the front seat of the Smith car and directed his accomplice as the latter took their victims' gems. The chauffeur signed a robbery complaint against Condi.

Condi was arrested yesterday afternoon with Higgins Dennison, also a New Yorker, at Clark and Randolph streets by Sergts. Roy Van Herik and George Maher. Condi said he lived at 5737 Kenmore avenue. Dennison gave his address as 1755 Monroe street. A writ of habeas corpus was filed for them, and police were given until today to take formal action. Meantime Cannon was summoned. His identification turned what had been an ordinary pickup into what police now say is a major arrest.

Cuts Off Mother-in-Law's Nose; She Doesn't Like It

Tulsa, Okla., June 24.—(AP)—Accused of cutting off the nose of his mother-in-law, Jack Van Zandt of Redfork, was held today for a preliminary hearing under bond of $2,500. He pleaded not guilty on arraignment to a charge of maiming Mrs. Ella Williams, the mother-in-law, said Van Zandt cut off her nose in a quarrel Saturday. Van Zandt's estranged wife lives with her mother.

YANKS CROSS TO BERLIN IN 31 HRS.; RECORD

Two Others on Dash for Copenhagen.

BULLETIN.

COPENHAGEN, June 25.—(Thursday.)—(AP)—The Reuter's agency received an official message from the reception committee for the American flyers today pointing out that at 1 p. m. (7 a. m. Chicago daylight time) the plane Liberty, carrying Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis from Newfoundland, had been in the air only 28 hours, and there was no need for worry, as the flyers had fuel for 32 hours.

Ocean Flying Season

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty yesterday flew the Atlantic from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Berlin, setting a new record for the water hop on their round the world flight. They took off for Moscow this morning.

Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis left Harbor Grace at dawn yesterday and are winging their way over the Atlantic for Copenhagen, Denmark. They were due at 7:30 a. m. today, but at 8:15 had not arrived.

In New York Clyde Pangborne and Hugh Herndon announced they would hop for Moscow on a nonstop flight Saturday morning as the first leg of a dash around the world.

Bad weather forced the postponement of a nonstop flight from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Budapest scheduled for today by two Hungarian flyers, Capt. George Erndress and Sandor Magyar. They had planned to fly from New York for Newfoundland at dawn.

Russell Boardman of Boston announced in New York last night that he expected to start on a trans-Atlantic flight at midnight tonight. He refused to disclose his destination.

BERLIN, June 25 (Thursday).—(AP)—Harold Gatty and Wiley Post hopped off for Moscow today at 7:38 a. m. (1:38 a. m. Chicago daylight time) on the second stage of their flight around the world.

The Americans appeared rested as they climbed into the Winnie Mae after seven and one-half hours' sleep and a good bath. They took along only minimum provisions—one bottle of water and two ham sandwiches.

The start was somewhat delayed by refueling, greasing, and inspecting the plane, which appeared in excellent condition.

They said they expected to make the 950 mile trip in from seven to eight hours. The Lufthansa wireless operator promised to supply them weather reports on a 900 meter wave length. They were uncertain as to when they would continue the flight from Moscow.

The plane rose smoothly over the Tempelhof airdrome and made two "rounds of farewell" before it struck off in an easterly direction.

RECORD TIME TO BERLIN

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 24.—With the cheers of thousand ringing over Tempelhof airport, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, American round the world flyers, landed in Berlin at 5:30 o'clock tonight [2:30 p. m., Chicago daylight saving time] almost 24 hours to the minute from the time the big white single motored monoplane took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland. Thus the entire flight from Roosevelt field, New York, to the German capital was covered in about 21 hours, the 1,200 mile hop from New York taking 6 hours and 52 minutes.

The airmen set a new record for the 2,000 mile Atlantic flight, making the water jump in 15 hours and 42 minutes. Two stops were made for fuel on the overland flight in Chester, England, and again in Hanover, Germany.

The enthusiasm of the gathered throngs commenced when the speedy "Winnie Mae," first a tiny speck, soared out of the west from Hanover like a silver flash against the evening sky, circled in an elaborate salute over the field before nestling down, achieving the second leg of a flight in which the daring birdmen expect to girdle the globe in less than ten days.

"We are slightly ahead of our schedule," the flyers exclaimed after the storm of welcome had subsided and they could catch their breath. "The trip was alright—that is, with the exception of the rain. It rained on us all night long. But we got through, and we're off at 8 a. m. for Moscow. The weather predictions are excellent."

German air officials and their families, armed with bouquets, comprised the official reception committee. They started forward as the trans-Atlantic plane pointed its nose earthward, but the "Winnie Mae" halted in the far corner of the airport.

Champagne Awaits Flyers.

A truck towed the ship to the grandstand, where several bottles of champagne had been placed on a table for Post and Gatty.

Then it was discovered that the flyers weren't in the plane. Post's tousled head was recognized and he was hoisted on the shoulders of a husky policeman as the one-eyed pilot almost fell to the ground from exhaustion.

Gatty, the navigator, dodged the shoulder carriers, but he, too, nearly collapsed after speaking over the radio to New York City.

When the police saw how tired the birdmen were they rushed the cheering crowd away, enabling the flyers to retreat to the private dining room of the Lufthansa air chiefs to enjoy their first real meal in 24 hours.

Gatty Calls for Beer.

Grinning, Gatty tested out his German by turning to a waiter and saying:

"One beer, please!"

A foaming mug appeared.

Later when asked for details of the flight, Gatty climbed to the table and with Air Minister Brandenburg's cane indicated the route the flyers had taken—New York, Newfoundland, Sligo, Wales, Ireland, Chester, England; Brussels, Hanover, and then Berlin.

Post, who piloted the plane for the entire flight, retired at the airport's hotel soon after the reception. Gatty stayed up late to examine the plane and give last minute instructions for refueling and repairs.

Just before "hitting the hay," Gatty was confronted by Berlin police, who politely asked him for the Americans' passports, which Gatty produced.

The flyers have obtained permission to fly over Russia, but they must leave their camera behind, because the soviets refuse to permit the taking of pictures from the air.

"Where Are We?"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHESTER, England, June 24.—"Is this England, Scotland, or Wales?" was the first question of Wiley Post when he and Harold Gatty climbed out of their monoplane, the Winnie Mae, at the Sealand royal air force airdrome near here at 12:50 p. m. today [7:50 a. m. Chicago time], after crossing the Atlantic from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

The flyers did not tarry any longer than to have lunch and examine weather charts and took off for Berlin after a stay of less than an hour. The Americans thanked the airdrome officials for their hospitality and climbed in their plane with the prediction that they would be in Berlin for tea.

A group of royal air force officers and meteorological experts were the first to greet the airmen. Nobody recognized the machine when it pulled up in a perfect landing. The flyers, heavily wrapped in flying kits, climbed stiffly from the plane.

Deaf from Roar of Motor.

After being told they were in England, Post and Gatty explained that they had just flown the Atlantic. Only then did the airport officers realize who their guests were. When the officers attempted to answer their query the Americans told them they would have to shout because they were deaf from the sound of the motor. Seated at lunch the flyers elucidated in their experience.

"We had a fine trip," Post said, "except for the rain. We also met a half gale but battled through it all right. We sighted land early this morning. We thought it must have been the coast of Ireland, so we continued. Then we crossed the Irish sea, but when we saw your airdrome we thought we had better come down and make sure exactly where we were.

"I can't say we were lost. We just didn't know where we were—which is not quite the same thing."

Sighted Over Bangor, Wales.

Before their arrival the air ministry gave out a statement that the weather was very unfavorable with low clouds and intermittent rain and fog. The plane's radio was heard over the ocean only once, by the Swedish steamer, the Drottningholm, which received its signals this morning. The "Winnie Mae" was not heard from during the rest of the journey until it crossed the Irish sea. It was sighted over Bangor, Wales, where it circled the town before continuing eastward. Twenty-five minutes later it landed at Sealand.

Flying to Denmark.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, June 24.—Flying in a Ballanca monoplane without a radio and through a hazy, drizzling sky, Otto Hillig, 55, ahd Holger Hoirlis, 28, tonight were presumably well on their way over the Atlantic on their dash from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Copenhagen.

No fears were felt here for the safety of the two, who had left Newfoundland at 3:24 a. m. [Chicago daylight savings time]. They were expected in Copenhagen at 7:30 a. m., tomorrow [Chicago time]. Hillig is piloting the $22,000 ship.

Spain's Ocean Flyer Hurt When Platform Collapses

SEVILLE, Spain, June 24.—(AP)—Ramon Franco, Spain's transatlantic flyer, who has risked death many times without even suffering injury, tonight broke his leg when a platform collapsed under him as he was addressing a political meeting at Lora Del Rio. He was brought to the Seville hospital. Franco has been campaigning in Andalusa for the assembly elections next Sunday.

Justice McGoorty Leaves Hospital After Operation

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court returned home from the Presbyterian hospital yesterday after a stay of two weeks following a minor operation performed by Dr. Vernon C. David.

TWO TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHTS

After spanning the Atlantic the birdmen paused in Chester, England, and Hanover, Germany, for fuel on their 3,700 mile flight. They plan to fly to Moscow today.

Dotted line shows route Otto Hillig and Holger Hoirlis are following on their flight from Harbor Grace to Copenhagen, Denmark. The two left at dawn yesterday and are expected to reach Copenhagen at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Their flight also started from New York.

"OF COURSE THEY DID IT," FLYERS' FAMILY ASSERTS

Parents Calmly Do Chores on Farm.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 24.—(AP)—News that Wiley Post and Harold Gatty had reached Berlin after spanning the Atlantic in their round the world flight was received with joy in Oklahoma today, but there was no great excitement among relatives and close friends of Post, the pilot.

"Wasn't that what they started out to do?" was the matter of fact attitude of the wife, parents and brothers of the Oklahoma pilot.

Mrs. Post, who is 22 years old, made preparations to go to New York to meet her husband upon the completion of the world flight, "within ten days."

"I knew they would do it," she said.

Parents Go About Chores.

The parents of the flyer, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Post, were unworried and went calmly about work on their farm near Maysville, Okla. A son, Arthur, made occasional trips to Maysville for news of the progress of the flight, since there is no telephone on the farm.

F. C. Hall, oil man, who financed the flight, and his daughter, Mrs. Leslie Fain, nee Winnie Mae Hall, after whom the plane was named, followed the flight news closely.

Hall recalled that Post and Gatty practiced sitting in their ship through many nights as they scanned their instruments in the dark. In this way they not only became accustomed to viewing the interior of their machine without daylight, but became hardened to the discomfiture entailed through long vigils. Most of this practice was carried out with the plane on the ground, but considerable night flying also was done.

Family Hears Gatty Over Radio.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Harold Gatty and her three small sons, avowed air navigators of the future, today heard their husband and father tell the world by radio that he was "happy to be in Berlin."

The telephone rang and a voice said: "You don't know who I am but they are broadcasting the landing of your husband and Wiley Post."

In an instant the radio began to speak:

"They're circling the field now. They're going to land."

That was enough. Mrs. Gatty ran to the door and called the three children. She dashed back into the house and attempted to telephone friends, but gave it up. She ran to the door again and shouted to neighbors.

"Post and Gatty will be here in a moment to say a few words," came the voice over the air.

Tears welled into Mrs. Gatty's grey eyes. She jumped up and down through sheer joy, and turned the receiving set on a little louder.

"We are happy to be in Berlin," spoke Gatty.

"That's Dad, Children!"

"That's he," cried his wife. "Listen, your father is talking from Berlin," she told the children.

"We plan to leave Berlin tomorrow morning." It was Gatty over the radio again. The shouting of the throng drowned out what last few words he had to say.

"Now isn't that just like him," Mrs. Gatty said as she wiped the tears from her eyes. "He always was bashful, and never had more than a few words to say."

RADIO BEACON FOR PORT.

Manitowoc, Wis., June 24.—[Special.]—A radio beacon to enable mariners to determine the exact position of their ships with relation to harbor piers is to be established in this harbor, the first on Lake Michigan. Similar equipment will be placed later in Milwaukee, Chicago and Ludington, Mich.

NEW 'LIE' TESTS MADE IN MOVIE MURDER INQUIRY

Lie detector tests were made yesterday on the stories told by three Negroes concerning the murder of Jacob Kaufman, 949 Lafayette parkway, a motion picture operator who was shot to death last Saturday night in a garage at 9525 Princeton avenue. Previous tests had been made with the same machine, but at that time its operators, who are connected with the Northwestern university crime laboratory, were not in possession of the information upon which to base leading questions.

The killing was reënacted Tuesday. The garage is owned by David Greer, who was installing a radio in Kaufman's automobile, and John Drake, a garage worker, was present. Crawford Johnson, a motion picture operator, had sent Kaufman to that garage and Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Lounsbury and Charles Bellows believe he may have been the agency through which Kaufman was "put on the spot."

The prosecutors said yesterday they considered Drake a key witness. While no official announcement was made of the results of the tests the prosecutors refused to believe Drake's statement that he didn't see either the man who fired the shot at Kaufman or the men in the automobile with the killer.

U. S. FLYERS OUT OF AIR RACES AT CLEVELAND

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Aces of the army, navy, and marine corps this year, for the first time since the inauguration of the national air races, will not participate in competitive flying at the annual air classic at Cleveland late in August.

Officials of the three services expressed the opinion today that commercial aviation has so far advanced as to make it unnecessary for the services to carry the bulk of flying at the races. Gradual reductions in the number of service entrants, it was pointed out, have been made during the last several years.

The navy's decision to withdraw from competitive flying this year, it is understood, was prompted by two fatalities which occurred last summer during the races at Chicago.

All three services, however, have indicated that they will be represented by their most famous squadrons.

Kenosha Resident Dies on Porch of Country Club

Kenosha, Wis., June 24.—[Special.]—A heart attack was fatal to George Harry Curtiss, 71, this afternoon. He collapsed on the porch at the Kenosha Country club while talking with friends and died almost immediately. He was secretary of the club. In 1927 he retired as secretary-treasurer of the Allen A company, after having been with the firm for 35 years. He is survived by a son, Harold Curtiss.

VAGRANT JESTS OF A MURDER; FIND IT'S TRUE

Police Discover Woman's Body in Apartment.

The casual murder confession of a vagrant picked up in the streets of Milwaukee by the Milwaukee police late last night sent a squad from the detective bureau in Chicago to the second floor apartment at 658 West Grand avenue, where they found Mrs. Kate Albrecht, a widow, lying dead among her pet canaries.

Frank Cankor, who gave his address as Indianapolis, was arrested in Milwaukee on auspicion. With few preliminaries, he calmly confessed that he had murdered a woman in Chicago on Monday night. He gave the name and address of Mrs. Albrecht and jokingly told how he had choked her to death when she had asked him to take out insurance in her name.

Police Find Her Body.

Word of the strange confession was flashed to the police here, and detectives hurried to the West Grand avenue address. Joe Lagrish, a youth living in the apartment above, crawled through a window and let the police into the apartment.

The body of Mrs. Albrecht was lying on a bed. Apparently she had been beaten as well as choked. A sheet was thrown over her body. At the foot of the bed was a chicken in a cage, nearby were six canaries and in the kitchen were two spitz dogs.

The entire apartment was in disorder, as though there had been a struggle. Clothes were found tossed about and a drawer pulled out, indicating that the place had been ransacked.

Mrs. Albrecht had been a widow about a month. Residents of the apartment building said that she recently had advertised for roomers, and a sign in the vestibule of the building told of rooms for rent in Mrs. Albrecht's apartment.

Leave to Return Prisoner.

Cankor, in his confession, said he had been rooming with Mrs. Albrecht for a short time. He said she had admonished him to take insurance with her as a beneficiary.

"But, I fooled her," he said. "I killed her. I choked her with one hand."

MICHIGAN CITY RAIDS RESULT IN ARREST OF 15

South Bend, Ind., June 25.—(AP)—Swooping down on eleven alleged speakeasies, gambling establishments and roadhouses in and near Michigan city, federal agents tonight confiscated a large amount of beer and liquor and several shotguns and revolvers, and arrested 15 men.

Those arrested were brought to the St. Joseph county jail tonight to await arraignment tomorrow.

The places raided included a roadhouse owned by Sam Mullens, which is not far from the beach home of George Howlett, who was named by federal income tax investigators last week as the lieutenant and "fixer" for Al Capone. District Attorney Oliver Loomis said Howlett is believed to be the operator of the gambling establishment.

Scales Seized by Grein to Be Fuel for Bonfire

Faulty scales, seized in the campaign of City Sealer Joe Grein for honest weights, will form fuel for a big bonfire to be held on the island off Roosevelt road next Tuesday. The fire will be turned into something of a minor civic festival, with a children's drum and fife furnishing music.

AIMEE GRANTED RIGHT TO FIGHT TAX PAYMENT

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson today obtained permission from the board of tax appeals to continue her contest against paying the government an additional $17,486 in income taxes.

The board overruled a motion by the internal revenue bureau to dismiss the application of the Los Angeles evangelist for a redetermination of her 1927 and 1928 taxes.

The bureau contended the application was void because it had not been signed by Mrs. McPherson. Llewellyn A. Luce of Washington, one of the evangelist's attorneys, explained she had not signed it because she was in Europe when it was presented.

The internal revenue bureau assessed the additional tax on the ground she should have reported income of $19,236 for 1927 instead of $9,712, and $107,395 for 1928 instead of $18,868. The evangelist replied that she had reported all her income which was taxable.

In her petition she said the $9,524 added by the government to her 1927 income was a gift from the congregation of Angelus temple, of which she is pastor, and hence was not taxable.

She explained it had been contributed as a "defense fund," following her widely publicized disappearance in 1926, to obtain evidence that she had been kidnaped.

The amount added to her 1928 income included a payment of $38,871 on a life insurance policy, $12,000 in cashier's checks drawn from a Los Angeles bank account maintained by "Elizabeth Johnson," and profits from real estate transactions.

ROBBERY MUST BE A COLD BUSINESS FOR THIS BANDIT

Police yesterday began a search for a bandit who is the only one of his kind out of capitivity. And more—when and if apprehended he will be the only one of his kind in captivity. This bandit wore a heavy overcoat, well buttoned up, when he assisted in the robbery of the tailor shop of Elmer Baker, 1249 West Van Buren street. A confederate entered the shop to have his trousers pressed. While the tailor pressed the trousers the confederate waited in shorts until the overcoat clad thief and another robber arrived. When Baker finished the pressing the heat proof visitor drew a gun and forced Baker to lie on the floor. The cold blooded robber then sat on the tailor while the first named thief donned his trousers and, with the aid of the third, gathered up nine suits, four women's dresses and $8. The bandits adjusted his overcoat as he stepped out into the boiling sun.

Orders Jack Kearns to Answer Contempt Charge

Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday issued a writ of attachment to summon Jack Kearns, fight manager, to answer a charge of contempt of court. Attorney Cornelius J. Harrington informed Judge Trude that Kearns is $4,000 in arrears on temporary alimony payments awarded his wife, Legana, in her suit for separate maintenance.

CHICAGO & ALTON TO ASK PERMIT FOR AIR ROUTES

Oppose I. C. C. Petition of Plane Companies.

W. G. Bierd, receiver of the Chicago and Alton railroad, announced yesterday that attorneys for the Alton will appear before the Illinois commerce commission at Springfield on July 14 with an offer to operate airplane passenger service between Chicago and St. Louis and intermediate points.

W. G. BIERD. [U. & U.]

This move further complicates the controversy which is now being threshed out before the commission by attorneys for two airways, the Century and Universal air lines, who are asking the commission to accept jurisdiction over their lines in a petition for a certificate of convenience and necessity.

The action of the Alton is significant in view of similar action taken recently by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. These railroads declare that if air service is established as a public necessity the railroads should be the operating agency.

"If a new method of transportation is to replace any part of the present railroad service," said Mr. Bierd, "we should be given the first opportunity to provide the necessary service. The old investment of the railroads should not be destroyed in order to build up a new transportation system. We object to unfair competition which tends to destroy the earnings of the railroads which are already losing heavily."

The route which will be proposed by the Alton would connect Chicago, Bloomington, Springfield and East St. Louis, paralleling approximately the present rail route. Century Air Lines and Universal Air Lines, division of American Airways, operate between Chicago and St. Louis on frequent schedules.

Action was first started before the commerce commission when the Century lines applied for a certificate of convenience and necessity. Similar application was made by American Airways and officials of other air lines in Illinois were drawn into the hearings as interested onlookers.

It was pointed out the Alton has no immediate plans for air line operation, unless the commerce commission grants their petition. Their move was accepted as a step toward forestalling serious competition of the type they suffered at the hands of the bus lines.

DOLE TO JOBLESS RUSHING DETROIT INTO BANKRUPTCY

Ford Harries Officials as They Seek Solution.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—[Special.] Detroit plunges on toward bankruptcy and the fall elections, while Henry Ford, refusing any further help in a charity situation where he says $10,000,000 has been wasted has retired to his farms, his collection of New England antiques, and his dreams of synthetic food.

HENRY FORD. (Above a Swiss Farm.)

Mayor Frank Murphy, poet and political theorist, has ordered the symphony orchestra to play to the people in the park by the river, and the dole goes on. It is not like an English dole, where each worker has to contribute a few cents a week, thus giving him the feeling of sharing in an insurance fund, but a casual humanistic method of charity which appeals to the soul of Ford.

The Ford company takes the jobless to some of their new farm experiments and shows them a field to be tilled under the hot sun, or some hard task for their money. Many of them turn around and go home pondering the Detroit method.

Proves to Be a Bit Easier.

Although the mayor and his committee, G. Hall Roosevelt, head of the investment committee which has handled $17,000,000 of public money in past months, have promised to cut the dole down to about a million a month, the question is how Detroit can go on even with this.

"If Detroit was a private corporation it would be ready for a receivership," said John W. Smith, former mayor today. "The situation in taxes is much the same as that in Chicago. Taxes have been collected illegally and there is basis for suits. We have been overbuilding and overspending, and running on borrowed money, contrary to the charter.

"Property values have been inflated and we have put improvements out in La Salvia where we had no business to spend public money. We have got down to a solid basis pretty soon. We might retrench in empty but that would create more unemployment. We might cut down on some of our educational plans, but we would not be popular. I do not know what is going to happen."

Mayor Murphy says he is ready to ask the labor to the people and will keep on the fight for federal relief. He knows the latest Ford charge that $320,000 has been wasted or stolen in needed welfare work. The Ford men, he says, have not proved their actual charge that 329 employés of the Ford company received the dole while they were drawing wages from the company at the same time. An analysis of these cases to date does not show that while the charge is true in many cases, the pay checks the men were drawing from the Ford company were meager, and the dole had to help them out. There is a record of small checks paid the men, often a lapse of work, then a little more money. Most of the recipients of this fund were natives of southern Europe, for Detroit has for years been a reservoir of unskilled labor of this type, drawn here by the desire of high pay in the Ford works. G. Hall Roosevelt, who is a cousin and brother-in-law of the governor of New York, frankly admits that there has been graft.

Hoover Solution For Problems.

"If we had all this to do over again," he said, "it would be done far more efficiently. There has been graft and there has been negligence. The best people could have helped us avoid this, instead of secretly gathering information and then stepping out with down the fabric. There were letters sent to the Ford company asking about certain cases, which were answered for three months. In the meantime, as people were starving or pretending to be, what was the dole to do?

"The present situation was brought on by industry, and industry must take care of it. Industry in Detroit has demanded more than 110,000 men on the tax payer, and we feel that the workers should take up their share of the burden. They have agreed to do so, with the exception of Mr. Ford."

Also in this situation, Thomas E. Brennan, superintendent of the public welfare department, which had jogged along for forty years without scandal, accused Mr. Ford to take off the city's hands 5,200 families, former Ford employés, who were costing the city $150,000 a month to support.

Mr. Ford replied by declaring that the Ford welfare department took care of their own people, and that they had prepared for this emergency long before the crisis came. He said that in seven years the Ford company had employed 300,000 men and that it was not strange that some of them should get on the charity list at some time. The Ford own welfare department, he said, had made 5,000 house visitations during the last year, and the records of the Ford hospital for last year showed a total of $340,000 given away, while the Ford sociological department spent $75,000.

Of these figures meant little to the city welfare department of Detroit, inundated by a flood of outsiders attracted by the rosy pictures of the future painted by Mayor Murphy in towns outside the city. He brought many of this upon himself by declaring that no one would go hungry or cold in Detroit.

Committee Works on Problem.

A committee of citizens appointed by the mayor, on which Mr. Ford has refused to serve, is now trying to straighten out the muddle and it is hoped that in the future things will be run more carefully. Probably things would have been much better if they had left it to the organized agencies, such as is done in Chicago, with its careful clearing house and its trained social agency corps of investigators. The Chicago methods take on angelic whiteness in comparison with Detroit.

The promise is that charity in the future will be more of the "icy and scrimped" variety. The county officials are looking into the vague charges of graft with an eye to prosecutions, but as there are records of $17,000,000 to investigate this is a labor of months, and probably will result in little.

Specific cases are cited by both sides in this controversy to prove their point.

Ford Company Cites Cases.

The Ford company, for instance, declares that one man who got city aid, claiming he was an ex-Ford worker, not only had never worked for the company, but had an equity in properties of $13,500 and had money in the bank. Another false applicant got $765 from the city, while he was buying furniture and a washing machine and working part time for one of the railroads.

The case is cited of a man who has drawn $1,000 a year from the city in charity for the last four years, while his wife was working at $19 a week for the telephone company and investing in telephone company securities. Still another, who is said to have owned a $10,000 house, a $3,000 summer home and an $8,000 speed boat drew $178 from the city dole. A man with a family of ten to support earned $1,284 from the Ford company during seven months. During this time he obtained $677 in the dole. His son was married and the big hearted committee put him on the dole at $8 a week.

Many Ford workers asked help from the city during two weeks lay off last winter it appears, and kept on getting the help after they had been taken back to work.

The mother relented after saying the boy had run away frequently and that she was "disgusted and never wanted to see him again."

Ohio Professor Selected to Edit Territorial Papers

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence E. Carter, history professor at Miami university, Oxford, O., has been named to collect and edit the official papers of the territories of the United States. Publication of these papers was authorized in 1925 and the work of compiling them already has begun. The state department said Dr. Carter was named after careful study of his qualifications on American history with particular reference to its western development. Dr. Carter was graduated from Illinois college in 1905 and also has degrees from the University of Wisconsin and University of Illinois.

CLEAR P. O. SITE SOON; PURCHASE CHECK IS READY

Actual Construction Set for September.

Dismantling of the power plant of the Chicago Union station to clear the site for the new Chicago postoffice will begin probably within the next few weeks, Claude E. Cox, chief engineer of the Union Station company, announced last night.

Simultaneously, Mr. Cox said, the Pennsylvania, Burlington and Milwaukee railroads, proprietors of the terminal, will award contracts for a new power house to be erected on a site south of the area bounded by Van Buren, Harrison, and Canal streets and the river, where the new postoffice will rise above the tracks.

Mr. Cox made his announcement following the receipt of word from Washington that the general accounting office of the treasury department yesterday had approved the deed transferring air rights of the postoffice site, together with ownership of the Van Buren street parcel post station, from the terminal company to the government.

Check Is Prepared.

A $5,500,000 check, representing full payment in the purchase, will be placed in the hands of the railroad owners some time this week, the treasury officials were quoted as saying. This warrant was sent by the treasury to the department of justice and will next come to District Attorney Johnson, who will deliver it to the railroads.

"We're ready to start wrecking the power plant as soon as payment is made," said Mr. Cox. "At the same time construction will begin on the relocated plant."

As for the government construction, Assistant Secretary Ferry K. Heath of the treasury department was quoted as reiterating his statement of Tuesday that work on the postoffice would begin early in the fall. Approval by the accounting office of the terms of transferring the site had removed a major obstacle to beginning construction, it was said.

Advertise for Bids Soon.

The Washington dispatches quoted Mr. Heath to the effect that the government would advertise for bids on the postoffice about June 28. Bidders will have six weeks to submit proposals, bringing the time limit for bids to about Aug. 10 or 15.

Normally, it was said, the treasury department takes from a week to ten days to examine and compare proposals. Upon the awarding of the contract the successful bidder must post a bond, approval of which requires several additional days.

"I'm willing to predict the building will be under way by September," Mr. Heath was quoted as saying.

Upon payment of the check for the postoffice site the government automatically will cease paying the $310,000 annual rental on the parcel post station, to which it secures title.

WORLD'S CRUST ALWAYS MOVING, SAYS PROFESSOR

Dr. A. Nadai of the Westinghouse Research laboratories and a member of the faculty of the graduate school of the University of Pittsburgh, was the principal speaker at yesterday's session of the American Society for Testing Materials, which is holding its thirty-fourth annual meeting at the Stevens hotel.

Dr. Nadai's talk was on the phenomenon of slip in plastic materials during which he developed the analogy that the entire surface of the earth is constantly moving in a subterranean sea of hot and plastic elements, much in the manner of an iceberg in the ocean.

"All the earth's crust is in constant movement," Dr. Nadai said. "Sixty or more miles in the interior the elements are hot and plastic, and are giving way under pressure from above."

Dr. Nadai, formerly professor of applied mechanics at the University of Gottingen, was introduced to the society by its retiring president, K. G. Mackenzie, consulting chemist of the Texas company. Col. Robert Isham Randolph addressed the society at its annual banquet last night, during which the Charles B. Dudley medal was awarded A. H. Ffund, professor of physics at the Johns Hopkins university.

FRANCE UNCOVERS A "LEAK" IN HER FOREIGN MINISTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 24.—Just at the moment when a shakeup is brewing at the Quai d'Orsay, due to the failure of France's ambassador to get secret information from other countries, an espionage plot in which several officials of the ministry of foreign affairs are involved has been uncovered. Three important personages in the foreign ministry, whose names have not been divulged, have been arrested, and another arrest is expected within the next few days.

Although the affair is being kept in strictest secrecy, it became known that one high official in charge of the reception and translation of secret coded messages from embassies and consulates in foreign countries had communicated the texts of confidential diplomatic documents to an accomplice, whom the police believe is working for a third person, whose identity still remains a mystery. While searching the house of a Quai d'Orsay employé the police found secret documents which led to the discovery of a huge espionage organization.

While the police refuse to give information as to whether documents relating to the Hoover moratorium proposal were stolen, it is known that the leakage continued right up to the time of the arrests.

War Vet, 69, Is Granted Delay in Bigamy Case

Bigamy charges against William Bockman, 69 year old Spanish-American war veteran who lives at 2407 Clybourne avenue, were continued until June 29 when he was arraigned yesterday before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in Felony court. The delay was granted because Mrs. Clara Hawkin Bockman, second wife of the war veteran, failed to appear. The first wife, Mrs. Julia Howe Bockman, and her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Ruiz, 1717 Dayton street, who caused Bockman's arrest, appeared against him.

Ex-Convict Pleads Guilty to Murder; Gets Life Term

U. S. OFFICIAL WHO CRITICIZED BRITAIN QUITS

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Widespread speculation was aroused in government circles today by the disclosure that George Jackson Eder, chief of the Latin-American section of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce, had arranged to resign the latter part of next month. His decision to retire followed by only a few days the publication of an article under his name which criticized British trade practices in Argentina, minimized the commercial value of the "good will" visits of Mr. Hoover and the Prince of Wales to South America and asserted that continuation of the present British propagandist tactics in Argentina can only have an unfortunate effect on international relations.

Commerce department officials declined to comment officially as to whether Mr. Eder had been asked to resign as a result of the publication of the Argentine article. It was learned, however, that the article was a subject of discussion by Eder and his superiors before his decision to retire was made known.

Women Doctors Unable to Agree on Officers

After three hours spent in an attempt to thresh out their troubles concerning who will serve as their officers in 1931-'32, the Medical Women's club of Chicago in a meeting last night in the Woman's City club decided to postponed an election until a future date, to be determined by the president.

Youths Held to Grand Jury for Attack on Girl, 16

Identified as members of a gang of young hoodlums who assaulted a 16 year old girl a month ago, Albert Pacelli, 21 years old, and Joseph Inseseco, 18 years old, were held to the grand jury yesterday on bonds of $5,000.

DIVORCE SUIT OF BILL EDWARDS IS CALLED PERJURY

Judge Turns Case Over to District Attorney.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—All documents in the divorce suit brought by William [Big Bill] Edwards, former Princeton football star and collector of the port of New York, against his wife, Mrs. Norma Jones Edwards, were ordered to be turned over to District Attorney Frank H. Coyne in White Plains today by Supreme Court Justice Graham Witschief.

Sydney H. Syms, counsel for Edwards, announced in court that he had withdrawn from the case.

"I wash my hands of it; I will have nothing further to do with it," he said.

Asks District Attorney Act.

Lee Parsons Davis, attorney for Mrs. Edwards, had earlier denounced Edward's suit as "one of the worst cases of perjury I have known in all my years at the bar."

Mr. Davis asked Justice Witschief to turn the entire case over to the district attorney for investigation and action, and the court agreed to do so, with the comment: "I think this is a matter which it is proper for the district attorney to handle."

The Edwardses were married in 1926. Last March Mrs. Edwards instituted a suit for a separation, accusing her husband of mental cruelty and non-support. Edwards promptly brought a countersuit for divorce, in which he accused his wife of misconduct with a man he named Thomas Wendstrom.

Affidavits Submitted.

An affidavit signed by Wendstrom, in which he admitted acts of misconduct with Mrs. Edwards, was submitted in Edwards' suit, together with the affidavit of a chauffeur named Frank Passo, who said he had driven Wendstrom to various places in an automobile.

On Monday last Mr. Davis in court expressed the belief that both Wendstrom and Passo were "mythical, nonexistent persons," and agreed to have the trial put off until the fall if Mr. Syms would produce the two men in court today. At the opening of the hearing this afternoon, Mr. Syms announced that he had been unable to find either of the men, and added that he was withdrawing from the case.

VOTE TEACHERS SCRIP FROWNED ON BY BANKERS

Doubt It Can Be Used in Buying.

day of every department and activity of the board, including cost of buildings. The inquiry is to be conducted by the Cleveland Audit company and a group of educational experts.

Trustee Carr told his colleagues that "the expense is getting away from us," and urged a complete inquiry on each expenditure.

Savage Approves Plan.

Trustee Savage indorsed the plea vigorously with this statement: "I am satisfied we can save a lot of money. I have heard other members make similar statements. Why don't we do it? The responsibility is on us. Let us find out where the leaks are, if any, and stop them.

"We are not informed sufficiently to decide many questions which arise. We must rely upon others. We are not qualified to say that this or that shall be done, unless we make a study of it."

"The impression has gone out that our affairs are teeming with waste and extravagance," said Trustee McJunkin. "We are accused of not doing our duty.

Praises Audit Company.

"I have investigated the Cleveland Audit company. They have been doing business for 30 years, have a good reputation in Cleveland, and their statement is taken on bank loans. I feel that I have to answer to the parents and the taxpayers. Let's get to the bottom of the matter."

President Myers has several times said that the expense of the schools can be reduced.

The specific act which precipitated the board action was a written criticism by Superintendent of Schools Bogan of THE TRIBUNE article of June 14. He objected to the headline which read: "School costs mount 444 per cent in 15 years—Number of pupils increase 56 per cent." The chief point of his criticism was that it is "a false comparison" to contrast the $13,549,248 spent in 1915 for all school operation with an appropriation of $73,716,078 for like expenses in 1931.

Argues on Comparison.

He argued that expenditures of one year be compared with expenditures of another—not with an appropriation. The Cleveland Audit company made the same comparison.

THE TRIBUNE article showed that the expenditures jumped from $13,549,248 in 1915 to $56,141,992 in 1930. THE TRIBUNE said the increase was 314.36 per cent.

Mr. Bogan in his letter says: "In this case there appears to have been an increase in school costs of 314 per cent during the past 15 years and an increase in the number of pupils of 61.5 per cent during the same period. However, it will be seen by the attached report of Mr. Rogers (director of bureau of research and building survey) that the greater part of the so-called increase is due to inflated money."

Blames "Inflated Money."

Mr. Rogers' point on "inflated money" is that federal labor statistics show that "it takes $165 to buy as many pencils, tablets, geographies, desks, blackboards, and the like now, as $100 would have bought in 1915." He also gives other reasons for the 314 per cent increase in 15 years while the pupils have increased only 61.5 per cent, according to Mr. Bogan's figures.

Trustee English took the Bogan and Rogers letter as a text for protesting against "the representations to the public of gross waste and extravagance."

"The impression is being given that nearly all of the money is being squandered," said Mr. English, who then went on to show how the activities of the schools have been increased.

Advice Is Not Heeded.

Trustee Hemingway said there is not much need of a complete investigation if the trustees will not stand up when the report is made. He said that the recommendations made in the first report have not been acted upon by the board.

"I appreciate that Trustee Carr protests mildly at being put in a den of thieves, so to speak," said Mr. Hemingway. "But we are damned if we do and we are damned if we don't. There appears to be a plan to poison the people against us.

"The board is being misrepresented. The books of the board of education are wide open to any one."

Figures on Increase.

Then followed the discussion on an investigation, during which Trustee Carr pointed out that the letters of Supt. Bogan and Director Rogers showed that the increased cost of instruction in the last five years has been 20 per cent, educational administration has jumped 32 per cent, auxiliary agencies 35 per cent, coordinate activities 41 per cent, business administration 49 per cent, operation of plant 70 per cent, maintenance of plant 123 per cent, fixed charges 71 per cent, and debt service 595 per cent.

Russia Continues to Build Huge Factories as Schedule of Its Five Year Plan Slows Up

This is the second of a series of articles by Henry Walge analyzing the results of his observations of a visit to all sections of Soviet Russia. Mr. Walge was ordered to report the facts as he found them in Russia without bias or color.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VLADIVOSTOK, May 30.—[By Mail.]—Any examination tending to ascertain the degree of success which the 5 year plan of soviet Russia will achieve must be predicated on certain aspects peculiar to this experiment.

For the 5 year plan, regardless of mistakes, failures, and its inherent fallacy, is bound to be crowned with some degree of success, for the simple reason that any scheme which involves the placing of one stone on another scores progress in this backward, abject country.

Obviously the plan will not be completed in its scheduled span in 1933 and probably not for a generation more, and certain phases of it will never be definitely put through because time and experience have proven that it is impossible and uneconomic for any given nation to be entirely self-supporting and independent of the rest of the world.

Can Never Be Fulfilled.

But even in another decade—propaganda has already begun for the second act of the spectacle, the "15 year plan"—the present project will not be fulfilled by 50 per cent, according to the reckoning of all competent persons, Russians as well as Americans, Germans and British, with whom I have spoken.

It may only be 25 per cent executed, maybe only 10 per cent, perhaps even 5 per cent, but if it is only one per cent carried out, it will mean a net gain of exactly that much in a vast country covering one-sixth of the land area of the globe and whose population exceeds 165,000,000.

The 5 year plan is an inherent fallacy because it is a hybrid, a creature of mixed parentage, politics and economics. Political factors enters into all its ramifications. Military and strategic influences dominate many of its outlines.

Points to the Past.

Never before in history have politicians been able successfully to direct industry and business: remember the great war and all other wars, and the reckless glut of waste and incompetence and squandering that left victors as impoverished as vanquished and stunted the succeeding generation.

Naturally politics must preponderate in the 5 year plan, because as a communist nation, the state is and owns and bosses everything in Russia. The state hires and fires and fixes prices, regulates production and directs distribution, controlling everything from the mammoth grain and oil and timber trusts down to the disfranchised man who sells shoelaces and blacking at street corners.

Incompetence and fear are the two powerful forces working against Russia in the state's direction of all endeavor. Incompetence, of course, because incompetence is fundamental in bureaucracy, and Russia is and always has been the most bureaucrat-ridden country on earth.

Fear Hinders Progress.

Fear, because inefficiency has been made a crime against the state, synonymous with treason, punishable by death, and exalted to the rank of "sabotage" and "conspiring against the safety of the nation."

Consider the human tools the bolsheviks have to work with. The old régime intelligentsia, meaning in this country people who could read and write, have disappeared, died, been shot, fled the country or been exiled or imprisoned. The upper bourgeoisie likewise.

There remains only the vestiges of the lower bourgeoisie, the only strata of Russian society today possessing the faintest vestige of education, except for the rising generation of young communists, who are merely steeped in the doctrine of Marx and Lenin and choked with propaganda.

Workers Refuse Responsibility.

But with the fear of a firing squad ever before his eyes if he makes a mistake, or banishment to the north district of Siberia, the petit bourgeois refuses to assume responsibilities, declines to assert initiative, and sinks into the sloth and lethargy which the situation requires.

Thus there is an utter lack of competent direction at the head of all the enterprises that Red gold is constructing. Even the alert and active Uncle Joe Stalin cannot be everywhere, and while a few men in the higher hierarchy of the party and the government are striving to put their project through, their efforts are wasted, dissipated, and almost nullified by the indifference and timidity of their underlings.

State owned enterprise eliminates overhead almost entirely, obviates advertising, high salaried officers, encounters no ruinous competition, and is guaranteed a market, but all these advantages are more than offset by politics, uncertainty, inefficiency, and lack of responsibility.

Rulers Starve People.

Under direction of foreign specialists, engineers and advisers, through utilization of vast quantities of treasure, wrung from the country by depriving her people of the very food they require to sustain them, the oil and wood they need to warm them, and the textiles they should have to clothe them, the state is building the bare, stark shell of its industry.

But once the physical problem is mastered, the finite question of material is solved, the factories are completed and the machinery installed, the government finds itself face to face with an obstacle which thus far has proved unsurmountable—operation and production.

Not a single unit in the whole fabric of the complex "plan" which has been completed thus far is operating satisfactorily. I might have said is operating at all, as production is so negligible as to be ridiculous.

Certain isolated units are achieving something, but there is a reason. Take the "Red Putiloff" at Leningrad. It is part of the original Putiloff works, gunmakers and munitions makers for the czar in the old régime. Using the skeleton of the staff which the former private company maintained, the Reds have been able to turn out some tractors and some agricultural implements, but are woefully behind the 50,000 per year schedule outlined for caterpillars.

Take Selmashstrol, the agricultural implement factory at Rostov on Don. The only department functioning is that which makes farm wagons, because that is the original kernel of the entire vast plant. That plant existed as a farm wagon factory long before the revolution and before the war, and the nucleus of the original staff is still there working.

Take Nijni-Novgorod, the so-called "Ford factory." It, too, is producing a limited amount, far behind expectations, but turning out some tractors. Why? Because there is still a large staff of American mechanics there, directing operations, personally organizing the workers and taking a hand themselves in getting the material out.

New Factory Falls.

Take Podolsky, 25 miles from Moscow, the former Singer Sewing Machine factory. A new, larger plant has been built, completely encompassing and absorbing the original one. But the old plant is going ahead on schedule and the new one is falling down. It cannot turn out machines, despite its modern machinery and improved methods.

Take Stalingrad, the monster tractor plant on the Volga, proudly heralded to construct 1,000 caterpillars a week. Last autumn it started operations. In January it produced about 200 machines, in February 225, in March again only 200, and most of them were assembled from parts imported, or actually made by hand in the machine and repair shops.

Another giant "tractorstroi" is being built near Kharkoff, a mammoth combine plant is going up at Saratov, the largest tractor factory of all is under construction at Cheliyabinsk, but Americans in those places, superintending their erection, admit freely that there is practically no possibility of their ever reaching normal production without enlistment of legions of foreign mechanics to teach the native Russians how to work.

CHICAGOAN DEAD IN RAIL WRECK NEAR DYER, IND.

One man was killed and another injured as 24 coal cars of a New York Central freight train left the track early yesterday 100 feet south of the Lincoln highway between Dyer and Schererville, Ind. The man killed was Theodore Pach, 2615 East 92d street. Henry O'Grady, 2508 East 93d street, was taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond with minor injuries. Neither of the men was a member of the train crew. The locomotive and the last eight cars remained on the track while the 24 derailed cars piled up in a space of 150 feet. The train was bound for Chicago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—The total of fines collected for motoring offenses in England and Wales in 1930 was approximately $1,000,000, according to figures published today. More than a fifth of the fines were paid by reckless drivers.

A total of 288,175 persons were convicted in 332,575 cases. More than 80,000 offenders were arrested in the London metropolitan district.

Conviction of Hammond Theater Bomber Upheld

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24.—(AP)—The Indiana Supreme court today affirmed the convicition in the Lake county Criminal court of William Kleihege, accused of complicity in the bombing of the State theater at Hammond. Kleihege, a part owner of the theater, was sentenced to serve 2 to 14 years in prison and was fined $1,000 upon his conviction. The State theater, a million dollar structure, was bombed in 1927. Three men, Joseph Million, Harry Ames and Marwood Williams, were convicted in connection with the bombing and later gave testimony against Kleihege.

Chef Is Slain in Quarrel Over Broken $1.75 Knife

A quarrel between two chefs over a $1.75 knife ended last night with the killing of one and the arrest of the other. The slain man was James Ferris, 40 years old, 5523 South Albany avenue, and the slayer is John Woslcan, 36 years old, 1350 East 73d street. Both were employed in Harry's restaurant, 7100 Stony Island avenue. Ferris had broken the knife belonging to Woslcan and objected to paying for it. A fight followed and Woslcan stabbed Ferris with another knife.

COUNCIL ASKED TO FILE PLEA FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Resolution Tells Need for Finance Aid.

Action looking toward a special legislative session to solve Chicago's financial muddle was taken yesterday when Ald. John A. Massen [48th] introduced in the city council a resolution asking the governor to call such a session. His resolution was sent to the committee on state legislation for action.

ALD. JOHN MASSEN

The resolution urged that the special session be called to revise the state revenue laws, consider financial relief for Chicago and other local governments, consider measures to consolidate local governments and eliminate duplicating functions, and to consider a measure requiring contractors on public projects to maintain a uniform system of accounts.

Plan of G. E. Q. Johnson.

The latter measure is one sponsored by Ald. Massen. It was first suggested by George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, as a means of detecting and eliminating graft in public contracts.

Another resolution directed to Gov. Emmerson and seeking his aid in solving Chicago's tax and financial problems was presented by Ald. James B. Waller [43d] and was referred to the committee on efficiency, economy and reorganization.

It requests the governor to ask the President to make available the income tax returns of Illinois taxpayers for the purpose of aiding the Cook county board of assessors in making personal property assessments for 1930 and 1931. The bureau of internal revenue recently announced that federal income tax returns would be made available to states having a state income tax law.

Mayor Cermak submitted his first vetoes at the council meeting. He refused approval to a dozen permits passed by the council at the request of various aldermen. All of them, he stated, authorized violations of city zoning, building or other ordinances.

Mayor Cermak's appointments of William J. Lynch to be harbormaster, Fred Fischman to be superintendent of the license bureau and L. B. Newton to the aero commission were approved.

The council approved the purchase, without formal bidding, of 503,280 stickers from the American Decalcomania company, for $30.502. They will be mailed to legitimate holders of city vehicle license tags for use on their windshields.

Ald. James B. Bowler [28th] introduced a resolution instructing the corporation counsel to resist the efforts of the Lincoln park board to have street car tracks removed from Lake Shore drive between Grand and Chicago avenues. Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42d] objected and the resolution was sent to the committee on local transportation.

DELAY HEARING ON PARK PLEA TO REMOVE TRACKS

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday continued to July 14 the hearing on the Lincoln park board's petition seeking the removal of street car tracks in Lake Shore drive. Due to the large number of witnesses yet to be heard and the probability that virtually all witnesses will give similar testimony counsel for the park board and the surface lines agreed on testimony my stipulation from approximately seventy witnesses yet to be heard. This agreement and action on the suggestion of the commission to halt long and involved questioning of witnesses is expected to shorten proceedings by about two months.

Judge Silences David's Crooning on the Beach

An order prohibiting David Pearman, 19 years old, of 1507 South Avers avenue, from crooning love songs on the beach at Oak street to his own accompaniment on the mandolin was entered by Judge Francis Allegretti in Boys' court yesterday. The youth was arrested last Sunday because his singing at the beach attracted crowds in violation of a Lincoln park regulation. The judge continued the case to Nov. 6, ordering the youth meanwhile to stay off the beach.

Regarding Prices

Our prices are always consistent with Quality. Materials alone represent but a small item in the cost of Fine Merchandise. There are many other important elements necessary to the maintenance of Excellence. And, being known for only the Best, our Patrons have Utmost Confidence in the Merchandise they buy from us, whether in our New York, Chicago, London or Paris Establishments.

We are not unmindful of the importance of keeping our prices as low as it is practicable without reducing Quality. Commensurate with the Character of our Merchandise our charges are always reasonable and we are constantly readjusting our prices to the benefit of our Clientele wherever possible. COUNTY FORCED TO REJECT LONE BID ON BONDS

Interest of 7.49 Is Asked; Exceeds Legal Limit.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The county board offered a $1,000,000 bond issue to the public yesterday. The one bid—that of the Carleton D. Beh company of Des Moines—was rejected. The board was compelled to reject the bid because the interest rate exceeded the limit set in the enabling legislation for the issue.

The Beh concern asked the equivalent of 7.49 per cent. A dozen cities have sold bonds this month at interest rates of from 3 to 4½ per cent. Every one of these commanded a premium. The lone bid on the county bonds asked a substantial discount. The result is that Cook county is now paying twice the interest rate acceptable from other municipalities.

Badly Blames Taxing System.

"That's a disgrace," commented a board member. "Cook is one of the richest counties in the nation. There is no criticism on that score, but the financial management of tax assessments and collections and of the county's financial affairs is not such as to appeal to investors."

The county defaulted on June 1 on $1,815,000 of bonds and interest, while on the same day it provided for the payment of salaries due. Then for the week ending June 17 the county decided on a pay roll of about $550,000. It owes bills of an estimated total of $7,500,000. Its budget now contains probably $3,000,000 of "wind" or estimated income which will not be collected. It is unable to sell tax anticipation warrants to obtain cash for current expenses.

In spending expenses, other than for relief purposes, the county appropriated $200,000. An official statement submitted to the county commissioners yesterday shows that the county in the first six months of its fiscal year has spent 10 per cent more than half of its appropriations. The only curtailment announced is the closing of the courts for delinquents on July 1, which was contemplated when the budget was passed last winter.

Decide Situation Tomorrow.

Some of the commissioners are beginning to realize that the county is in financial difficulties, and it is probable there will be some discussion of the situation at the board's finance committee meeting tomorrow.

The $3,000,000 in loans was to pay power trust dealers and clothing contracts who furnished supplies to the poor last winter. The last legislature authorized $3,000,000 in bonds as an emergency measure, and the board asked bids on $1,000,000 at a maximum interest rate of 4 per cent. The Beh company offered $920,125 for the $1,000,000 in bonds. That discount of $79,875, on the bonds running for two years, is $34,937 per year, or the equivalent of 3.49 per cent additional interest on the bonds.

The assistant state's attorney decreed that the bonds could not be sold at a charge more than 6 per cent, so the county board was compelled to reject the bid, because the charge would be in excess of 7.49 per cent.

Issue on Other Public Bonds.

On June 1 the federal government sold $200,000,000 in bonds at 3½ per cent and the subscriptions totaled $3,815,000.

On June 22 the city of Cincinnati sold $500,000 in bonds bearing 3½ per cent and received a premium. The buyer paid 100.201. Cook county's offer was 93.8133 on a 4 per cent bid.

Cleveland on June 19 sold $600,000 in bonds at a coupon rate of 3½ per cent. The buyer paid 100.43, another premium.

San Antonio, Tex., on June 16 sold $750,000 in bonds at a coupon rate of 6 per cent. The buyer paid 99.6 for the bonds. Again above par.

On June 23 Milwaukee sold a bond issue of $3,540,000 at an interest rate of 4¼ for a price of 105.18. A large premium in contrast with Cook county's large discount.

Los Angeles on June 22 sold a $3,000,000 bond issue bearing 4 per cent at par.

Syracuse, N. Y., on June 12 sold a bond issue of $3,480,000 at coupon interest rates of 3, 3½, and 4 for a price of 100.04.

Findlay, O., on June 8 sold $350,000 at 4 per cent for a bid of 100.19.

Hamilton, O., sold $515,000 on June 16. These were 4 per cent bonds and brought 100.35.

Richmond, Va., on June 3 sold $1,000,000 4¼ per cent bonds for 105.32.

Minneapolis on June 16 sold $224,000 in bonds bear a coupon rate of 3½ per cent rate for 100.378.

Detroit on May 18 sold $19,237,000 of bonds with interest rates of 4 and 4½ per cent for a price of 100.02.

New York City on March 4 last sold $100,000,000 of bonds with a coupon rate of 4½ per cent for 101.97.

Must Attempt Another Sale.

Within ten days Cook county will again attempt to sell bonds for the purpose of refunding the $1,868,400 bonds on which there was a default on June 1, and also for $55,000 in bonds and interest due July 1.

After the default on June 1, and the severe criticism which followed, the county sent $800,000 to the banks which offered to pay the bonds as presented. The refunding bond issue is to be for the difference of $1,123,000, unless the board decides to also issue refunding bonds for interest due on bond on Aug. 1.

The $1,000,000 of poor relief bonds will not be offered again until after bids are received on the refunding bonds. Perhaps they will not be advertised for some time, Hayden Bell, attorney for the county board, told the commissioners yesterday that these bonds cannot be sold for less than 98.12 cents on the dollar and comply with the law authorizing their issuance.

A STORY OF THE STREETS

Guarded by Dog

A shabbily dressed boy about five years old lay down in the doorway of the St. Clair hotel, 162 East Ohio street, shortly after six o'clock last night and fell asleep from exhaustion while a formidable looking brown and white dog stood guard.

Pedestrians stopped to stare and hotel employés approached to investigate, but whenever any one would come too near the dog would bare his teeth and growl.

At a late hour last night the little fellow was still slumbering.

STATE CLOSES CASE AGAINST FOUR BANKERS

The state yesterday rested its case against Alexander Flower and three other officers of the closed Roosevelt Bankers' State bank, who are on trial charged with the theft of $21,000 worth of bonds in connection with the failure of the bank, which was closed last fall with a $772,000 shortage. The defense indicated that two days would be required to present its evidence.

On trial with Alexander Flower, who was chairman of the board of the bank, are his two brothers, Samuel and Frank Flower, and Louis Frank. Judge Joseph Burke of the Criminal court is hearing the case.

Police Add to Would Be Suicide's Gun Wounds

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—Albert Weller, after failing of reconciliation with his wife last night, threatened suicide. She called police. A squad car, seeing the flash of a revolver shot and thinking they were fired upon, fired back. Weller was wounded four times, once by his own gun and three times by police revolvers.

ASSESSORS BEGIN DRIVE TO REDUCE TAX EXEMPTIONS

Millions in Property to Be Affected.

The board of assessors yesterday ordered its field force to start a new roundup of supposedly tax exempt property in order to put on the tax books millions of dollars worth of real estate, much of it owned by churches, educational institutions and railroads, now escaping taxation by the county.

As a result of loose tax exemptions in the past, according to Chairman John Conroy, hundreds of pieces of legally taxable property have been taxed little or nothing.

Cornelius J. Harrington, attorney for the assessors, told the board yesterday that he had found that in 85 per cent of the cases of exemptions he has examined, taxes should have been paid.

Seek to Tax I. C. Property.

One of the objectives of the drive, according to Conroy, will be to tax property belonging to the Illinois Central railroad, some of which was assessed a year ago but exempted by the board of review. Conroy cited the I-C Bank and Trust comps. property at 53d street and Lake Park avenue as an example. An investigation also is to be made into restaurants, coal yards and other property of the Illinois Central and other railroads, Conroy said. Loop buildings owned by Northwestern university and other educational institutions also will be investigated.

The available figures show that about 11,350 items of real property in the county are tax exempt. Tax experts have estimated that this constitutes 4 or 5 per cent of the full value of all real property, exclusive of streets and alleys.

Turn Over Tax Books.

The board of assessors went into the subject of tax exemptions yesterday following its completion of the tax books of two more country townships, Proviso and River Forest, which were turned over to the board of review. The total increase of 1930 assessments by the assessors over those of 1929 by the reviewers was $1,177,722.

The total 1930 increase in assessed valuations of the books of 21 townships now turned over is $12,348,548. The 1929 total of the 21 towns was $504,744,611, and the 1930 total is $517,093,159.

A few taxpayers from country townships appeared at the board of review offices yesterday to demand reductions in their 1930 assessments.

Action Revived to Recover Federal Tax on Experts

Action to recover for the city the $648,446 paid the government in income taxes by four city hall real estate "experts" in 1921 and 1922 was revived yesterday by Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady [14th], chairman of the council committee on judiciary.

ALD. T. J. O'GRADY.

The appeal to the bureau of internal revenue for refunds of the tax payments, which with interest now amount to more than $800,000, was first made on May 18, 1929. Six months later, however, the action was blocked by Samuel A. Ettelson, then corporation counsel.

Yesterday the judiciary committee, at the insistance of Ald. O'Grady, recommended to the council for passage an ordinance to employ Attorney Samuel P. Gurman to prosecute the action for recovery of the money on a contingent basis. If he is successful he will receive 25 per cent of the money recovered.

Council Defers Action.

The council ordered the proposed ordinance deferred and published, in order that Corporation Counsel Sexton may give an opinion on it. His predecessor, Francis X. Busch, approved it before he left office.

Attorney Gurman was associated with Jay A. Schiller, now a Municipal judge, in the original action to recover the tax payment for the city. They filed a brief with the bureau of internal revenue at Washington.

The brief contended that the four experts, Arthur S. Merigold, Frank H. Mesce, Ernest H. Lyons, and Austin J. Lynch, earned no taxable income whatsoever from the city, and set forth the contention that "conspirators could never be taxpayers."

Return of Money Sought.

It sought the return of the money in connection with the decision of Judge Hugo M. Friend, rendered June 29, 1928, in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S suit to recover for the city fees paid to the experts. Judge Friend held that the experts and officials of the former city administration owed the city $2,245,604 for "expert" fees wrongfully paid in connection with public improvement projects. Attorneys Schiller and Gurman, in their brief, quoted from that decision, which held various city executives to be parties to the conspiracy.

"The taxpayers of Chicago," the brief stated, "are in an unusually receptive position to appreciate the grant to the city of Chicago of any of its rights, even though doubtful.

"It has been infested with a group of faithless and unworthy officials who gave the citizenship the benefit of none of its right: the favorable consideration in no case of doubt. The integrity of the public till has been shamefully violated."

Corporation Counsel Ettelson objected to such references to his superior in office, whom he had defended in THE TRIBUNE suit, and to his political associates who were also defendants. He recalled Schiller and Gurman from Washington as they were about to make oral arguments on their brief, and demanded that they soften their references to the city hall officials.

Eventually the attorneys were replaced by Frederick A. Bangs, who had defended one of the experts named in THE TRIBUNE suit. The action remained a dead letter, however, until the last administration went out of office.

Sees Case Strengthened.

Former Corporation Counsel Busch advised the judiciary committee yesterday that the Illinois Supreme court decision, which reversed part of the findings of Judge Friend, helps rather than weakens the city's plea for return of the income tax payments.

"If the case is properly followed and is vigorously prosecuted," he said, "the chance of the city collecting the money is good."

Ald. Robert R. Jackson [3d], who was a close follower of the former administration, raised the only strenuous objection to the proposed ordinance. He objected to the city's paying the railroad fare of Attorney Gurman in his projected trips to Washington to recover the $800,000.

Salvation Army Camps Will Open Tomorrow

Two hundred life saving Scouts and guards, boys and girls taking part in the Salvation Army juvenile social activities, will begin a ten day stay at Camp Lake, Wis., tomorrow, when the camp officially opens. Other Salvation Army fresh air camps throughout the eleven central states also will open then, according to Commissioner W. A. McIntyre, territorial commander.

The camp will receive the first contingent of dependent mothers and children, July 3, when they will leave over the Soo line, which supplies free transportation. More than 10,000 were given a week's vacation in this way last year.

Harvard Man's Dive into Empty Pool Breaks Neck

Boston, Mass., June 24.—(AP)—Nicholas J. Tiffany of Chesterfield, Mo., Harvard senior, who was seriously injured in a plunge into an empty swimming pool, was reported slightly improved today. Tiffany sustained a broken neck when he struck the bottom of the pool on the Beverly farms estate of Henry C. Clark.

Foods of inferior quality (which Henrici's will never serve) are, of course, obtainable at prices below Henrici's, but conscientious comparison upon the basis of quality and size of portions shows conclusively that values such as Henrici's are not obtainable elsewhere in Chicago. Henrici prices for meat, fish and other principal dishes have been sharply reduced in keeping with the trend of the time, and the charge for rolls with meat and fish orders was eliminated some time ago.

FRANCE OFFERS OWN PLAN FOR DEBT HOLIDAY

Hoover and Advisers Ponder Next Move.

posal than the scrapping of the Young plan. The French are to be reminded that there is no more ground for apprehension that reparations payments would not be resumed after the holiday than that war debt payments would not be resumed.

That the President is prepared to yield to France in some particulars became apparent early in the day, following receipt of a summary of the French reply telephoned from Paris by Walter E. Edge, the American ambassador to France.

See Chance to Dicker.

When it was realized that the reply was not a complete rejection of the proposal, the President and Mr. Stimson decided to see what could be done by negotiation to reconcile the positions of Paris and Washington. It was then that Mr. Stimson made the statement to which he referred tonight.

"The President's proposal was drawn on broad, simple outlines," he said. "The object was very clear, namely, to secure a postponement for one year of the burden of these payments. Those outlines will not be departed from. We are making substantial headway, but on such a subject, involving so many different debts and nations, there are necessarily many details which must be filled in after careful study and conversations with those nations. These conversations necessarily must be carried on in the regular way, through the diplomatic channels and not through the press."

Italy Accepts in Principle.

The reply of Mussolini, which is an acceptance in principle, was delivered to the state department this morning by the Italian ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino. The text follows:

"I beg your excellency to bring to the knowledge of the United States government that I have examined President Hoover's proposal for total suspension—during one year of the payment of intergovernmental debts.

"Such proposal implies notable sacrifices for Italy, but I, after mature consideration, have decided to give to it my cordial acceptance in principle. It is my intention to send later as to the American government some observations of mine, aiming at an operation at the same time equitable and practical—such as certainly is in the purposes of President Hoover—of the happy initiative taken by the United States government. I express my wish that the initiative of President Hoover, the high moral significance of which has been perfectly understood by the Italian people, may start a period of more efficacious cooperation among the nations, although the more necessary in this moment of general difficulties and on the eve of the disarmament conference."

John W. Garrett, American ambassador to Italy, reported to the state department that the Italian acceptance is "without any reservation of a political nature," which indicates that Mussolini, on second thought, decided not to make acceptance conditional upon the abandonment by Germany and Austria of their customs union plan. The reservation of the right to make some observations later pertains, Mr. Garrett explained, to "questions of detail in the methods of carrying out the project." Mr. Garrett said he had been informed that the Italian acceptance followed the lines of the British acceptance.

Prepare Credit for Reich.

Negotiations are in progress, it was learned today, between the federal reserve bank of New York, the Bank of England, and other European central banks for the formation of a consortium to extend a gold credit to the German reichsbank. The credit is to be several hundred millions of dollars, the greater part of which is to be furnished by the American bank. The plan has been approved by the federal reserve board.

This step to bolster up German credit, which has suffered from the flight of capital and other causes of gold withdrawals from Germany, is similar to that taken by the federal reserve bank of New York to assist the British government in stabilizing the pound sterling when Great Britain returned to the gold standard. A 300 million dollar credit was extended to the Bank of England, but was not drawn upon, the mere provision of the credit being sufficient to accomplish the result aimed at.

For several weeks the American reserve banks have been aiding the credit situation in Germany by purchase of bills of exchange.

General Improvement Noticed.

That an improvement in the economic situation at home and abroad, including Germany, had materialized even before the President made his moratorium proposal is disclosed by government reports.

Germany has shown a favorable development in her wholesale and retail trade. The month of April recorded a decrease in bankruptcies throughout the republic. While the decline in the number of German insolvencies from 6,852 in the first four months of 1930 to 6,743 in the first four months of this year did not represent an even distribution among all lines of commercial endeavor, the decline has had a psychological effect, but this obviously constitutes only one phase of Germany's plight.

For April of this year, 972 bankruptcies and 655 arrangements between debtors and creditors were reported in Germany, as compared with 1,340 bankruptcies and 662 arrangements to avoid bankruptcies for March. Incomplete figures for May show a further decline.

Signs of Revival Here.

In the United States, an outlook for generally good crops is accepted as assuring an improved position for agriculture and rural communities dependent upon agriculture; in the American industrial centers there is a slow but nevertheless definite increase in the number of employed workers with their consequent buying power.

Bankers and holders of capital have shown within the last two months a noticeable effort to encourage the use of funds in expansion of business operations.

HOOVER NOMINATED AS A CANDIDATE FOR NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

BERLIN, June 24. — (AP) — Lord Mayor Heinrich Sahm today proposed President Hoover as the "whole world's choice for the Nobel peace prize."

Addressing the opening session of the international convention of building trades, he nominated the American President as a "candidate without competition for the Nobel award."

"His debt moratorium action means more for the reconciliation of the world and for real peace than anything done in the last decade," the lord mayor declared. "The whole world will applaud this nomination."

FRANCE PAVES WAY FOR VISIT BY GERMAN CHIEFS

Bruening and Curtius May Call on Briand.

BY EDMUND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 24.—While the reply to President Hoover's offer of a moratorium on debts was still humming westward over the cables, France tonight began negotiations which, it is understood, will lead shortly to a visit by Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany to Paris, as the German chancellor suggested last night in his radio appeal to France for peace.

Immediately after he had handed American Ambassador Edge a copy of the French note to President Hoover and discussed with him the probable reaction of the American government, Premier Laval received the German ambassador, Leopold von Hoesch. This visit, which was a sequel to the one Ambassador von Hoesch paid yesterday to Foreign Minister Briand, was soft pedaled in the afternoon papers and was suppressed entirely in the later editions.

Calls on Briand Again.

Then dramatically, late this evening when all good Parisians had long since finished their coffee and liqueurs a big limousine drew up to the Quai d'Orsay and the German ambassador jumped out.

It developed that the visit was prearranged, for von Hoesch and Briand sat down to a late tête à tête dinner and lingered until nearly midnight over their cigars. Their conversation was kept strictly secret. The press bureau of the Quai d'Orsay, when questioned, said it knew nothing about it, but refused to deny that there had been such a conversation.

It is believed that arrangements for a visit of the German statesmen were arranged and that the date already has been set.

Envoy May Lose Job.

Reports that Paul M. Claudel, French ambassador to the United States, may lose his job before another month elapses for his failure to learn sooner of President Hoover's intention to declare a moratorium were confirmed tonight by a number of prominent deputies, including one former foreign minister.

A member of the foreign affairs committee of the chamber said that at the cabinet meeting yesterday Premier Laval discussed with Briand the advisability of an immediate recall not only of Ambassador Claudel, but of De Fleuriau and De Margerie, ambassadors, respectively, to London and Berlin.

Dutch Suffer Because Flour Imports Are Stopped

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, June 24.—Hundreds of employés of importers and wholesalers of American flour have been dismissed since the Dutch parliament recently decided to compel the use of home grown wheat in the Dutch bakeries. The action was a result of the Dutch agricultural crisis. Use of American flour has considerably decreased. The people are discontented, as an increase in the price of bread is anticipated.

WATSON VISITS HOOVER; LAUDS WAR DEBT PLAN

Sees No Need of Extra Session to O. K. It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader of the senate, conferred with President Hoover for a half hour this afternoon and afterward praised the debt moratorium proposal as a non-partisan measure to aid world economic recovery. He said there is no need of an extra session of congress.

"Very satisfactory progress is being made," said the senator, "though of course there are certain details to be looked after and some obstacles to be overcome. At the present time, however, it looks as though success would attend the President's effort. The situation is favorable.

Not a Party Matter, He Says.

"Though it may sound strange coming from so strong a party adherent as I, I wish to say that I look upon this, not as a party matter, but as a matter concerning the whole country, and a matter the benefits of which will innure to the whole country.

"There will be no need for a special session," he declared. "I foresee no great opposition in the senate, and if the house is of the same temper the approval of congress should be given in short order. If the necessary legislation cannot be passed by Dec. 15, it will be a simple matter to pass a joint resolution authorizing a postponement of the debt payments, pending passage of the final measures. If it is necessary, the house can organize under a speaker pro tem for the passage of this legislation."

Wood Sees no Tax Boost.

Economy will be necessary but no increase of taxes to offset the 200 million reduction of revenue next year as a result of the war debt moratorium, according to Representative William R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], chairman of the house committee on appropriations.

Mr. Wood called at the White House and congratulated the President on his debt moratorium proposal. He commended the stand taken by the Democrats, deprecated any tendency on the part of Republicans to make political capital out of the President's action and urged a "recess of politics."

Senator John J. Blaine, radical Republican of Wisconsin, replied to the President with qualified approval of the debt proposal.

"I approve," he said, "of the moratorium and believe it urgent, provided that there are no secret understandings among allies for preferential treatment or payment of private or international bankers' loans over government loans, and provided that there are no commitments entered into as a condition of other nations agreeing to moratorium, and no suggestion of America's cancellation of foreign war loans."

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.

Frederick Lynch, 50 years old, was found dead yesterday in his room at the Crystal hotel, 73 West Randolph street. Heart disease apparently was the cause of death.

MELLON TO PARIS FOR CONFERENCE ON MORATORIUM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury, tomorrow will go to Paris, where he will discuss the moratorium situation with French statesmen and financiers. Plans for the conference were evidently made hurriedly on orders from Washington.

Mr. Mellon was today received by the prince of Wales in St. James's palace, where a long conversation was held in the prince's private apartments.

With Mr. Mellon to Paris will go his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. E. Bruce. After several days in Paris, the party will go to southern France.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

IL DUCE ACCEPTS DEBT PROPOSAL WITH NO STRINGS

Urges Disarmament as Part of Scheme.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 24.—Premier Mussolini today wired Giacomo de Martino, Italian ambassador to Washington, to advise the American government of Italy's complete and unequivocal acceptance of President Hoover's debt moratorium proposal. A more formal acceptance will go forward in a few days.

The reservations which were expected to be embodied in the Italian note, to the effect that Germany must not use the breathing spell thus given her to push an economic union with Austria, are entirely absent from Mussolini's telegram.

Will Make Observations.

It does merely stated that later on he will transmit to the American government "some observations intended to help in bringing about an equitable and practical appreciation of the American government's initiative, which is certainly President Hoover's own."

Mussolini, however, does bring up a point which was mentioned in the first impression of the proposal given out here, namely that acceptance of the Hoover plan would entail financial sacrifices on Italy's part. The actual sacrifice amounts to something under [illegible]. He adds that the moral significance of the proposal has been fully understood by the Italian people and that he hopes it will inaugurate international cooperation.

Relates to Disarmament.

Comment is held here tonight on the theory that any plan for world economic reparation must be coupled with the question of disarmament, and it is emphasized that Premier Mussolini sought to establish connection between President Hoover's proposal and his acceptance by mentioning disarmament specifically in his reply. Italy also agrees with the American idea that the Hoover proposal cannot be discussed at any general conference, it was indicated today.

The general tone of the press is that the Hoover plan will be a point of departure for a series of settlements which will repair the "grossa mistake," as La Tribuna puts it, made by President Woodrow Wilson at Versailles, when, instead of fixing Italy's indemnity payments for Germany, they were rationed, thus indirectly prolonging the state of war."

Greece Accepts Scheme.

ATHENS, June 24.—(AP)—The Greek government today instructed its minister in Washington to inform the state department that Greece accepts the Hoover moratorium plan on the condition that she will not be prejudiced thereby.

City Begins Test of New Asphalt in 70th Street

Workmen for the city bureau of streets yesterday started repairing the street between South Shore drive and Oglesby street with a new type of asphalt which is to be tested here for use in Chicago. Superintendent of Streets Joseph Butler said that the new product supposedly will wear longer and be cheaper than ordinary asphalt. The two block strip being resurfaced has been surfaced with old and badly worn macadam. The resurfacing will be finished in two or three days.

Leaves Husband

DOROTHY LEE.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Dorothy Lee, 20 year old film actress formerly in Broadway musical comedies, and her husband, James Fidler, publicity writer, have separated, he said today, and may seek divorce later. They were married last November.

CREDIT MEN FOR DEBTS HOLIDAY; SOVIET ASSAILED

Boston, Mass., June 24.—(AP)—The 35th annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men today unanimously endorsed the Hoover debt suspension plan and heard Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, assail Russian soviet activities.

Woll said that the Russian five year plan was basically aimed at the disruption of economic life in other countries, creation of discontent in labor and the promotion of world revolution.

"It is not our intention to interfere with the development of the Russian people but in the present situation the Russian people do not rule. They do not profit in any way from the terrible brutality imposed upon them. It is a strength based upon the most abominable terrorism the world has ever known."

Woll charged that a "ruthless" minority of two per cent was taking advantage of the "inconceivable" apathy of the masses.

Woll attributed to the collapse of the Chinese market a substantial part of the world business depression and said that in China as well as India soviet influence had sought to promote chaos.

BRITAIN EXTENDS MORATORIUM TO ITS DOMINIONS

Snowden Explains Stand to Commons.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons today that Great Britain, carrying out "the spirit as well as the letter" of President Hoover's war debt moratorium proposal, had offered a one year debt moratorium to India and the British dominions.

PHILIPS SNOWDEN.
[Acme Photo.]

India, with a magnificent gesture, made a "gift" to Great Britain during the war of $500,000,000. This gift was financed by a loan guaranteed by the British government, and now India demands that as a part of President Hoover's international plan for adjustment, Great Britain should take over the payment of the loan. This loan carries an annual payment of $25,000,000.

Faces Loss of $60,000,000.

The dominions also are demanding forgiveness of their war debts to Great Britain. This would mean a loss of about $35,000,000 annually. This total of $60,000,000 annually would have to be found by the already burdened British taxpayer.

The total net loss to Great Britain by President Hoover's plan is variously estimated, but the best authorities put it at about $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 annually. The British, however, seem willing to shoulder this loss in the belief that it will be more than made up by an improvement in trade and in better international relations.

Britain Clarifies Attitude.

Mr. Snowden in a statement to the house of commons clarifying Great Britain's attitude on the Hoover proposal declared:

"His majesty's government of the United Kingdom subscribes wholeheartedly to the principle of President Hoover's proposal and is prepared to cooperate by giving practical effect to it without delay, and with the permission of the house I would like to take this opportunity of explaining what steps we have decided to take for this purpose.

"A Great Gesture."

"The more consideration we can give the American President's declaration, the more, it seems to us, that, having regard particularly to the history of this matter, the declaration must constitute a very great gesture on the part of the United States of America, and it will be a thousand pities if Europe does not respond in the same spirit.

"The beneficial effects of the proposal might be lost unless steps are taken by all the countries concerned to give it a prompt and practical effect. This particularly is the case in regard to Germany, which, after all, is the essential difficulty.

"We agree with the view expressed by the United States government that there is not time for a conference. A more prompt method must be found for putting into operation the proposals of the United States government for suspension of German payments to the French government.

Method Britain Favors.

"The procedure we favor is that the creditor governments should notify the bank for international settlements that they have agreed to the proposal for the suspension of one year of all German payments due them. This decision, of course, does not rest alone with us and we are awaiting the views of the other creditor governments. We hope that it may be possible to secure an agreement on these lines as soon as possible.

"President Hoover's proposal should be applied, however, to all intergovernmental debts, reparations, and relief debts. His majesty's government accepts this proposal in spirit as well as in letter. It will, accordingly, be ready to suspend for one year all such intergovernmental debts due it as soon as President Hoover's proposal has been generally accepted.

"The proposal would involve the loss of approximately $55,000,000 to the present budget. This is a serious sacrifice to the taxpayers of the country, but we hope that the step taken by the United States will be more than justified by the help it will give in reviving confidence and prosperity.

Offers Dominions Relief.

"In the meantime, as from July 1, we will refrain from claiming installments as they fall due.

"In regard to relief debts, his majesty's government has taken steps to inform other European governments which hold relief bonds of its action and has invited them to cooperate.

"Finally, although his majesty's government does not regard President Hoover's proposal as directly affecting the war obligations of the dominions and of India to the United Kingdom, which are matters for discussion and settlement among ourselves, we have felt that we should be interpreting the will of the country in deciding to offer to the dominions and India the same concessions as have been proposed to foreign countries under the same conditions."

Approved By Opposition.

Both Mr. Baldwin and David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, endorsed Mr. Snowden's statement and paid tribute to President Hoover's "very noble gesture."

Sir Nicholas Grattan-Doyle, Conservative, asked Prime Minister MacDonald if he would not now consider calling an international conference to consider the whole question of international indebtedness. Mr. Snowden, who replied, said that this was not a suitable time to discuss such a question. It was the government's first duty to settle the matter of President Hoover's proposal, he said, and if circumstances eventually developed so as to make such a conference necessary, doubtless such action would be taken.

CLEAR ROAD FOR FIRST DRIVE OF WOMEN'S CLASS

Ninety-two students of the Evanston Women's Driving school yesterday made their first attempt at putting theory into practice by piloting automobiles from the center of Evanston to the outskirts of Niles Center while a detail of motorcycle police rode ahead with shrieking sirens to clear the way.

Just before the trip the women were given a review of all the lectures to which they had listened during weeks of class work. Then they sallied forth and the drive was completed without even a dented fender.

Saved to Customers and Service Improved

A recent report on the work of the Illinois Commerce Commission for the ten-year period ended January 1, 1931, said:

In Chicago, the changes in gas rates have been, without exception, uniformly downward.

It is the settled policy of your gas company: first, to strive constantly for the economies that are attainable both by improvement in operating methods and expansion of gas sales; and, second, when such economies are realized, to pass them on to its customers in the form of rate reductions.

Since January 1, 1921, your gas company has put into effect three general rate reductions which have saved its customers approximately $70,000,000.00 on the gas used in that time. At the same time the quality of service has earned an official rating of 97.01% by the Illinois Commerce Commission—the highest rating ever accorded any gas company by the Commission.

BURY 2 VICTIMS OF POISON; QUIZ PARENTS TODAY

Little Progress Solving Slaying.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Greenfield, Ind., June 24.—[Special.]—The two child victims of Indiana's poison mystery were buried at noon today as rain pelted on the crowd that packed the country cemetery near Greenfield.

Virginia, 13, and Anna Jean Simmons, 10, who died of strychnine poisoning Sunday after eating picnic sandwiches prepared by their mother, Carrie Simmons, were lowered into a joint grave in the lonely granite studded burial ground three miles from their home. A crowd of about 500 neighbors, friends, and a host of the curious followed the hearse there after standing under the broiling sun in the farmhouse yard while the funeral services proceeded.

Rain Comes at Cemetery.

As the long cortège of automobiles wound down the lane toward Simmons cemetery the sunlight faded and thunder rumbled in the north. The rain came as the procession entered the graveyard.

Tomorrow John and Carrie Simmons, the parents, who stood in open grief as the caskets were lowered, will be questioned by authorities of Lebanon, Boone county, where the family reunion that saw the deaths of the children was held.

During the services, Police Chief Ed Casey of Lebanon, representative of County Attorney Ben Seifres, stood with the crowd in the farm yard and watched from the front rank of those at the grave.

Little Nearer Solution.

Meantime authorities seemed little nearer to a solution of the mystery. A drug clerk has been found, whose identity is withheld, who says he sold poison to a woman and could identify her if he saw her again. It also has been established that the only opportunities to put poison in the fatal sandwiches were in the Simmons home and at the picnic. A previous theory that it might have been done while the car was parked an hour in Lebanon was shattered by the statement of Horace Jackson, one of those made ill by the poison, that he could see the car the entire time and that no one approached it.

Man Held as Embezzler and Woman Die Together

Bellingham, Wash., June 24.—(AP)—Emil M. Toscanini, arrested in answer to a complaint from Los Angeles charging him with bank embezzlement, and an unidentified blonde woman companion, were found dead in a hotel room in which they were held at Blaine today. Both had been shot. Toscanini was charged with embezzling $1,335 from the San Pedro branch of the Bank of America, by which he was employed.

Detective Weds Girl Who Helped Find Lost Funds

Five years ago Robert Hunt, then a recruit policeman, lost his pay check in a loop department store. Miss Loretta Burke, 23 years old, helped him find it. Yesterday afternoon, Detective Robert Hunt and Miss Burke were married at Maternity church. In August they will sail for Ireland to visit the bride's old home.

ARGUMENTS FOR EXTRADITION OF FACTOR HEARD

Hearing of arguments for the extradition of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, who is wanted in London in a $5,000,000 swindling plot against British investors, was completed yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Counsel for Factor, headed by United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, will be heard next Monday afternoon. The alleged swindler is opposing extradition on grounds the warrants and depositions in the case are faulty. Attorney Franklin Overmeyer is representing the British crown.

FORMER HUSBAND IS SOUGHT WHEN SHE AND NEW MATE ARE SLAIN

Joplin, Mo., June 24.—(AP)—Advancing jealousy as a possible motive for the slaying of a young farmer and his wife near Webb City last night, officers today sought a former husband of the woman.

William Wentz, 26, was killed by a bullet fired through a screen door by a man who, officers were told, chased Mrs. Wentz, 24, from the house, placed her in a car, drove a mile away and shot her to death after his car was wrecked.

Glen Marsh, a garage mechanic of Arcadia, Kas., and a former husband of Mrs. Wentz, is being sought.

MRS. SUMMERS ARRAIGNED; TRIAL SET FOR JULY 20

Under indictment for the murder of her nephew, Thomas Meyers, 17 years old, Mrs. Margaret Summers, 46 years old, a widow, was arraigned before Judge Joseph Burke in Criminal court yesterday. She pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for July 20. Mrs. Summers is alleged to have poisoned Meyers in order to collect his insurance.

Accompanying the woman in court were Mrs. Margaret Ritti, 32 years old, 1146 Orleans street, her adopted daughter, and Arthur Jones, 28 years old, 3143 West Congress street, a former roomer in the Summers home. Both declared they would aid in Mrs. Summers' defense. Attorneys Emmet Byrne and Harold Levy represent the accused widow. C. Wayland Brooks, assistant state's attorney, heads the prosecution.

Mrs. Summers, five of whose husbands died mysteriously, was held for the murder of her nephew after a coroner's chemist reported that arsenic had been found in the youth's body.

Roadhouse Keeper Tied to Chair and Shot in Back

Ottawa, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—After tying Max Jauch, Troy Grove roadhouse operator, to a chair, one of three bandits who held him up today shot him in the back and left him seriously wounded. Jauch managed to free himself with a kitchen knife. He said he was shot because he had recognized one of the bandits. They fled with $70 in cash and the entire stock of cigars and cigarets.

FORMER JACKSON CO. BOARD CHAIRMAN IS FOUND $14,000 SHORT

Carbondale, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Gilbert Etherton, chairman of the Jackson county board, announced today that an audit of the books of his predecessor, Morte Stafford, revealed a shortage of $14,000. The audit was made by a certified public accountant, Harry Curtis.

Stafford, who finished a two year term as chairman of the county board in April, is a traveling salesman and is active in church circles. He is superintendent of the Jackson Sunday School association. No criminal action has been taken.

INDIANA ADDS 70 ACRES OF FOREST TO STATE PARK

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24.—(Special.)—Seven hundred acres of forest are to be added to the state park system, it was announced here today by a purchase in Jackson county, immediately southeast of Brownstown. The state now owns nearly 4,000 acres and acres of forest. An observation tower 100 feet high will be built on the new tract, making possible the observation of 150,000 acres in Jackson, Washington, Clark and Scott counties. The state will save 1,000 acres now for fire.

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords.

From the report of a famous scientist who studied the effects of LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—

"During the course of some recent investigations... we became interested to ascertain whether Ultra Violet Rays produced any change in the quality of the cigarettes. It may interest you to know that I was able to detect a very definite difference in the irritant qualities of the treated and untreated cigarettes. Several tests were made, not only on myself, but others as well, and we experienced little difficulty in selecting the treated or irradiated cigarettes as distinctly less irritating to the mucous membrane of the nose and pharynx than the control or untreated cigarettes."

AGREE ON ITEMS TO BE EXEMPT IN RAIL RATE BOOST

Officials of Lines Hold Session Here.

Authorized representatives of all railroads in the United States met yesterday in secret session in the Palmer House hotel and after four hours of discussion unanimously agreed upon a list of commodities which they wish to exclude from the fifteen per cent horizontal freight rate increase that the railroads have asked the interstate commerce commission to grant them.

J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, chairman of the committee that presented the railroads' request for a rate increase to the commission on June 16, presided at yesterday's session. The meeting was attended by members of the subcommittees recently named to represent the eastern, western and southern groups of railroads.

Agree on Reply to Commission.

"The railroad companies," Mr. Pelley stated after the session, "have unanimously agreed upon a reply to the interstate commerce commission's order of June 29 requesting more specific information on the carriers' plea.

"Today we drafted the reply. It will be presented to the interstate commerce commission in Washington tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, eastern standard time. All who attended the meeting have pledged not to reveal the list before then."

On June 16 the railroads petitioned the commission for authority to raise all freight rates in the country 15 per cent. They argued that such an increase would yield the carriers an additional $360,000,000 per year.

Rehearsal earnings, they declared, fell below a point where credit was restored and efficient operation assured. Only a horizontal freight rate boost, the rail heads insisted, could stave off a general reduction in wages for railroad employes.

Subsequently they let it be known that if granted a general 15 per cent rate increase they would not put it into effect on all commodities. In some cases higher rail rates would bring them to competitive forms of transportation, motor trucks and water carriers, they would either allow existing rates to stand, raise them only a portion of the 15 per cent, or, in some instances, even lower rates below present levels.

The interstate commerce commission demurred at signing a blank check on the matter of rates and on June 20 directed that within 15 days the railroads state whether they intend to increase by 15 per cent "all existing freight rates" and, if not, "what specific exceptions they propose to make." Particular reference was made to rates on agricultural products.

It is their reply to this order that the railroads drafted yesterday.

Meet Shippers Today.

Present at the session were the following railroad heads: J. J. Pelley of the New Haven; P. E. Crowley, New York Central; George B. Elliott, Atlantic Coast Line; H. A. Scandrett, Milwaukee; W. B. Cole, Louisville and Nashville; Hale Holden, Southern Pacific; L. A. Downs, Illinois Central; J. E. Gorman, Rock Island; J. J. Bernet, Chesapeake and Ohio; H. L. Kurrie, Monon, and F. E. Williamson, Burlington.

This afternoon the advisory board of the American Railway association and members of the National Industrial Traffic league, shippers' organization, will meet at the Blackstone to hear the shippers' reply to the policy announced last fall by the railroads with respect to regulation of competitive forms of transportation.

WITNESS HITS LAWYER; JUDGE ORDERS CAPTURE

Bernard Shanley, who enlivened a recent divorce case by his story of how he played detective behind a false mustache, was sought by police last night on the orders of Judge William J. Lindsay.

The judge ordered that Shanley, if found, be held without bail pending hearing today of a charge of contempt of court against him growing out of his attack on Attorney Laurence M. Fine yesterday as both were leaving Judge Lindsay's courtroom. He struck the attorney in the face, raising a bulge under one eye which Fine exhibited to the judge later.

Attorney Fine had been in court representing John Regan in a suit to dissolve his real estate partnership at 2811 Devon avenue with Thomas J. Grady. Shanley, an employé of Grady, testified for the latter in the action before Judge Marcus Kavanagh in which the real estate man and Mrs. Eileen Grady both sought divorces. Judge Kavanagh dismissed both bills.

4 ROBBERS HOLD UP CAFE.

Four robbers held up the Sunrise cafe, 901 Rush street, early yesterday, stealing $125 from the manager, James Kefalaf, and two patrons, Thomas Ronin and Don Ross of the Maryland hotel.

ARNO AND WIFE FILE SUITS FOR RENO DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., June 24.—(AP)—Peter Arno, cartoonist, who had an altercation here last week with Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., before the latter filed suit for divorce, today filed suit for divorce against Lois Long Peters, his author-wife. The suit was brought under his real name, Curtis Peters Jr.

His complaint charged cruelty, but gave no particulars.

Simultaneously the answer and cross-complaint of Mrs. Peters was filed. Later the reply of Arno to his wife's cross-complaint was entered and the case was set for trial next Monday morning.

Mrs. Peters alleges extreme cruelty, but sets out no particulars. It is understood, however, that her deposition will charge that Arno was so wrapped up in his profession that he paid little attention to her or their child.

They were married at Stamford, Conn., Aug. 17, 1927.

INDICT SEVEN FOR CLEVELAND CO.'S FAILURE

Cleveland, O., June 24.—(AP)—The crash of the $30,000,000 Union Mortgage company three years ago with a loss to its creditors of $7,000,000 resulted in the indictment today of S. Chester Crobaugh, former president, and six other former officers and employés.

They were charged with violating the fraud statutes. The others named were D. D. Kimmel, former president of the Midland bank; William A. Casler, Robert H. McWilliam, John A. Stansbury, Lawrence McDonough and E. H. Pyliipp.

Crobaugh and Kimmel pleaded not guilty. Their bonds were set at $3,000. The others were given until tomorrow to appear.

The company went into receivership Jan. 10, 1928.

Widow Seized on Charge of Operating Con Game

Mrs. Florence Shaver, 42 years old, a widow, was arrested yesterday at the St. Clair hotel, where she lived, charged with operating a confidence game. Harry Krick, 827 Lee street, Des Plaines, charged that she sold him a grapefruit grove in Texas on the representation that it was irrigated. He found when he investigated, he charged, that there was no water on the land. She will be arraigned today in the Felony court.

PHONE ORDINANCE GOES TO COUNCIL; ACTION DEFERRED

Company to Bear Cost of Relocating Lines.

The new telephone franchise ordinance, giving the Illinois Bell Telephone company a license to operate in Chicago until 1962, was approved yesterday by the committee on gas, oil, and electricity and sent to the city council for adoption. The council deferred action and ordered the ordinance printed.

After the committee had approved the ordinance some of its members objected that they had not known exactly what they were voting for. The only copy of the ordinance submitted to the aldermen was one of the original draft, covered with pencil notations of amendments and revisions which were brought up and accepted or rejected during the months of negotiations between the city and company.

Approve Ordinance 12 to 5.

Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady [14th] joined the opposition to the measure after his motion to print the ordinance in its final form before sending it to the council had been defeated. The ordinance was sent to the council with a recommendation for passage, by a 12 to 5 vote. The roll call was as follows:

Aye: Jackson [2d], Cronson [4th], Rodes [7th], Govier [9th], Moran [16th], Cepak [22d], Terrell [29th] Reetenkowski [32d], Porten [35th], Loescher 44th, Hoellen [47th], and Williston [49th].

Nay — Schreiber [5th], O'Grady [14th], Keane [34th], Feigenbutz [45th], and Nelson [46th].

As approved by the committee, the ordinance gives the company a franchise to extend twenty-three years from the date of expiration of the old franchise, Jan. 9, 1928. Thereafter the grant may be terminated upon six months' notice by either the city or the company.

3 Per Cent for City.

Compensation to the city is fixed at 3 per cent of the company's gross revenue, with the proviso that this payment shall never be less than $2,000,000 annually. Other grants include a provision which, it was estimated, would give the city its telephone service for a payment of $35,000 annually. This is on the basis of 4,250,000 calls a year.

The city now makes 5,000,000 calls annually, but alderman stated that the service could be restricted to the lower figure by insuring that city telephones are used for official business only.

The final action of the committee, before approving the ordinance as a whole, was the approval by a viva voce vote of the section fixing the obligation of the company to pay for relocation of its lines in connection with public improvements.

Company to Pay Costs.

This section provides that the company shall pay the full cost of such relocations, but makes the further stipulation that it shall pay no greater percentage than the cost of similar work assessed against the Commonwealth Edison company, the Chicago Local Transportation company, or any other street car or elevated railroad company.

With that provision, it was pointed out, the company obtained better terms than it had under the old franchise, which laid an unequivocal obligation upon it to pay all relocation costs for its lines. In fixing rates under the terms of the old ordinance this was taken into account. A percentage of subscribers' nickels were placed in a reserve fund to pay relocation costs.

Aldermen who opposed the relocation section as finally written pointed out that if the company, through court action or other procedure, succeeds in shifting part of such costs to the city all of the reserve may not be needed, and the residue will be available either for dividend payments or for excess capital.

Ordered Tried as Slayer of Two Sister Teachers

Newkirk, Okla., June 24.—(AP)—Earl Quinn, charged with the murders of Jessie and Zexia Griffith, Blackwell school teachers, on a highway near Tonkawa last Dec. 28, was ordered held for trial in District court following preliminary hearing today before R. M. Parkhurst, Kay county judge. In the closing minutes of the hearing, Mrs. M. M. Patton, Muskogee, identified Quinn as the man who she alleged assaulted her last Thanksgiving day at the place the Griffith sisters were slain.

Prisoners Attend

Dedication ceremonies for the new chapel in the county jail were conducted yesterday, with 50 prisoners attending the services. The Rev. Father Ernest and the Rev. Joseph Higgins, jail chaplains, officiated at the ceremonies. The chapel is in one of the basement wings of the jail, which was painted and redecorated by the prisoners. One of them, Felix Rivinov, who is held on a government charge, painted a reproduction of "The Last Supper" on one of the walls.

ROTARIANS' CAR IS ATTACKED BY AUSTRIAN CROWD

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York News.]

VIENNA, June 24.—After the Dots, an obscure Vienna newspaper of extreme nationalistic views, had attacked the Austrian government this morning for ordering Schoenbrunn Park closed tomorrow for the benefit of visiting Rotarians, whom the newspaper described as "Free Masons," nationalist students from the University of Vienna held a demonstration tonight.

An automobile containing a number of Rotarians was attacked during the demonstration and, in fear of an attack on the Hofburg, where 2,000 Rotarians were being entertained by the president and the chancellors of the Austrian republic, the authorities threw a cordon of mounted police around the palace and its gardens.

It is not believed the demonstration was actually directed against the Rotarians. Apparently it was only one of a series of protests organized by nationalist students against yesterday's decision by the Austrian constitutional court, which abolished special privileges for German student organizations.

About 1,400 unruly youths of nationalist socialist convictions assembled in Hernals, a suburb, and marched toward the center of the city. The police broke the procession up into little groups, which, however, continued to make as much disturbance as possible.

Windows were broken in coffee houses and some of their patrons badly beaten. The attack on an automobile containing visiting Rotarians is the only blot on an otherwise royal welcome to the visitors here.

GETS PROBATION FOR SHOOTING.

Julius Bauer, 56 years old, a watchman for the Rock Island railroad, was put on probation for six months by Judge Samuel H. Trude yesterday, as a penalty for shooting and crippling Cecil Coles, a 12 year old Negro boy, for trespassing on railroad property.

Lincoln, Neb., June 24.—(AP)—George Buxton, 25, robbed a grocery of $2, fled from police, suffered gunshot wounds, surrendered, pleaded guilty in District court to highway robbery and was sentenced to 15 years in prison—all in three and a half hours today.

COMPANY'S PLAN FOR GAS MIXTURE FACES CITY QUIZ

Aldermen Propose Inquiry Into New System.

A city council committee inquiry into the plan of the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company to supply its Chicago consumers with a mixture of coke oven and natural gas was in prospect yesterday after the council referred to its gas, oil, and electricity committee a request for such an inquiry by Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton.

WM. H. SEXTON.

The Illinois commerce commission, before which the petition is pending, earlier in the day held its first hearing on the petition but postponed the hearing until today when opposition developed. Mr. Sexton said the city attorneys today would ask either a further postponement or, if the hearings proceed, that the company withhold any controversial evidence until a council committee inquiry in the interest of the consumers could be completed.

Company's Petition Filed.

The petition of the gas company, filed ten days ago, asks authority to increase the heating value of its gas from 530 b. t. u., [British thermal units] per cubic foot to 800 b. t. u. preparatory to bringing in the natural product late this year.

Piping of natural gas to Chicago is being made possible through the construction of a 24 inch pipe line from the Texas panhandle by a union of natural gas producing companies. This line is to be finished this year and the Peoples company has practically completed negotiations to assure a supply to Chicago for a period of 15 years or longer.

Propose Gas Mixture.

Approximately 100,000 cubic feet of coke oven gas a day is purchased by the company now from Chicago area industries. Rather than discontinue these purchases, the company proposes to mix the natural and artificial gas. As the Texas gas has a heating value of 800 b. t. u., as compared with the 530 b. t. u. value of the present supply, the heating value of the resultant mixture would be increased. With proper appliances, according to the petition, "any given heat operation will be accomplished by the customer with the same number of heat units, regardless of the 530 or 800 heating value."

The petition further states that the monthly bills of consumers will not be affected as, since Aug. 1, 1930, a majority of them have been billed on the heat unit, rather than the cubic foot basis.

Expect to Cut Rates.

Despite a $70,000,000 investment in the pipe line and a gas acreage reserve for Chicago, the company, its petition said, expects in the future to make "very substantial reductions" in gas rates through an increase in the volume of sales for house heating and industrial uses.

Rates are not directly involved in the petition, but the company expects to file before the commission later a rate adjustment schedule.

Aside from the city's interest in the move, another source of opposition to it appeared yesterday in the form of an intervening petition filed by the Amalgamated Improvements association. Attorneys for this group asked that the application be denied until the company has furnished proof of comparative costs to the consumer.

Assistant Corporation Counsels Frank H. Breen and W. E. Furlong demanded that the commission postpone the hearing for a month to allow the city council investigation. This was denied but, over the protest of Attorney Francis L. Daily, representing the company, the commission acceded to a delay until today.

JUDGES AGREE ON FISHER FOR CHIEF JUSTICE

Election as Crime Court Head Seen Assured.

Judge Harry M. Fisher will be elected chief justice of the Criminal court tomorrow when the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts meet for that purpose, inquiries among the judges indicated yesterday.

HARRY FISHER.

The threatened rift between the two courts, which in the past has furnished the chief justice from their ranks in alternate years, appeared yesterday to have been patched up. The difficulty arose when Judge Michael Feinberg announced several weeks ago that the Circuit court would furnish but three judges for work in the Criminal court this fall, while the Superior court should furnish at least seven.

Movement for McGoorty.

Judges of the Superior court, declaring that if they were going to do the majority of the work they did not see why the Circuit court should furnish the chief justice every other year, started a movement for the reelection of Chief Justice John P. McGoorty, a member of their court.

Meanwhile, the Circuit judges met and nominated Judge Fisher as their candidate. His candidacy is also understood to have the backing of Mayor Cermak.

Judge Fisher said he believed, if he were elected chief justice, he would be able to handle the business of the Criminal court with three judges, including himself, from the Circuit court, and four from the Superior court.

Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court, who was in Springfield when the difficulty between the two courts arose, returned to the city and is understood to have used his influence to settle it.

Two Actions Cited.

His associates pointed yesterday to two important actions by Judge Fisher, now sitting in the Criminal court, which have done much to expedite trial of cases there. In one case, in which he has since been sustained by the Supreme court, he allowed a prisoner charged with a felony to waive a jury trial on a plea of not guilty and heard the evidence and rendered judgment himself.

In another case Judge Fisher commented to the jury on the evidence in the case, breaking the precedent of Illinois courts that the judge should instruct the jury on the law only. That action is yet to be reviewed by the Supreme court.

Movie Star Here

RUTH ROLAND.

Ruth Roland, who used to star in western movie thrillers, arrived in Chicago from the east yesterday on the Broadway limited of the Pennsylvania railway and departed later on the Santa Fe Chief for Hollywood. Miss Roland, who at one time ceased her movie activities to enter the real estate investment business, will begin a new series of pictures.

ZIMMER OPENS DRIVE TODAY ON MOTOR THIEVES

Capt. Matthew Zimmer, called one of the "iron men" of the police department, will start today to organize the new division of stolen automobiles, which will be headquarters for a concentrated drive against automobile thieves in Chicago.

CAPT. ZIMMER.

Acting Commissioner Alcock established the new division yesterday to replace the automobile detail at the detective bureau, and took Capt. Zimmer from command of the Maxwell street district to organize the new effort.

"I intend that the new division shall be thoroughly reorganized under Capt. Zimmer so that the department will get the upper hand of automobile thieves," said the chief. "During the first six months of last year 9,000 automobiles were stolen in Chicago.

"This year, during the same period, there were 11,000 such thefts reported. The new division will follow the case of every automobile thief it catches clear through the courts."

Lieut. John Kelly was made acting captain at Maxwell street.

Five policemen were dismissed yesterday by the civil service commission, four on charges of intoxication and one, Patrolman Carl Pablowski of the North Damen avenue station, on the charge that he appropriated some of the property of a prisoner arrested for an attempt to commit suicide.

GRAND JURORS QUIZ SERRITELLA AND HOCKSTEIN

CRIMINAL COURT.

Willoughby Finnell, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

Frank Neskar, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; James Hagen, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Joseph Burke.

State Senator Daniel Serritella, city sealer under the last city administration, spent two hours before the grand jury yesterday afternoon explaining his administration. He did not sign an immunity waiver nor did Harry Hockstein, who was his chief deputy. Hockstein spent 30 minutes in the grand jury room.

Several months ago Serritella's office was raided and Assistant State's Attorney Harold Keele announced that he was working on a gigantic short weighting conspiracy, which would involve many persons. Two grand juries were kept busy for several days hearing shopkeepers, and investigators, regarding short weight cases. The investigation then lapsed until yesterday when Serritella and Hockstein were called before the jury.

Prosecutor Keele after the session yesterday said he did not konw when the inquiry would be resumed or when any affirmative action might be expected. No more witnesses have been subpoenaed he said.

Serritella and Hockstein before going into the jury room said they were willing to answer questions. They, however, indicated that they did not intend to sign an immunity waiver. Prosecutor Keele was asked if the fact that they refused to sign a waiver and were then allowed to testify did not amount to a grant of immunity from prosecution.

"That is the general understanding," said the prosecutor. "However there is nothing in the law to that effect."

ITALY, IN REPLY TO POPE, OPENS DOOR TO PEACE

Mussolini, However, Still Bars "Action."

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 24.—Italy's reply to the Vatican's last note of protest, delivered today by Count Cesare de Vecchi, Italian ambassador to the holy see, expressed the government's belief that the controversy should be quickly settled and foresaw acceptance of the pope's proposal that conversations toward that end be begun.

COUNT DE VECCHI.

The note, firm but conciliatory in tone, points out articles of the Lateran pact which provide that the commonsense manner any difficulties clubs which were dissolved for political purposes had already put themselves out of the provisions of the concordat, sections of which recognized the organizations.

The note adds that the president of the Catholic Action, Sig. Circiaci, admitted that he was anti-Fascist and was organizing a subversive movement against the Fascist régime.

Confer with Pope.

Count de Vecchi conferred for twenty-one minutes with Cardinal Pacelli after delivering the note. Cardinal Pacelli then conferred for a half hour with the pope and his brother, Marquis Pacelli, legal adviser to the Vatican.

The note leaves the fundamental issue which has always existed as to the respective rights of the church and state in educational matters exactly as it has always been.

Mussolini Adamant.

On this question the Mussolini government refuses to budge an inch.

With respect to the dissolution of the clubs dependent upon the Catholic Action society, the note states that orders have been given permitting the reopening of such clubs as the Daughters of Maria and the oratory circles which have strictly religious character; but at the same time the Vatican is informed that there can be no discussion even on the reopening of the Catholic Youth clubs.

This latter attitude leaves that aspect exactly where it was before last month's uproar, the same solid front being opposed to Pope Pius's contention that the education of youth belong to the family and the church rather than the state.

Note Softens Bitterness.

The first impression in the Vatican is that the note prepares the ground for settling outstanding points and softens the bitterness of the controversy, although it is not expected that the pope will be silenced by the refusal to discuss the opening of the youth clubs.

The note sets forth that inquiries have been made and punishment will be meted out to those found guilty of insulting the pontiff and for violence and disorders. It is pointed out that this constitutes the satisfaction the Vatican requests for these acts. At the same time the note reminds the Vatican that there has been no reply yet from the Vatican to the government's protest last spring against what was called the Bauer incident.

Father Bauer was a Jugo-Slav priest accused by the Italian government of using his office to foment trouble for Italy among the Slovak population of Italy, and the Vatican was asked to prevent him from preaching against Italy.

As for the Vatican's protest at violations of Vatican privilege of extraterritoriality, the Italian government in its note points out that such violations were occasioned by the fact that meetings of the Catholic Action leaders were held in these buildings to foment trouble against the state.

The Vatican is warned that extraterritorial privilege must not be abused in this manner to stir up trouble against the Fascist régime.

The government tells the Vatican it has proof that meetings of undeniably seditious and subversive character were held in these buildings by leaders of the Catholic Action society, for which, however, it does not hold the church hierarchy responsible. It does not think, therefore, that any question should be raised about the measures closing the youth clubs for such measures would be taken in any activities of leaders to prevent greater damage.

PRIESTS DEFY MEXICAN STATE; PREPARE FOR FIGHT OVER CHURCHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 24.—The religious struggle in the state of Vera Cruz has become intense. Throughout the state priests are organizing the faithful to resist any attempts that the government of the state may make to oust them from their churches.

Radicals and Socialists, said to be in the pay of Gov. Tejeda, are daily making public addresses in which they demand enforcement of the anti-priest laws. They are met with apathy on the part of the local authorities, most of whom at least are nominally Catholic.

In Vera Cruz, Jalapa and other large cities and towns the churches are crowded with the faithful. Marriages and baptisms are being rushed ahead of schedule in anticipation of the closing of the churches.

The bishop of the state of Vera Cruz this morning defied the governor, declaring that the priests will remain in their churches until such time as the state authorities throw them out. "Far from ordering the priests under my jurisdiction to turn over their churches to the government of Vera Cruz", the bishop said, "I order them once more to hold them."

DOUBT STORY OF SHOOTING TOLD BY POLICEMAN

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the Woodlawn station said yesterday he was not satisfied as to the accuracy of the story told by Detective Frank Devitt regarding a bullet wound in his shoulder. Devitt, who was on duty until midnight, was near fainting when he reached his home at 5616 South Elizabeth street at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. His wife had him taken to a hospital.

The policeman said two men in an automobile drove alongside his car and forced him to stop and that a third man then ran from a house crying, "That's the man," and fired at him through the opened window of his car. His assailant, he said, then jumped into the other machine and was driven away. Devitt said he was unconscious for three hours after he was shot.

Deputy Commissioner Scanlon said the shooting could not have occurred as Devitt described it, as the bullet went directly into the policeman's left shoulder from the front. If Devitt had been shot while in the car the bullet would have passed through the windshield, Scanlon asserted. There was no blood in the car, and this caused Scanlon to doubt that Devitt had remained in it three hours after being shot. The officials suspected that a woman was connected with the shooting. Devitt was suspended pending completion of the investigation.

John D.'s Former Office Boy Quits S. O. of Ohio

W. T. Holliday, president of Standard Oil Company of Ohio, has announced the resignation, effective July 1, of Howard F. Jones as vice president in charge of finance, and treasurer of the company. Mr. Jones, whose association with the company began thirty-nine years ago as a messenger boy in the service of John D. Rockefeller Sr., will continue as a member of the board. W. J. Semple, former director of finance for the city of Cleveland, has been elected treasurer and will fill that position in addition to his office as controller.

See that your wife gets the cleaner that helps her most

There is all the difference in the world between a vacuum cleaner and a Hoover.

The Hoover cleans faster than any other cleaner—and thus it saves a woman's time. It operates more easily—and so conserves her strength. It gets rugs thoroughly clean from top to bottom—and that protects rugs from the ruinous wear of buried grit.

It is very easy to make sure that the cleaner you are buying is the best. Simply make a comparative test of any other cleaner and The Hoover.

Let results decide! Any Hoover dealer welcomes such a test. Simply ask for a Hoover Home Trial. The New Hoover is only $6.25 down, complete with Dusting Tools or Dustette. Balance monthly. Liberal allowance for your old electric cleaner.

EXPERT HIRED TO TEST STARR'S SUICIDE NOTES

Prompted by Charge of Forgery.

(Copyright, 1931: By the New York Times.)

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—In an effort to decide whether Starr Faithfull killed herself because of unrequited love, as indicated by so-called suicide letters, or was murdered in a sort of "perfect crime," as insisted upon by her family, Nassau county officials today employed a handwriting expert, Elbridge W. Stein.

E. N. EDWARDS. [Acme Photo.]

The letters in question, brought to this country by Dr. C. James Carr, surgeon on the steamer Francesia, were attacked as forgeries again today by Stanley E. Faithfull, the dead girl's stepfather. Because of this Mr. Stein will be asked to tell the Nassau county grand jury whether or not they are genuine. District Attorney Elvin K. Edward reiterated that his inquiry into the possibility of murder still continues.

Before Mr. Stein had been engaged Mr. Edwards the handwriting expert was asked by newspaper men for his opinion of the letters brought by Dr. Carr and was shown published facsimiles of the notes and of other specimens of script known to have been written by Miss Faithfull. He refused to express an opinion from the reproductions, but pointed out a possible explanation for the difference in chirography.

A young woman writing to a man for whom she had high regard, as Miss Faithfull is said to have had for Dr. Carr, might very well take several pains in forming her letters, he said, and might produce script different from her ordinary hand.

Lya Lys, French Actress, Gets New U. S. Contract

New York, June 24.—(AP)—Lya Lys, French movie actress, delayed the sailing of the liner Ile de France ten minutes today when she ordered her baggage taken off in response to a last minute telephone call from Hollywood informing her of an offer of a new contract. She had been making pictures on the west coast, but started for home when the old contract expired.

SEES THREE IN RUM RAID.

A 1,500 gallon alcohol cooker and 1,000 gallons of alcohol were seized by prohibition agents yesterday in a raid of a garage at 227 60th avenue, Cicero. Carlo Gentile, Tony Fino, and Nick Puglicio, were arrested.

POLICE FRISK TWO FOR GUNS AT TRIAL OF VIVIAN'S SLAYERS

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—The police made an armed camp out of Supreme Court Justice Cohn's courtroom in the Bronx today, escorted out of it for guns two men whom they deemed suspicious and searched and questioned them, and ordered all who could not positively prove that they had business there excluded from the room where the Vivian Gordon murder trial is in progress. This sudden activity resulted from a rumor that a prosecution witness was to be murdered as he took the stand, and the police were taking no chances despite the wild nature of the report.

During the trial today defense counsel asked whether the chief accusers of the two men on trial for the murder of Vivian Gordon—Harry Stein and Samuel Greenberg—hadn't really killed her themselves, and whether they weren't now lying against the defendants to save their own skins. "English Izzy" Lewis answered "Positively no" when Samuel Liebowitz in a question accused him and Harry Schlitten of being the killers.

The man said to be in danger was David Butterman, who was expected to testify that Stein brought the woman's fur coat to Butterman's home after the murder. Butterman was held as a material witness during the early stages of the investigation of the strangling on Feb. 15 of the henna-haired loose living divorcée who had earlier been a vice inquiry witness. Then he was freed, but now he is to testify.

ASSAILS DRY LAW ON MORAL AND MEDICAL SIDES

Cleveland, O., July 24.—(AP)—The prohibition law was attacked on moral and medical grounds and from the standpoint of personal rights by Dr. T. H. Carmichael of Philadelphia today at the convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy.

Dr. Carmichael especially criticised a law which he said permitted laymen to tell physicians how and when they may prescribe alcoholic liquors. The use of liquor is necessary in the medical profession, he said.

"The so-called prohibition law is not a law, for it is not directed against evildoers, but is against the privilege of every citizen to use alcoholic beverages," he declared. He called for an educational program for temperance and repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Maj. Gen. Gibbs to Quit Army; Col. Carr Gets Post

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—Maj.-Gen. George S. Gibbs, chief signal officer of the army, will retire from active service on June 30 at his own request. President Hoover has approved promotion of Col. Irving J. Carr to fill the vacancy. Gibbs will become vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation. He has served 33 years in the army. Col. Carr now is assistant director of the army industrial college here. He was born at Chippea, Falls, Wis., in 1875.

VILLAGES REAP HARVEST FROM MOTORING PUBLIC

Fines Mount in Spite of Driving Safety.

BY HAL FOUST.

The small villages that circle Chicago are reaping a harvest from the motoring public, according to the Chicago Motor club, by enforcing arbitrary speed regulations that become unreasonable when the state last year widened pavements to permit faster travel with safety.

"At the rate that fines are being collected," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, "the motorists by the end of 1931 will have paid close to $2,000,000 to police magistrates and justices of the peace in seventy-two villages and towns of Cook county. This is an increase of 10 per cent over 1930 and an increase of 20 per cent over 1926.

Wider Roads Built by State.

"The state highway department, with taxes collected from the motorists, has laid broad pavements through these small towns so that a reasonable speed can be made without endangering life, limb, or property. Yet village policemen, for the sake of fees or for the sake of boosting the village treasury, nullify the value of this public improvement by arresting drivers who are trying to take full advantage of the broad pavements. I'm not defending the reckless driver; the motor club is defending the careful driver arrested without reasonable cause."

Section 22 of the motor vehicle act reads in part: "No person shall drive a vehicle . . . upon any public highway in this state at a speed greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to the traffic and the use of the way or so as to endanger the life or limb or so as to injure the property of any person." The section thereafter designates certain speeds, such as over 45 miles an hour for the open country, which shall be accepted as prima facie evidence of a violation of the provisions quoted.

Weak on the Evidence.

"Many rural magistrates," said Mr. Hayes, "are vague in their understanding of 'prima facie.' They accept evidence of exceeding one of these speed limits as conclusive evidence of a violation, regardless of whether the fact show that a defendant was operating his car with due regard for the safety of others.

"The legal department of the Chicago Motor club will concentrate during the remainder of this summer upon the protection of the motorists, regardless of whether they are club members, from these unreasonable prosecutions."

The Illinois Supreme court, in the case of Morrison vs. Flowers, handed down an opinion in 1922 stating: "What speed is improper and dangerous is left to the courts to determine from the evidence in each particular case."

GERMAN-RUSSIAN NEUTRALITY PACT GIVEN EXTENSION

MOSCOW, June 24.—(AP)—The protocol prolonging the Berlin treaty of neutrality between Germany and Russia was signed today at the foreign office by German Ambassador von Dirksen and Acting Commissar for Foreign Affairs Krestinsky.

The protocol makes no changes except to provide that notice of cancellation may be given by either party after June, 1933. One year must elapse between notification and the lapsing of the treaty.

The agreement was originally signed in Berlin in 1926 and ran for five years. No expiration date is fixed in the new agreement.

2 LABOR LEADERS QUIT AUSTRALIAN CABINET POSTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANBERRA, Australia, June 24.—Two Labor party ministers, E. J. Holloway of Victoria and C. E. Culley of Tasmania, resigned from the cabinet today because they disapprove of the recent reductions made in pensions and wages. Premier James H. Scullin, however, is confident that he will get the parliamentary approval of the Melbourne conference economy plan, with the support of the opposition, despite the disapproval of many of the Labor members. Under the plan economies in the commonwealth's defense program will save $1,944,000, the navy remaining under Australian control.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

IN THE ROLE OF SAVIOR.

The President's statement of the critical conditions which moved his proposal has satisfied the American public that an emergency existed and had to be met decisively. But it must leave the American mind wondering why, in a situation moving steadily and rapidly toward the crisis, Europe seems unable to initiate anything to help herself and is constantly turning to America for further contributions and further sacrifices. Nothing has been conceded by Germany's neighbors to relieve the underlying conditions which have weakened the structure we are now, at a most inopportune time, invited to save at a heavy sacrifice. Is European statesmanship bankrupt or are we the ingenuous victims of its policy? Our sudden summons to save the collapsing fabric of European credit and our prompt response to it recall rather ominously our summons to save civilization in 1917.

The first effects of the American initiative, acclaimed at home and abroad, should not blind us to the realities of our situation. The possibilities of catastrophe in Europe, which are held up to us to induce us to sacrifice, are of greater concern to the European nations than to us. How is it then that we are expected to take the chief responsibility and make the heaviest sacrifices?

Recent American diplomacy has been responsible, no doubt, in a large degree for the expectations cherished by European government of unlimited complacency and concessions on the part of American governments. The proposed moratorium, in spite of Mr. Hoover's emphatic declaration on revision and his effort to restrict its implications to the emergency, is already being hailed as the beginning of a new era, a new enlightenment at Washington, or, in plain words, of a surrender of our independence of action and our penitent return to European affairs. Already the American proposal to save Europe from itself is encountering the thrifty claim for better terms. We are not to have that privilege without paying as stiff a price for it as can be bullied or cajoled out of us.

Meanwhile, the susceptibilities of American representation do not encourage the hope that our hand will be strongly played. The source of our policy, after all, must be the President, whose many years in England have made him, not unnaturally, very sensitive to English opinion. Even Mr. Mellon is educating a son at Cambridge. Our high diplomatic affairs are not in the hands of representatives who have the unilateral frame of mind which guards the diplomacy of European governments from unfair and unprofitable concession.

MAYOR CURLEY'S COW.

(Plans for the new Chicago postoffice which, after years of delay, was to have been begun early in this year of unemployment, have been sent back to the architects, according to Tuesday's Washington announcement, to be redrawn.)

Mayor Curley of Boston has written Postmaster General Brown for permission to pasture a municipal cow on federal government property. The mayor wants to make some use of the site of the proposed new Boston postoffice. The land cost $6,164,000. The building was authorized two years ago and appropriations made for it. Since then the department, with a warm bureaucratic wish to put some of the unemployed to work, has been getting around to it, as first aid in an industrial depression. Nothing has been done, but the department has the matter close to its heart.

Mr. Curley knows that the unemployed have the sympathy of the department, but he seems to be a practical sort of a man. Six million dollars' worth of real estate is waiting for the bureaucracy to extricate its foot from the chair rungs or the chandelier or the waste basket or wherever it is stuck, but that may take a great deal of time still. In the case of Chicago it's been stuck for about twenty years. As an interim use of the land the Boston mayor suggests a municipal cow. He is practical but imprudent. This will give the bureaucracy a fresh start.

Mr. Brown will respond asking what kind of a cow. Mr. Curley may reply any kind of a cow. This will be fatal. Mr. Brown will ask the department of agriculture to determine the kind of cow which, grazing on a six million dollar tract of government land in Boston, intended for a postoffice, would produce the most butter fats. The department of agriculture will make an analysis of the soil and will experiment in the development of pasture. Nothing short of two years will give an answer as to pasturage. Mr. Brown, if he is still in office, will then ask Mr. Curley, if he is still in office, what disposition is to be made of the milk, to determine whether quantity or quality is the objective. That will require a survey of the environs of the postoffice pasturage site to ascertain the number of children needing milk. This will be undertaken by the census department, but need not occupy more than two months in field work and ten in writing the report.

Mr. Brown—it being assumed here and hereafter that Mr. Brown and Mr. Curley remain in office indefinitely—will then ask the attorney general whether it is permissible to distribute milk produced by a municipal cow pasturing on government postoffice grazing land to the poor of a city block wherein the children average five to a family and most of the fathers are waiting for work on the postoffice. The attorney general will reply that this could be done in Iowa, but not in Massachusetts, if it were a Jersey cow, but not an Alderney. In the case of a Jersey cow in Massachusetts the milk from a government postoffice pasturage in the time of a depression should go to the nearest coast guard station which has shot up three rum runners in the current year. If the times are flush and the government is not trying to aid unemployment and the cow has a crumpled horn the cream should be churned, the butter being assigned to the Charleston, S. C., navy yard, and the buttermilk to the South Boston postoffice station.

Mr. Curley will notify the department that the cow is dead and Mr. Brown will inquire which cow. Mr. Curley will then report that he himself is dead and the department of justice will make an investigation of that. When the matter has been satisfactorily cleared up and Mr. Curley is discovered to be not dead, but only groggy, the department will have the plans for the postoffice redrawn to take into consideration the fact that there once was a request that the site be used for a cow pasture and the cheery announcement will be made that everything is breezing along for the rapid completion of the Boston postoffice.

The only criticism which could be made of the proposal for a five year industrial plan for the American government is that it should be a five hundred year plan. This is a grand government. It moves by glacial ages.

CRIME AND THE PRESS.

It is an irony familiar to newspaper men that it is by reputable people most concerned in the restraint of crime that the press is criticized for printing the news of crime.

The reasoning of this criticism is naïve, and to any one who understands conditions and the practical results of publicity it is obviously fallacious. It holds the theory that publicity "glorifies" and therefore encourages the criminal. It ignores the fact that unless crime is exposed—exposed, to use our critics' term, "sensationally"—it would usually escape effectual restraint.

Some remarks upon this subject that ought to be read and pondered by comfortable citizens who rebuke the press for the "prominence" given crime news are to be found in the current issue of the Panel, a very meaty and interesting publication of the Association of Grand Jurors of New York County, devoted to the exchange of news of public officials and citizens in the effort to prevent crime and secure the "true administration of practice." The article we refer to is entitled "The Importance of Publishing Crime News," and the writer is Thomas S. Rice, member of the statutory crime commissions of New York state and of the New York commissions on crime preventions.

"If the newspaper," writes Mr. Rice, "did not play up crime news and arouse the public to the necessity of fighting back at organized crime, we would be going about our daily tasks in bullet-proof vests." Far from favoring the playing down of news of crimes and criminals, as urged by many well intentioned people, Mr. Rice says that thirty-odd years of experience in the study of crime has convinced him that we should have "more and better" crime news, particularly in the papers of Greater New York and other centers where some newspapers "seemingly are being swept off their feet by theorists and sentimentalists and are tending to minimize crime news."

Sensationalism, Mr. Rice points, has its place when used for a constructive purpose. We deprecate grewsome details. More obnoxious, we think, is the sickening sentimentality and appeals to perverted hero worship or false sentiment which is a part of the special practice of certain newspapers. But sensationalism in the sense of giving to the news of a crime its proper emphasis is not only justifiable as an exercise of the newspaper's function but desirable for its results. Mr. Rice is supported by facts when he says that "every determined effort to reduce crime in the United States in modern times has originated, has been sustained, and has been carried to more or less successful conclusion by its playing up of crime news systematically and persistently in newspapers or periodicals." And he cites the formation of the Chicago crime commission as a result of the publicity given notorious conditions of organized criminality, which publicity alone could have awakened business men to the gravity of the situation and to the determination to attack it.

Eastern newspapers, which the critics of "sensationalism" are wont to hold up as models of propriety and regard for the public good, Mr. Rice criticises for their failure to realize the importance of considering crime as a persistent symptom of the bad health of society and not merely sporadic incidents of the daily news. Certainly, not only newspaper men, who may be biased, but officials and citizens in touch with the crime conditions, realize how essential publicity, and sensational publicity especially, has been and will continue to be in the war on organized criminality.

It is not in playing up crime that newspapers fail in public service, but in overlooking significant failures of justice or in not persisting in investigation and exposure.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

It might have been more appropriate if the king of Chicago's gangland could have been connected with some of the more atrocious and violent disorders with which his realm is blamed, but nevertheless the indictment of "Scarface Al" Capone and sixty-eight of his aids on prohibition charges is to be welcomed as one more indication that the law is not as helpless before such fellows as Chicago has led us to believe.

Like the income tax indictments returned against Capone a few days ago, the prohibition presentment is the result of what appears to have been a long and painstaking investigation on the part of federal agents. It tends to show that industry and determination are the really important qualities in dealing with men of the Capone stamp and suggests that the absence of these qualities accounts for the failure of the various offensives which the local authorities in Chicago have launched against the gangsters with great blowing of trumpets.

It may be doubted whether this drive will really stamp out the beer traffic at which the federal authorities are aiming. Beer is too easily made in small quantities for an offensive against a few large operations to cut off entirely the flow of this beverage. Such an offensive is not so much a triumph of prohibition as it is an object lesson in the bigger duty of bringing defiant and many sided racketeers to book.

A LEAD POISONING SIGNPOST.

THE man who has learned a trade that exposes him to lead, and who is intelligent and mentally alert, is constantly between two urges. His fear of lead poisoning makes him feel that he ought to learn another trade. The need of making a living for himself and his family tells him to stick to the work he knows.

Take a painter, for illustration. He has a friend who is subject to lead colic and another friend died from lead poisoning. He is afraid. He almost decides to quit painting, move to the suburbs, and raise chickens. Then he thinks of the shoes the children need and he decides to stick it out and take his chances.

Or, the case of a manufacturer. He is afraid that a lot of his workmen will develop lead poisoning and come after him for compensation. He would like to change his process to a safer one. But then he thinks: I know this process, what I can do with it, how I can operate my business using it with a profit. If I change I might not be able to make a go of it.

Both employé and employer would like to know some sign by which they could be warned of danger. Dr. Carey P. McCord has devised one. By its use a man exposed to lead can tell that he is headed for trouble some time before he gets to the danger point. It is a block signal system saying, "Look out, there is a train on this track down the road a piece." Or, "Stop! There is a train on this track around the next curve."

This block signal system for use in the prevention of lead collisions is a blood testing method. It can be applied by any laboratory, or by any physician with laboratory facilities. A factory could easily provide such a laboratory and operate it at a reasonable cost. The more difficult problem will be to get employés to have the blood test made once or twice a month. Less than a drop of blood is required for the test. The blood, properly prepared, can be shipped to a laboratory for testing.

A small drop of blood is smeared thinly on a microscopic slide. This is dried in the air. The dried blood is stained with a weak solution of methylene blue and borax in water [2 parts dye, 5 parts pure borax, and 2,000 parts water]. After dyeing, washing, and drying the specimen of blood is examined under the microscope. A count is made of what is called the basophilic granulations. If these are in excess it means that the person examined is absorbing lead into his blood stream.

SYMPTOMS OF CIRRHOSIS.

H. R. writes: What are the symptoms of cirrhosis of the liver?

REPLY.

Among the symptoms are dropsy of the abdomen. Later on the dropsy may extend to the legs. On examination the liver is found to be small and the abdomen full of fluid. Secondary symptoms are indigestion, great weakness, enlargement of the veins of the abdominal walls, intestinal and gastric hemorrhage, and jaundice. Death results.

IT DOES NO HARM.

Mrs. R. H. F. writes: Last June we had a Persian cat. In July my daughter had a spot appear on her eyelid. She now has many, and on different parts of her body. The spots are white, colorless, and about one inch across. They do not itch or burn and are not sore. It has been called ringworm and eczema.

1. Is it creeping eruption?
2. Did she catch it from the cat?
3. What is it?
4. What can be done about it?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.
3. My guess is that it is vitiligo.
4. If that guess is correct I know of no cure. The white spots can be stained to the color of the surrounding skin. Except for the change in appearance this skin disease does not harm and does not lead to any important disorder.

CAUSE OF BOW LEGS.

J. C. K. writes:

1. What causes bow legs?
2. Would an operation on a person past twenty, by a well known plastic surgeon, be dangerous?
3. Can bow legs be cured by exercises?

REPLY.

1. Rickets.
2. Not very.
3. Not in a person 20 years old.

CITIZENSHIP UNAFFECTED.

Chicago, June 17.—[Friend of the People.]—A claims that if she marries an applicant for his second citizenship papers she loses her citizenship, she being American born. B claims that if she is a citizen and her future husband secures his papers after the marriage she automatically becomes a citizen. Which is right? E. F.

CONCEALED WEAPONS.

Chicago, June 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Could I carry a revolver either on my person or in my knapsack, as I am contemplating a long trip and expect to carry a large sum of money with me? R. J. G.

Most states penalize the carrying of concealed weapons, but most state constitutions guarantee the right to carry weapons openly in a holster.

VALID, PROBABLY.

Chicago, June 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is a marriage legal when one of the parties concerned swore before the clerk it was his first marriage, but was, in reality, his second? 2. The same party had been divorced 29 days previous to his second marriage, which took place in Indiana. Had sufficient time elapsed for the second marriage to take place? 3. If legal, can it be annulled? 4. What should be done if the marriage is legal? F. C. G.

1. It would be legal as far as the facts stated are concerned. But the party would be subject to prosecution for giving a false answer.
2. No delay is required under present Illinois law.
3. Annulment is warranted only where the marriage is invalid from its inception.
4. Depends upon what the parties wish to do. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WHIRLIGIG.

We were all so terribly worked up over the moratorium thing and its extension so that nobody would have to pay his grocer or his iceman or the butcher, and we are yet, or would be, if Wiley Post and Harold Gatty would kindly fly off the front page. . . . The trouble nowadays is that one darned thing follows so hard on the heels of another darned thing that we get all mixed up. . . . We are terribly aroused over the murder of a lovely lady, but just as we get stirred up to the nth degree the papers suddenly flare out with a story of some state going bankrupt and selling the state capitol for a cow barn. . . . One minute we are deep in gloom because everything has gone to the demnition bowwows and the next minute read that U. S. Steel has climbed up to 100, and we start giving dollar bills to every panhandler on the street. . . . All of which is probably the reason that no matter what happens we manage to keep going.

SERMONS.

I have attended sermons in the spring
When every shower is silver tongued in speech,
And every glade with gladness heard to ring
The summer from her pulpit speaks of love,
That savior of the world, and beauty, too,
The penitential winter speaks of gloom,
Of preparation and of penance freely given,
Hinting of a resurrection from the tomb
And a renewed assurance come from heaven.
A waterfall can speak, a wind in trees,
Fall of the rains, the purity of snow,
Sermons in stones, the drone of laboring bees,
These are my missionaries I have come to know.

THERE'S SUCH a raucous chuckling noise heard over the radio nowadays you can hardly hear the bell and the announcer announcing, "It is now upmty steen o'clock by the swell watches Ticktick Brothers are now selling at a great sacrifice." The strange raucous sound which so many of you have thought was summer static is nothing of the sort. It's the Soviets over in Russia chuckling over the news of the moratorium.

I'm sad 'cus you're glad that I'm sad—
Honey, you hurt me so bad;
Calmly and flatly you told me
Your arms no more would enfold me—
I was only a passing fad.
Many another will claim your love,
Happy you'll be 'neath the moon above;
You will see
In many another the things I had.
But I will be
Sad 'cus you're glad that I'm sad.

JUNE 25 TODAY! Nearer and nearer to Fourth of July, when all the nitwits will be out blowing off their fingers with giant firecrackers or peeking down toy cannons to see why they don't go off. Or shooting pistols into the air and the bullets come down, they don't care where. And statesmen making one hundred per cent patriotic speeches. Which are even more horrible than the demoniac firecrackers and cannons. Wonder what's the deepest coal mine in Illinois?

BRACE YOURSELF, UNCLE, YOU'LL HAVE A LONG WAIT

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1915.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Great Britain is determined to prevent food and all other articles from reaching Germany and German products from being transported to the United States. That the allies will not deviate from their policy to starve out Germany is made clear in the memorandum of the London foreign office made public by the state department. The attitude of Great Britain will necessitate the dispatch of a note which President Wilson has been preparing demanding a cessation of practices which violate international law and invade the sovereignty of the United States and American ships on the high seas.

TORONTO.—The first western Ontario battalion was all but annihilated in the action near La Basse, in northern France, on June 15, a semi-official report received here says. Out of between 600 and 700 men, the battalion lost in killed and wounded nearly 500, including twenty officers. The fatalities occurred in vain charges against a German position which was regarded as the key to an advance.

JOLIET.—The coroner's jury recommends that "Chicken Joe" Campbell, the Negro trusty, who served as a butler in the prison suite of Warden Allen, be held to the grand jury for the murder of Odette Allen, the warden's beautiful wife. Firemen testified at the inquest that Campbell attempted to hinder their work by pushing furniture in front of them and barring doorways with a bureau and a table as they attempted to extinguish the flames in the warden's apartment on the night of the tragedy.

CHICAGO.—The hottest weather of the year so far—92 degrees on the street level—held Chicago in its sizzling grip. On the extreme heat are blamed two deaths, a number of serious accidents, and a score of prostrations, several of which are expected to result fatally.

CHICAGO.—Instead of visiting the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo in the common way by taking berths in sleeping coaches, fifty Chicago automobilists will make the trip in their vehicles. It will be a gala affair and arrangements are being made to entertain the travelers along the way with receptions, smokers and theater parties in towns where they stop for the night. The party will leave on Aug. 31. Among those who will make the trip are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Plamondon, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. White, Mr. and Mrs. Bert L. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. M. B. Pine, and Ald. and Mrs. John E. Scully.

CHICAGO.—Ald. Charles H. Rector introduced in the council an amendment to the hospital ordinance that is expected to close the Zion hospitals. The measure is aimed at John Alexander Dowie and may end his operations in Chicago.

SEATTLE, Wash.—The first big cargo of gold from the Klondike arrived here. It consists of $1,350,000 worth of dust and nuggets. Other big shipments will follow from now on at frequent intervals. An estimate of the cleanup of the yellow metal this spring places it at $20,000,000.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1881.

CAIRO, Ill.—Capt. Paul Boyton, the celebrated swimmer, arrived here, having swum 1,343 miles in 23 days and five nights. He swam the last 200 miles from St. Louis to Cairo without leaving the water. He will attempt a 3,000 mile swim down the Missouri soon.

LONDON.—Bismarck is reported to be tickled over the success of his policy in setting France and Italy against each other, and well he may, for it is complete. This is the anniversary of the battle of Solferino and the allies of that day are much nearer war than they have ever been in these 23 years. The Italian government is doing its utmost to suppress anti-French demonstrations, but feeling is too intense to be smothered either by force or argument. German papers openly boast that when France seeks to "avenge Alsace" Italy will avenge Tunis and Marseilles.

THE ROLE OF THE RESERVE BANKS

Western Springs, Ill., June 1.—To my simple minded way of looking at the situation, it seems that the federal reserve banking system would have had to undergo a very negligible strain to have relieved much of the terrible losses to stockholders and depositors of, let us say for example, Cook county banks.

In the first place, there were and are millions of tax paper in the banks which is not considered liquid assets. As an example, there were school warrants of district No. 101, $80,000 of which, necessitated purely from the extraordinary delay in tax collections, we were able through validation by act of legislature, to refinance by bonds. This bonding was necessary in order to relieve our local banks of the burden. Interest on these bonds will cost the district $50,000. Our country town taxes are paid almost with certainty. Had it been possible to go to the federal reserve and refinance these warrants they could have been paid off surely and promptly as the taxes were collected, with an interest saving in the long run of $40,000 to the district.

What great error in financing would it have been for the federal reserve to have taken these warrants and printed money to cover them?

Banks are failing because funds are tied up in real estate mortgages. These mortgages are sound up to some certain percentage. Suppose the federal reserve printed money and issued it against some percentage of these mortgages. What harm could there be? Only the chance of inflation of currency. Surely a great secretary of the treasury could put a reasonable stopping place for this that would make it sound financing.

Even if this is long time paper, what can the federal reserve lose? The mortgages to some percentage will be paid and the currency recalled some time.

E. P. MCCLURE.

ZIONIST TAG DAY.

Chicago, June 15.—Would you kindly allow me space in your columns to comment on the sale of carnations by Jewish organizations to collect money for purchase of land in Palestine? In the first place, what interest has the average Chicagoan in this Zionist movement that has caused so much trouble in that land? Secondly, there isn't enough land there to satisfy every one that wants it. Squeezing out the Arab is not going to help things.

There seems to be a general impression among Jews here that they have every right to Palestine. They seem to forget that Great Britain lost a lot of lives in freeing the country from Turkish rule. I think the least the Jews of this city could do, seeing they had no authority to have a tag day, would be to hand over what they have collected to the British and Colonial Veterans' association and help those who were instrumental in getting them a national home.

"ROYAL SCOT."

AN HONORABLE EXCEPTION.

Chicago, June 14.—The Editorial of the Day in today's paper from the Indianapolis News makes one mistake which I think should be mentioned. Among the boards which have been spending money wantonly they mention the county. While all the other boards were increasing taxes beyond reason the county board was not. H. M. SCHUYLER.

AGAINST THE MORATORIUM.

Chicago, June 20.—Our capitalists, together with high priests of our government, are trembling with fear over German finances and are preparing to rush American gold to save Germany. And why do they want to help Germany? Germany started the great war which caused present day depression. Germanic greed destroyed entire Europe, while their own territory was not even touched by the real war. Germany never bought our products and never will buy. They are our competitors. Last but not least, the fact is that if German war debts would be wiped out the same Germany, shedding crocodile tears today, would start another war in Europe tomorrow. If our rulers would, like Harun Ar Rashid, go disguised on the streets and see our own afflictions, perhaps the long dead spark of patriotism would start to glitter again in their hearts and perhaps they would finally realize that old but immortal maxim Brotherly love starts at home.

M. A. N.

THE ELECTION LAWS COMMISSION.

Chicago, June 15.—It has come to my attention that the legislature defeated a bill for the continuation of the Illinois commission on the revision of the election laws and the appropriation of $30,000 contained therein.

The members of this commission have served without compensation, have carefully studied the situation and recommended changes after due deliberation and consultation with the various electoral boards throughout the United States.

Of all the laws on our statute books the code of laws pertaining to elections are of prime importance due to the fact that through elections the public have the only opportunity to express their sovereign will. It is the only code of laws that deals with the rights of the public in the affairs of their government.

It is regrettable that the legislature saw fit to discontinue this commission.

E. K. JARECKI,

A QUESTION OF LEGAL ETHICS.

Whiting, Ind., June 18.—This is in reply to a letter inquiring if the conduct of Senator Glenn in representing Jake Factor before the court was ethical. It would seem to be pushing ethics pretty far to say that a man foreclosing himself from the practice of his profession merely because he holds a public office, especially when the public office has nothing to do with the court before which he is appearing. Congress is not in session at all times, and if Senator Glenn could not appear before the court when congress is not in session it would cut him off from the practice of his profession entirely, except, perhaps, in drawing legal instruments and giving personal advice to clients, so long as he was a member of the senate. The mere fact that he is a United States senator should not give him any special influence with the courts of Illinois.

ASK INDICTMENT OF PITTSBURGH MAYOR AND AID

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Mayor Charles H. Kline and Bert...

CHARLES H. KLINE.

...ton L. Succop, ...ormer director ...f the depart... of supplies, ...ere recommended for indictment by the grand jury in a partial presentment before Judge George V. Shaw here today. They were to be charged with misdemeanor in office.

Judge Moore ...structed the district attorney's office to prepare indictments for presentation to the grand jury tomorrow at 1:0 o'clock for the vote.

Told Evidence of Fraud.

Reviewing its work, the presentment said that about 65 witnesses had been examined as to the manner in which the department of supplies was conducted and added: "We find that many of varied irregularities and violations of the law have existed in the above system."

"We have found, from the evidence presented to us, that in a great many instances goods have been purchased by the department of supplies without complying with the law, that in some cases where purchases amounted to sums greatly in excess of $500 it was charged that a division was made, so as to leave the appearance of several purchases under the sum of $500 in order to defeat the clear intention of the law to have such purchases advertised."

Bare Graft in Contracts.

The grand jury reported that many contracts had been found which "showed an intention to deceive" and added:

"We have found a great many cases of the letting of contracts to other than the lowest responsible bidder and in some instances purchases have been made without any ordinance authorizing the purchase having been passed as required by law. We have also found contracts let upon bids which upon their face showed intention to deceive.

"We have also found instances in which the head of the department awarded contracts to bidders known to be bidding under fictitious names."

BIBLES IN NEW YORK CITY SCHOOLS UPHELD BY APPELLATE COURT

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Without writing an opinion, the justices of the appellate division today approved the use of Bibles in public schools of this city. The decision was made in a suit brought by Joseph Lewis president of the Free Thinkers of America, Inc., an action to prevent the board of education from continuing use of the Bible on the ground that state and religion are separate in this country.

The Free Thinkers were appealing from a decision of Supreme Court Justice Ford who had refused to approve their demand.

Ohio Assembly Passes Tax of 1 Cent on 10 Cigarets

Columbus, O., June 24.—(AP)—The bill levying a tax of 1 per cent on every ten cigarets passed the Ohio house of representatives late today by a vote of 68 to 51. It was passed by the senate last week. The bill will become a law as soon as the senate concurs in an amendment put in by the house and the governor signs it. It will yield around $6,000,000 a year to be applied to the $7,000,000 deficit in state operating expenses.

NEW YORK HAS MANY KINDS OF THRILLS IN DAY

Humans Vie with Animals for Spotlight.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—When a lot of people live in one town a lot of things happen. Well, a lot of things happened here today. Blonds, bank clerks and birds view with sea going dogs for public attention while precocious children, a starving mother and a tiny girl heroine supplied enough human interest and pathos to season a best seller.

To begin with—and every one except Prof. Einstein has to begin somewhere—there was William B. Armstrong and the blond. Mr. Armstrong is a bank clerk who had a run of bad luck. He worked in Toronto, but now he is languishing in a Manhattan jail and a dizzy blond was the cause of it all. Mr. Armstrong's cardia region was punctured by an arrow from the little bowman's bow several weeks ago when he met a Canadian towhead named Marguerite.

And Then William Wakes Up.

Broadway was the next stop, and Margy started dropping coins in telephones, and the first thing William knew a party was brewing. It was to celebrate their good luck in larceny and prospective matrimony—and that is all William can remember. When he awoke his new friends, the blond and his, or rather the bank's, money had vanished.

Then there is Mrs. Lena Hoose. She lives in our town, too—thanks to a 10 year old daughter, resourceful and unafraid. Mrs. Hoose sought this afternoon to trade her life for $500 insurance money to feed and house her brood of two. But little Rose raced down a fire escape, smashed a window, and summoned the aid that saved her mother's life by minutes.

She is out of danger, he replied.

"Well, then," said Rose, "I've got to try to get some lunch for my little brother and then I've got to clean up the house."

Child's Cat Dies; Tries Suicide.

Eight year old Carroll Stephenson, who lives in a tiny village out on Long Island won a place in the reporter's note book today. Master Carroll looked back down the eight years of his life and found it none too pleasant, so Carroll tried to hang himself.

"I was disgusted with everything and I didn't want to live," said the lad. Pressed for a less mature and more plausible reason, Carroll confided he had the death of a pet cat on his conscience and was afraid of punishment. He was found unconscious, a rope around his neck, in the attic of his home at Franklin, L. I. Physicians revived him.

Parrot Does Its Part.

People make news, but birds, animals, ships, and the sea makes news, too. They each contributed their share today to the reporter's notebook.

Beau, a green parrot who has been hearing too much about ocean hops, may be somewhere over the Atlantic tonight. Beau hopped off from a twelfth story window ledge last night, went into a tailspin, righted himself, and headed east toward Long Island and the sea. He has not been sighted since. Beau [or perhaps it should be spelled Bo] shouted the two words he knows best as he flew away—"Hello, good-by." The folks Beau used to live with miss him and have asked steamships to be on the alert.

Dogs Also Help Out.

Two dogs, one an Irish terrier and the other a red chow, made their bids for fame. Whiskers, the Irish pooch, left town and Feng Shui, the chow, came to town.

Whiskers sailed on the French liner Ile de France as one of the 600 first class passengers. He is on his way to Havre where he will be met by the grand opera star, Rosa Ponselle, who is his mistress. Whiskers has been pining for the opera star and yesterday Miss Ponselle wired the French line to send her pup along as a first class passenger. When interviewed on the ship, Whiskers said the sea suited him to a T-bone.

Chow is Popular Topic.

The chow, Feng Shui, came to town with Jonathan Starr, author of crime stories. Feng Shui is Mr. Starr's press agent of public relations counsel. The pup obtained 27,000 lines of news space for the author on a country-wide bus tour which ended here this afternoon. Feng Shui, Mr. Starr made clear, also is the author of Dogtown Bark, the most waggish newspaper in the country. The Dogtown Bark was issued occasionally on the trip and exchanged for such favors as keys to cities etc.

And then there is the good ship Sally, which will sally forth some time in the next twenty-four hours equipped with 4,420 revolvers and pistols, 205 dirks, daggers, and sticking knives, 649 sawed off shotguns, rifles, and duck shooters, and sufficient ammunition. This well armed boat will go to a point ten miles beyond Sandy Hook bearing Property Clerk Thomas J. Horgan and all the weapons the police department has picked up during the year. Out at sea the cargo will be dumped as the law requires.

NEGROES APPLY AT WHITE HOUSE TO BE MARRIED

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—An excited young Negro couple appeared at the White House executive offices today and asked to be married.

They said they had been told the White House was the place to go to have the ceremony performed.

A police officer directed them to the marriage license bureau at the courthouse.

"I don't care where we get it," the prospective groom said, "just so we can get married."

THE SILVERTOWN SAFETY LEAGUE
I agree:
1 To drive at speeds in keeping with the safety of others as well as myself.
2 To keep on the right side of the road, except when passing.
3 To pass only when I know there is ample time and space—never on blind curves or when nearing the crest of a hill.
4 To go through intersections only when I have the right of way.
5 To observe all traffic signals.
6 To give signals myself that can be clearly seen and understood, before turning or stopping in traffic.
7 To drive only when in full possession of my faculties.
8 To keep my brakes, lights, and horn in good condition.
9 To operate my car on tires which assure a positive grip on the road—safe traction—and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

Come out for carefulness! Join the League today—Help your civic leaders save the lives of children

"School's out tomorrow!" It's on the lips of 294,000 children. Tomorrow they'll romp and run from the classrooms . . . happy, gay . . .

How many, in the course of summer, will be knocked down, dragged, broken beneath the wheels of our automobiles?

How many little legs will be crushed, bodies twisted, lives snuffed out . . . because of careless driving?

The callous disregard of life by reckless driving has stirred the indignation of every conscientious citizen.

Singly and alone he couldn't do very much about it.

But together we can do something about it! An aroused and militant public opinion can change these conditions. Your help, your example, are needed.

The Silvertown Safety League is your means of expression. Read the pledge . . . nine common-sense rules . . . nine commandments of safety. Are you willing to take this pledge along with the prominent people of this community and abide by it? If you are . . . if enough people will do it . . . thousands of lives can be saved in 1931.

Silvertown Tire Dealers have a pledge ready for your signature . . . they will see that the beautiful emblem of the League is installed on your car. There is no cost . . . no obligation to buy. Stop in at your Silvertown Dealer's today.

Sign up! This crusade needs you.

Display this emblem

Let us install a brilliant chromium emblem of the League on the radiator of your car. It tells the world that you are in the fight against recklessness that took 33,000 lives last year

DEPUTY'S TRIAL FOR RUBIO KIN'S SLAYINGS BEGUN

Ardmore, Okla., June 24.—(AP)—Slim, well dressed Salvador Cortes Rubio, young kinsman of the president of Mexico, told a jury of middle aged men here this afternoon how his two student comrades were shot to death by W. E. [Bill] Guess, former peace officer.

He told the story at the murder trial of Guess, admitted killer of Emilio Cortes Rul and Manuel Garcia Gomez, Salvador's companions on a homeward vacation trip from a Kansas college.

Cecil Crosby, former deputy sheriff, also charged with the killings, did not, the young witness said, tell him he was an officer. Trials of Guess and Crosby were severed today by Judge John B. Ogden.

Saw Flashes; Heard Shots.

Salvador repeated his story of how the youth's car was stopped along a street here late on the night of June 7; how he emerged and went a few steps away, and how Guess and Crosby drove up, stopped, Crosby questioning him.

He was facing the lights of his car, the surviving Mexican said, when he saw flashes and heard two shots. Then, he said, he saw the bodies of Gomez and Cortes Rubio, the former on the pavement and the latter still in the motor car.

Salvador said he did not know if Emilio had a gun on his person. There was no scuffle at the car, just conversation, he testified.

Attracts Crowd; Women Faint.

Today's first trial sessions attracted a crowd so great that several women collapsed.

While Salvador testified his pretty 18 year old sister, Lucille, who plans to return with him this fall and enter an American school, watched him.

Guess is being tried specifically for the Emilio Cortes Rubio murder. Gomez was shot first by Guess, who claims Gomez pointed a pistol at him from under a blanket he wore.

Matthew Alexander, city policeman and one of the first to reach the scene of the killings, said one gun "came out of the man's pocket—the man in the car."

Asked how he knew it came from Emilio's pocket, he said: "Guess said he took it out of his pocket."

BELLE LIVINGSTONE SUES PUBLISHERS OF VANITY FAIR—LIBEL

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—A suit for $500,000 against the Conde Nast Publications, Inc., the publishers of Vanity Fair, was filed today by Isabel Hutchins, better known by her pseudonym of Belle Livingstone, who alleges that an article in the magazine her reputation.

The passage quoted in the papers was printed with a photograph of Miss Hutchins under the caption "We Nominate for Oblivion." The passage itself says:

"Belle Livingstone, because her country club was one of the most entertaining oases that were ever ruined by overmanagement and bad liquors; because she trades tastelessly on certain unconventional acquaintances with the royal purple in her youth; and finally because her lying in the courts and her whinings in the hoosegow are extremes to which wet-minded folk often go which confirm dry-minded people in their arid decisions at the polls."

WOMAN JUDGE ADMITS RULING MINUS EVIDENCE

Convinced of Guilt in Vice Case, She Says.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—With the disputed minutes of the trial of Mary De Sena on a vice charge as the central point of interrogation, Magistrate Jean H. Norris spent four hours on the witness stand before the appellate division today, fighting Samuel Seabury's charge that she is unfit to continue in a judicial capacity.

The cross-examination reached its climax when Mr. Seabury obtained from her the admission that, in convicting a defendant—identified only as the "Bodmer girl"—of being a wayward minor, the magistrate had done so without "a single scrap of commonlaw evidence to sustain the conviction."

"Convinced of Guilt."

Conceding that the record contained no such evidence, Mrs. Norris asserted that she had "been convinced that the girl was guilty and had so found her," but that the judgment had been reversed by the Court of Special Sessions on appeal. The Bodmer case was one in which a deaconess of a Methodist church had complained to a policewoman, Margaret P. Solon, that the girl was living in "meretricious relations" with a married man.

The girl, arraigned within two hours after her arrest, had no counsel, but Magistrate Norris went ahead with the trial. Mr. Seabury charged that the girl's right to counsel had been abrogated, but Mrs. Norris insisted that the usual court attendant had informed the defendant of her right to counsel and to an adjournment in order to obtain legal aid.

Altered Inaccurate Records.

It was Mrs. Norris' contention, on direct examination by her counsel, that the record in the De Sena case had been full of errors and that in altering it she had done so only to correct inaccuracies of the stenographer. The veracity of the record of the Bodmer case had not been questioned before.

On direct examination Mrs. Norris had admitted that she changed the De Sena minutes. The changes, she said, had been made in pen and ink and were unquestionably in her handwriting. Then, turning to two other disputed pages, she asserted she could not be sure she had struck out lines there because the delineations were made in pencil, whereas she had been using ink.

WIFE HELPS HIGHWAY OFFICER CATCH TRIO OF YOUNG THIEVES

Pana, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—With his wife, Mrs. Marie Reed, holding a bead on three youthful automobile thieves with a brace of revolvers, State Highway Patrolman Lon Reed of Pana today captured Frank Brose, Mervin Rogers and Charles Osborne, each 19, of Kewanee, Ill., in a car they had only a few minutes previous stolen from Ray Martin, a farmer.

The arrests were on state highway Two, six miles south of Pana. With Mrs. Reed threatening to "shoot 'em dead" if they lowered their hands, Reed searched the men and car and confiscated a veritable arsenal, then manacled the trio, brought them here and lodged them in jail.

Brose confessed the trio stole a car at Kewanee that was wrecked and burned and another car at Oconee. They also robbed a hardware store.

Scanlan Reviews Police in Grant Park Dress Parade

Annual inspection of the Chicago police department on dress parade in summer uniform was conducted in Grant park yesterday by Acting Deputy Police Commissioner James B. Scanlan. Police from the south side districts passed in review at 10 a. m., and 1 p. m. the north side details were inspected. Acting Deputy Commissioner Scanlan expressed himself as well pleased with the review.

D. C. STEPHENSON LOSES NEW FIGHT FOR HIS FREEDOM

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24.—(AP)—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, tonight was blocked in another effort to gain his freedom from the Indiana state prison where he is serving a life term for murder.

The Indiana Supreme court, with Chief Justice Clarence R. Martin dissenting, granted Attorney General James M. Ogden's application for a writ of prohibition preventing the La Porte Superior court from further acting on Stephenson's habeas corpus petition filed last week, through which he sought to gain his liberty.

The petition was filed by the state on relation of Warden Walter H. Daly of the state prison. It cited the fact that Stephenson had been denied other writs of habeas corpus in the past and it contended that the La Porte Superior court has no power or authority in law to entertain a petition for habeas corpus or grant any relief.

What's Funnier Than Mistakes Others Make?

Here's Collection of Them for Your Laughter.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

GETTING a bit weary of reading about Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Scofflets and children departing on the Bremen for their annual jaunt to Antibes? Wish you were going along? Getting a pain in the neck when you read the ads for Banff and Lake Louise? Wish you were in a mail on the way to the station this minute? Do you have the deep and unswerving conviction that two weeks out of fifty-two is the dickens of a long vacation?

Well, old man and old lady, what you need is a good dose of "Ho-Hum" and "Scotch." You have the funds, yes you, but what kind of stuff is ho-hum?

It isn't any drink; it's a book. Now don't turn away in disgust. Read it! I mean, read them. You'll laugh your head off. "Ho-Hum's" published by Farrar and Rhinehart and "Scotch" by Simon and Schuster book, all dressed up in a plaid and with a penny cent in the front cover as your change, the price being one dollar!"

"Ho-Hum" is a collection of all the side-splitting boners made by writers and used as filler in the New Yorker the last few years. E. B. White writes an amusing foreword and A. Seglow draws the funny pictures.

Some people feel as triumphant in finding an error in a newspaper as they might in gnashing their teeth on a pearl while eating an oyster. They immediately reach for the scissors and cut it out—the error, not the pearl. And off it goes to the New Yorker. Well, here are some of the errors that were printed. Read 'em and laugh!

Each error is given with a comment by the editor and sometimes even pithy little tail pieces are as funny as or funnier than the newsbreaks. If you won't smile at one you'll have to at the other.

For example: From the Carroll County (N. H.) Independent:

"A story day with the name of E. L. Bullock has been about the village for a few days."

"But all Eddy Caldwell?"

"Accurately Flashes Picture to Airwaves; Gets It Back in One-Eighth of a Second."

"They'll think twice before they do THAT again!"

And this from the personal calling card of Robert F. Williams, city judge of Knoxville, Tenn.:

"Someone, like a beautiful maiden, will her head on her own beautiful shoulder in the east for a pillow; to circulate westward four hundred and fifty miles, and there she lifts her long drapery and bathes her feet in the Father of Waters."

"Some maiden, hey kid?"

From the Detroit Free Press:

"Boy Is Missing in First Pair of Long Pants."

"But he may grow into them."

All right, if you haven't grinned yet, don't give up hope. "Scotch, Or It's Smart to Be Thrifty" is chock full of laughs. From the inside fourth on which are printed simple interest tables and one showing the time in which a given amount will double at interest, to the funny picture at the end, this thin little volume is a brave one. There are some old ones, like

"His MacTavish

and lots of new ones.

Have you heard this: "Terrible accident in Edinburgh! Taxi skids into lamppost and kills fourteen passengers."

"'Suppose!' was the instant reply."

Something to this book "The difference between a Scotchman and a canary is that you can get a drink out of a canary."

Goethe Award Given to First German Woman

Frau Huch, Author, Wins Coveted Distinction.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 24.—Frau Dr. Ricarda Huch, one of modern Germany's best known women of letters, has just been awarded the Goethe prize for the present year—and with it the double distinction of being the first woman so honored. She thus joins a company of previous recipients who were: Stefan George, poet; A. Schweitzer, physician, musician, and theologian; Leopold Ziegler, philosopher, and Sigmund Freud, founder and chief exponent of psychoanalysis.

The Goethe prize, which has been given annually since five years ago, brings also $2,500. It will be presented in the Goethe Haus, Frankfort.

It was especially fitting that the Goethe prize should go to a woman at this time, for this year homage has been paid to the memory of Frau Aja Goethe, mother of the poet. The selecting committee announced the choice of Frau Huch as recipient at the same time that the Weimar Goethe society was in Frankfort [the poet's birthplace] on a visit in honor of Frau Aja.

The name of Ricarda Huch is familiar to most Germans interested in the literature of their time and nation. For decades she has been writing, and an amazing variety of books have come from her pen—historical and learned works, stories, travel books, and poetry.

Among her works of fiction are "Recollections of Ludolf Ursleu the Younger," "Sketches from Life," and "From the Street of Triumph," works described as both passionately moving and melancholy.

Numbers of shorter stories, full of imaginative flavor, grace, and humor, are hers also.

In the field of imaginative historical interpretation she has written "The Defence of Rome" and "Battle in Rome," works dealing with and glorifying the work of Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, and "The Great War," from material of the Thirty Years' war in Germany.

Dealing with the cultural history of an epoch are the books "The Flowering of the Romantic Movement" and "Spread and Decline of the Romantic Movement."

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BAYREUTH, June 24.—Arturo Toscanini arrived by motor car from St. Moritz last night and took up residence at the Villa Wahnfried, which was placed at his disposal for the length of his stay at Bayreuth.

He is scheduled to direct the first orchestral rehearsal of "Parsifal" Thursday morning. Signor Toscanini is in excellent health and spirits. The rheumatism which he has suffered from lately has entirely disappeared and he is particularly overjoyed at the prospect of conducting "Parsifal" in Wagner's own theater.

Toscanini declined absolutely to speak of his recent experience in Italy on the ground that any public statement during his first days on German territory might react embarrassingly on his German hostess. He intimated, however, he might have something to say later on.

FAMOUS LONDON CHURCH ASKS CASH TO AVERT ITS RUIN

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—Bow Bells, to be born within the sound of which makes one a Cockney, will be silenced forever unless Britishers come to the rescue of the historic church of St. Mary le Bow and contribute money for repairs.

It was Bow Bells, so the legend goes, that rang out to Dick Whittington, telling him to turn back to London and become "thrice mayor." The church of St. Mary has for hundreds of years been linked closely with the traditions of London.

The old church was built in Norman times. Its name correctly translated would be St. Mary of the Arches, but in the Saxon-Norman mixture of the day it became St. Mary le Bow.

Only the historic Norman crypts in the basement remain intact, but unless the church is repaired it will be difficult to preserve those remains, which attract many visitors.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 24.—(Special.)—The movies react to pressure in queer ways. The Paramount studio demonstrates both ways. "Because of the business slump" this studio cut 15 to 20 per cent off the salary of all employés.

Now the studio reacts to Hoover's pronouncement toward international stabilization, and the consequent stock market rise, by announcing immediate construction of a new $250,000 sound stage. In the meantime the employés still are drawing 80 per cent salaries and there are not enough Paramount companies working at present to fill the stages they already have.

Rex Bell was back in Hollywood today, leaving Clara Bow at the 350,000 acre ranch straddling the Nevada line near Tipton, Cal. Rex reveals that while Hollywood may be forgetting Clara, the rest of the world is not, because "the ranch house yard is always cluttered up with tourists en route to or from Los Angeles, and whenever we go out to see what the groups want, they say 'Is this where Clara Bow is? We're just looking round.'"

Bell is sure Clara will do her most famous movie work in a comeback in the autumn, which may or may not be made for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, and this is the way this writer reads the movie signs and portents:

Clara has become a really good actress; the American public up to now seems to accept her as a good hearted madcap who can be excused for oddities of conduct that would damn others; if Clara can be given a couple of fine movie stories—for example, the kind that built up Norma Shearer and Marion Davies' film careers—it's a legitimate guess she may become one of the outstanding talkie hits of the next few years.

Mabel Normand's home on Camden drive, Beverly Hills, and all its furnishings have been selling at auction for the last two days, chair by chair, pillow by pillow, and ear ring by ear ring. Souvenir hunters bore off kitchen knives, casseroles, and objects from the late star's boudoir in triumph. Part of Miss Normand's collection that brought good prices was a collection of Chinese art objects, ranging from Chinese rugs to incense burners and little inlaid pill boxes. Proceeds of the sale will go to Mabel's mother, Mrs. Claude Normand, who lived in the house for a time after the actress' death. Lew Cody, Mabel's husband, was bequeathed nothing from her estate.

Eddie Sedgwick, the director who last week was let out at United Artists because he and Producer Howard Hughes couldn't agree on directorial treatment for "Sky Devils," has found new, remunerative, and friendlier employment at Universal, where he is to boss "Spirit of Notre Dame." Johnny O'Brien, end on Notre Dame's champs of last autumn, is here to play a part in the filming. Carideo will play another part.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swerling. Mother and child doing well at Good Samaritan hospital. Harry Cohn, head of the studio which employs the ex-Chicago reporter as scenarist, wired congratulations to Swerling as follows:

"Understand baby arived at 8:30 a. m. Hope you do likewise." A little shot at the writer's tendency to report for work later than 9 a. m. when supposed to be in the office.

Chicagoans Sailing.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Seven Chicagoans are listed among passengers sailing for Europe yesterday and today on the Cleveland and Deutschland of the Hamburg-American line. Henry Suder, former superintendent of gymnasitcs in Chicago public schools; the Rev. Peter O'Malley, Mrs. Lottie Atkinson, and Mrs. Helene Hutchinson sailed at noon today on the Cleveland.

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Dr. Robert Preble, and Dr. George P. Marquis of Chicago sailed today for Hamburg on the S. S. Deutschland. From Hamburg they will make a sixteen day cruise to Norway and North Cape. They are three veteran travelers, having made a trip around the world together by boat last year.

BEG PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE on Tuesday said Mrs. Edward Fleming, county commissioner, asked that the county pay rolls be returned to department heads for proper certification and suggested an investigation be made to determine whether employés were working full time. The statements should have been attributed to Miss Amelia Sears, also a commissioner.

Nations' House Started at U of C for Good Will

Will Be Meeting Place of Foreign Students.

In the presence of a cosmopolitan gathering of consuls, foreign students, and members of the faculty the cornerstone for the International house was laid yesterday at the University of Chicago. The construction of the building has been made possible by a $3,000,000 gift from John D. Rockefeller Jr., through whose benefaction two similar institutions have been established at Columbia university and the University of California. The cost of the new building at the University of Chicago will be more than $2,200,000, the remainder of the gift going for the site.

The stone was lowered into place by President Robert Maynard Hutchins while official representatives of six nations and many American students looked on. In the speeches that followed it was predicted that the institution would become a potent influence in averting world crises in the future.

When finished the International house will become the home of foreign students attending the university and will be a gathering place for students from foreign lands who are attending other Chicago educational institutions. A number of American students and faculty members will also make their homes in the International house and by this close association the university authorities expect to promote a better international understanding.

The building will be nine stories high, surmounted by a twelve story tower. It will accommodate 500 students and will have club rooms for the 2,000 foreign students not attending Chicago colleges and universities.

"The structure of coöperative experience shall be the symbol of International house," said the Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the university chapel, in an address to the gathering. "It shall be the corner stone of all our hope and vision for a new international structure of the future."

"LOUISE" LACKS AN IMPORTANT SCENE IN RAVINIA VERSION

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Louise," that music drama of home life in Paris, became the attraction at Ravinia last night, and like every other attraction that has been put on so far this season it was performed to the loudly expressed satisfaction of the Ravinia patrons.

In considering its actual merits, however, it is perhaps advisable to make a reservation or two. As Charpentier wrote the piece, there are two scenes that are not given in the Ravinia version, where time is an important consideration. The trouble is that at least one of these scenes gives a quite different psychological slant on what takes place. Without it, the characters are free agents and the story is the rather sordid and slightly cheap tale of a girl who could not get along with her parents and so went wrong. With that scene included, they are not free at all and the story takes on the epic idea of the voice of the city influencing them as though it were the voice of fate.

In opera giving this might not be so important. But there is the further consideration that the omitted scene contains by far the best music of the whole score. In it Charpentier was a genius of music. In most of the rest of the work he was just a composer.

There is no question, however, that the intelligence and musicianship of Yvonne Gall make her a first class Louise, just as there is no question that the intelligence and musicianship of Edward Johnson make him a first class Julien.

In fact, the four leading principals are entirely distinctive individuals. Leon Rothier is the best father I have observed since Georges Baklanoff left Chicagon, and the least grateful rôle of all, that of the mother, is given a perfect performance by Julia Claussen.

It should be added that there was a triumph of good staging in small dimensions during the scene of the crowning of the muse, with the complete chorus, most of the principals, a brass band, and a charming artist, Ruth Page, heading the ballet.

Chicago Women's Club Helps to Feed Children

The Chicago Women's club has given $1,300 to the board of education to be used in feeding school children through free school lunches during the summer. The gift was in answer to a letter from Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan, in which various civic organizations were told that 15 cents would provide a good meal for a child. The governor's commission on unemployment and relief also has been asked to contribute.

Flowers Far Cheaper Today Than Last Year

While Many Appreciate These Beauty Bargains.

The cost of living, it has been pointed out, is lower this summer than it has been in years. Likewise, the cost of courting, and the cost of entertaining, and the cost of being a chivalrous husband have undergone radical reductions. A partial survey of florists' shops yesterday revealed that the retail price of cut flowers is from 35 to 50 per cent less than it was last year.

One florist interviewed told of a recent customer, a middle aged man, who, pointing to some yellow roses and deep blue delphinium, said, "For years I've entertained an impulse on passing florists' windows to rush in and buy yellow roses. Always I've thought of the price and walked on. I see they're cheaper now, and I'm going to have some."

Simple spring flowers, such as daisies and bachelor buttons, sell for 25 cents a bunch; Shasta daisies for 50 cents a dozen. Snapdragons and delphinium sell for $1.50 a dozen, in comparison to last year's $3 Fancy varieties of peonies, formerly $3, now are $2 a dozen and lower. Sweet peas are 50 cents a bunch. Gladioli sell for 75 cents, which last year brought $1.50.

Whereas some La Salle street men who used to stop in regularly and ask for $5 orders of flowers for their wives, stop in less frequently now and order less there are a large number of persons buying flowers than ever before, one florist said. Men of moderate means stop in Michigan avenue or loop stores and get two dozen of their "cash and carry" bargain roses for 50 cents. In outlying districts, 35 cents often is the price. These are often short stemmed Talisman or Johanna Hill roses, two of the new varieties which ordinarily would sell for far more than older varieties.

Perhaps women who never wore orchids before are wearing them now, just as some who were used to them are doing without, another florist pointed out.

Here's Way for Children to View Fort Dearborn

Arrangements have been completed for school children to visit the replica of Fort Dearborn free of charge in the afternoons on all days except Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. Requests are to be made at the fair office in the administration building, giving data as to the ages and schools of the children in the group and the name of the person conducting the group.

THE STAGE

THE Chicago Civic Shakespeare society, according to present indications, will sponsor an "all star" company, rather than Frits Leiber's company, next season. Mr. Leiber will be at its head, as before, but he will have the coöperation of other stars.

William Faversham will be one of its members, and other possibilities are Margaret Anglin, Helen Menken, Pedro de Cordoba, and Blanche Yurka. Edward Vivian, an alumnus of the Ben Greet companies, will be the stage director.

The plan has not yet been worked out in detail, but the production of four Shakespearean dramas on ambitious scale, instead of a rotated repertory of eight, is contemplated. After the Chicago engagement the company will go on tour with much beating of drums. Claims will be made that this is the most impressive grouping of Shakespearean acting talent since the tour of the Meininger company of Germany had its American tour, way back when.

Mr. Faversham left New York last night for Minneapolis. He will appear in that city in the rôle of Metternich in Rostand's "L'Aiglon," to be staged under the auspices of the University of Minnesota. His career, which began in 1885, has included the Shakespearean rôles of Romeo, as leading man for Maude Adams, and as a star in his own right; Iago, and Marc Antony in "Julius Caesar." His last acting in Chicago was done in the all-star revival of "Diplomacy," in 1928.

Jefferson De Angelis, who heads the cast of "Apron Strings" at the Playhouse, celebrated the sixty-second anniversary of his stage debut last night. He started as a child at Gilbert's Melodion, San Francisco—a frightened boy dressed as a girl, led out on the stage by Lotta Crabtree to dance for his supper.

The Paulist choir of Chicago will make its first professional theatrical appearance at the Palace next Saturday night, as the headline number of the vaudeville program. The singers will be under the direction of the Rev. Eugene O'Malley. . . . William Demarest, now at the Palace, and recently of Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book" revue, has been engaged for the next "Vanities," with which Mr. Carroll will dedicate his new Broadway theater late in August.

"Stepping Sisters" may have moved back to the Blackstone, but they're still selling tickets for it at the Cort theater. The reason: The progressive Tracy C. Drake of the former has persuaded the obliging U. J. Herrmann of the latter playhouse to permit his box office to be used as a branch. This is worth noting, because in the past branch box offices have been almost as rare in Chicago as branch banks.

Three more summer revues are in preparation in New York. One of them, to be called "Broadway Personalities," will employ James Barton, Frances Williams, and Ann Pennington, among others. It will open next Monday night at Brighton Beach. Another, now entitled "Bad Land Nights," will exploit the talents of far western entertainers. The third, which hasn't been named, will be sponsored by Allan K. Foster, known as a dance director, and will contain Paul Ash and Jack Osterman. It will not reach Broadway until August.

Nevada Girl Calls on Hoover, Thanks Him for Dam Law

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—A 17 year old girl called on President Hoover today. She thanked him on behalf of the agricultural interests of Nevada for his aid in obtaining legislation to authorize the Hoover dam. The girl, Miss Neca Jones of Clark county, Nevada, was chosen for the mission because of her outstanding 4-H club work and because she is a native of the area to be improved.

Miss Jones, who lives on a ranch which will be virtually on the shore of the lake to be created by the Hoover dam, was selected as the health champion of eleven western states.

She presented a crate of peaches to the President from the Nevada farm bureau and gave him also a bronze pin from Nevada 4-H club members.

Other officers elected today were: Joseph Leitner, Peoria, first vice president; Barnard Rosenberg, Chicago, second vice president; H. F. Wilkins, Chicago, third vice president; Timothy Rohan, Chicago, secretary; Sam Henderson, Chicago, treasurer. Police matrons of the state also are holding their annual session.

Chicago Rector Made Bishop of Minnesota

Ceremony for Dr. Keeler, at St. Chrysostom's.

St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church was the scene yesterday morning of the consecration rites which made the rector of that church, the Rev. Dr. Stephen E. Keeler, the bishop coadjutor of Minnesota. Fifteen bishops, headed by the most Rev. James De Wolf Perry, primate of the American Episcopal church, participated in the ceremonies lasting over two hours.

A hot summer sun beat down upon the Dearborn parkway church and the congregation sweltered. Several persons were overcome by the heat and were forced to leave the church.

Nearly 2,000 clergymen from the dioceses of Chicago and Minnesota took part in the service. The procession from the parish house to the church at the opening of the service was headed by a crucifer and two torch bearers. Then followed the choir of St. Chrysostom's which, in turn was followed by the vestry and wardens of St. Chrysostom's, many of whom are well known in the industrial and commercial life of Chicago. These include George A. Ranney, F. F. Norcross, M. Paul Noyes, Joseph H. King, John T. Redmond, Fletcher M. Durbin, George B. Foster, Bruce Borland, Harold C. Smith, Col. A. A. Sprague, Frederic C. Spalding, and L. Parsons Warren.

Lay officials of the Chicago and Minnesota dioceses were next in line. Bishops from various sections of the country brought up the rear, with the officiating prelates and the bishop-elect last in the procession.

Bishop Perry, the primate of the church, made a hurried trip from New York to officiate at the consecration. Assisting Bishop Perry as co-consecrators were Bishop Frank A. McElwain of Minnesota, and Bishop George Craig Stewart of Chicago. Bishop Warren L. Rogers of Ohio, under whom Bishop Keeler served as rector of St. Paul's church, Akron, O., delivered the consecration sermon. Bishop H. P. Almon Abbott of Lexington, Ky., Dr. Keeler's predecessor at St. Chrysostom's church, read the epistle and Bishop Hugh L. Burleson of South Dakota, and assistant to the presiding bishop, read the gospel.

Testimonials of Dr. Keeler's election to the episcopate were presented by the Rev. Guy Menefee of Rochester, Minn., and consents of the bishops and dioceses of the American church were read by the Very Rev. Frederick F. Kramer, Faribault, and the Rt. Rev. Campbell Gray, bishop of Northern Indiana.

After the laying on of hands, the new bishop was presented with a Bible, his episcopal ring and pectoral cross. Immediately after the consecration, documents were certified and sealed by the Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Randall, secretary of the diocese who acted for the registrar of the national church.

Mr. Ranney, junior warden of St. Chrysostom's church, acted as toastmaster at a luncheon in Bishop Keeler's honor at the Ambassador East hotel.

Chicago Musical College Graduation Marked by Concert

The sixty-fifth commencement concert and exercises of the Chicago Musical college took place last evening in the Civic Opera house. The Symphony orchestra of the college gave the program under the leadership of Leon Sametine, conductor, and Edward Collins, guest conductor. The soloists were Vera Bradford, Sam Raphling, Ralph Squires, and Norman Voelcker, piano; Leo Pevsner, violin, and Dorothea Helenius, vocal.

Rudolph Ganz, director of the college, delivered the address and awarded prizes. Honorary degrees of master of music were awarded to five musicians; regular postgraduate degrees of master of music to 57 students and several bachelor of music degrees were awarded.

Napoleon Books Now on Show for Berliners

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 24.—The mysterious appearance in Berlin of a unique library of the greatest literary and historical value, the wedding gift of Napoleon I. to his second wife, Marie Louise, archduchess of Austria, is mystifying all book experts and historians in Germany.

While the authenticity of the collection is regarded as established, no definite information can be obtained as to how the library, all traces of which were lost after the death of Empress Marie in 1847, found its way into the Prussian state library, Unter den Linden, where it is now on exhibit.

While the Society of Friends of the Prussian State Library, under whose auspices the exhibition is held, is keeping the ownership of the library strictly secret, the theory is expressed here that the collection is the property of Prince Ferdinand of Montenuvo, now residing in Vienna. One of his ancestors, Count Adam Adalbert of Neipperg, married the ex-empress after Napoleon's death in 1821. It is believed that following the exhibition the collection will be sold at auction.

The library comprises more than 12,000 volumes of which 6,000 are on display here. It includes a complete collection of the great French classics, elaborate volumes bound in vellum, silk, saffian, partly embellished with the imperial coat of arms and the Hapsburg escutcheon, among others a de luxe edition of Voltaire in 92 volumes; a traveling library which accompanied Napoleon on all his campaigns, including Plutarch, Pascal, Milton, Rousseau, and a large collection of geographical maps which the great general used when dealing out his master blows.

What makes the collection especially valuable is the fact that of Napoleon's library—he is known to have collected more than 100,000 volumes during his life—only a very small part has been preserved up to date.

Dotted Swiss Suits for Hot Weather Chic

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Everybody isn't lucky enough to get away for the whole summer, and Paris couturiers, who have to know everything, have prepared some smart "consolation prises" for girls who have to pass their dog days in town, in the shape of street suits of cotton, cotton twill, sponge cloth and, smartest and coolest of all, dotted Swiss muslin.

These dotted Swiss suits are equally at home in the country, too, and they fill an aching void in the girlish commuter's hot weather wardrobe. One of the prettiest dotted Swiss suits I've seen this season is sketched herewith. Lucile Ltd. makes the skirt and bolero jacket of bright green muslin with white dots, with scalloped edges bound in plain white muslin. The skirt is slightly flared and buttoned up the front at the top with three pearl buttons. A tunic effect is given to this skirt by the front panel in three circular tiers [not flounces] of the dotted Swiss with white bound, scalloped edges.

The little bolero of the green dotted Swiss has short kimono sleeves. The white organdy blouse has short puffed sleeves edged with little plaited ruffles of white organdy. Its fichu collar is similarly edged. Plaited organdy bands are incrusted vertically on either side of the front. You can see the effect of the blouse alone on the small figure.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Post-Holiday Abandon.

Upon my arrival at the office the Monday following Decoration day, the boss greeted me with a letter to be dictated. Being somewhat in a daze from the holidays, I hurriedly ran the letter through the typewriter, and imagine my embarrassment when the boss returned it marked, "Kansas City affair" instead of "Kansas Cuty affair" as I had written it. Would I love holidays if it were not for the day after! E. M.

New England Coast Beckons to Chicagoans

BY THALIA

Many of the Chicagoans who have summer places on Cape Cod and the New England coast in the vicinity of that cape already have established themselves there for the summer. Mrs. Alex Smith and her daughter, Miss Fayette Smith, reached a few weeks ago from a Bermuda trip and went straight to the "Pebble Hedge" at Hyannisport where they landed.

Mr. and Mrs. Secor Cunningham have gone to Hyannisport a few days ahead of Mrs. William France Anderson and her family are at their place, Wianno, at Hyannisport. The Sterling Morris have taken a place at Osterville, and the Jay Morse Elys are to be there today.

Mrs. Charles T. Browne doesn't know exactly when she will go to Cape Cod, but the two youngest Browne children are already at their place at Osterville, and Allie Jr. is on his way by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Goodspeeds, who have come for a visit with Mr. Goodspeed's mother, plan to depart in a week or so. About Aug. 1 they plan to go abroad.

Yacht Club Opens Season There.

The Harbor season was officially opened on Monday with the opening of the Bob Harbor club. The swimming pool and tennis courts are in excellent condition. An orchestra is to play during the morning swimming hour, and there will be daily tea dances, Monday night dances and a concert and play on Sunday evenings.

Edward T. Stotesbury is president of the club and Potter Palmer, vice president. The Harold A. Howards are occupying Mossley hall and Mrs. Edward T. Bowen arrived last week-end to open her cottage, Baymeath, for the season. Her grandchildren, Edith Bowen and Ledyard Bowen, accompanied her.

The engagement of Miss Mary Elinor Sloan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Sloan of Detroit, to Henry Ford Kerr Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Kerr of Evanston, was announced in Detroit on Monday, and Miss Cora Kerr was best man for the bridegroom, and the ushers were Edward Platt Jr. and Robert Ross. Mrs. Henry Russell Platt Jr. of Bay Ridge Wilder of Hubbard Woods were among the wedding guests.

Miss Fairbanks and Count Are Married.

The marriage of Miss Edith Anne Fairbanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks of Chicago and Indianapolis, to Count Ruggero Visconti di Modrone of Milan, Italy, was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the apartment of the bride's parents, 1500 Lake Shore drive. The ceremony was followed by a small reception for relatives of the couple and a few close friends.

The bride, Miss Fairbanks wore a gown of white satin with long, tight sleeves and a flowing train. Her white tulle veil fell from a cap bordered with orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies. Her sister, Miss Cornelia Warren Fairbanks, who was her only attendant, wore a yellow chiffon gown with a large brown straw hat and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and delphinium. The Italian consul general, Giuseppe Castruccio, was best man for the groom.

The couple and his bride will sail in a few days for Milan, Italy, where they will reside.

Mrs. J. S. Long Leases Home on Long Island Shore.

Mrs. Joseph B. Adams—Mrs. Joseph B. Adams has leased the country place of Count Heinrich Schillinfurst at Sands on Long Island for the summer. For this the princess sojourns at the Austrian Alps. . . . Mrs. Holbrook Colgate sailed yesterday on the S. S. Volendam for Europe. She is a sister of Mrs. Lombard Simpson in town and they plan to travel to Vienna and Budapest and will attend the festivities at Bayreuth and Munich.

Mrs. Clarke plans to be in Italy for the races after her summer travels and probably won't return to Chicago until along in the winter. . . .

Mrs. Lucy Martin and her mother sailed yesterday on the Vulcania also for a European trip. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Morsman of the Edgewater Beach hotel, their son, Joseph Jr., a Yale student, and their daughter, Miss Ruth Graff, have been spending at Barana inn in the Berkshires. . . . Mr. and Mrs. George Ade Davis of 14 East Cedar street have left for their summer place at Cape Cod. Their newly married son and his bride, the George Ade Davis Jr., are to visit them when they return from Europe the last of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Woodland have issued invitations for the wedding reception of their daughter, Virginia, and William Thomas Heagney for Saturday afternoon, July 14, at 5 o'clock at the Indian Hill Country club. The wedding ceremony preceding the reception will be at the bride's residence, with only the immediate families attending.

North Shore Weddings Scheduled This Afternoon.

Today's calendar boasts two north shore weddings, both to be solemnized at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Miss Cuthbert Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert Adams of Winnetka, and William Thompson Lusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Lusk of New York, will be married in Christ church at Winnetka, and Miss Marion Ruger Norcross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruger Norcross of Highland Park, will be married to Dr. William Havilland Morris of Wallingford, Conn., in the Highland Park Trinity Episcopal church. Both ceremonies will be followed by receptions at the respective residences of the brides' parents.

Miss Adams is to have no attendants, and since there are to be only a few guests at the service, there will be no ushers. Louis Tiffany Lusk will be best man for his brother.

Miss Norcross is to have Miss Caroline E. Schofield as her maid of honor, and Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord and Miss Emily Norcross will be her bridesmaids. The groom's brother, Henry H. Morriss of Ruxton, Md., will be his best man and the ushers will include Dr. John R. Norcross, William Jerome Ruger Jr., George Allen Mason Jr., and Rodney S. Mason.

SALLY JOY BROWN PICKS 100 CHILDREN TODAY FOR PARTY

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

This is a red letter day for all the boys and girls who have written letters to me, seeking invitations to our first party of the season at White City on July 2. This morning I shall select the hundred winners. I hope you wrote your letter in time because if it doesn't reach me today, it will be too late.

Selecting my guests will be no easy task, I can assure you, for you've all written such interesting letters the judging will be difficult. And it will be a grand party, too, with its rides and shows and a circus and—not the least of the attractions—refreshments in the lovely, green picnic grove which is one of the most delightful spots in the south side amusement park.

The names of the winners will appear in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE. That means you'll have to wait for the good—or bad—news and if your name isn't listed with the lucky hundred I don't want you to feel too disappointed or discouraged. You know, there will be many more exciting parties, one every week during the summer, and the next one will be announced on Sunday.

France Drops Quota On U. S. Films; Act Effective for Year

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 24.—The French cinema control commission today removed for a year, starting July 1, all import restrictions on American films. The new regulations have been made subject to a governmental decree which will be signed by M. Petsch, minister of fine arts, to replace the quota of the exportation of one French film for every 7 films imported from America. The government's decision is regarded as the end of the controversy.

The decision is likely to influence other European nations to remove their quota regulations relating to American films. Certainly it will strengthen those trying to obtain modification of German contingent regulations—most drastic of all.

Removal of restriction on American film imports into France was accomplished through the adoption of regulations providing that in the future the quota law shall apply to those countries with similar regulations applying to French films. Since America has no quota law for France at present, the French film pact automatically ends.

Another concession to American companies is the promise that German dialogue films, made in France by German film interests, shall be officially characterized as a French product and shall benefit by the terms of the impending Franco-German film accord.

Illinois Veterans of 1898 Meet Today in Champaign

Champaign, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Hundreds of United Spanish-American War Veterans were arriving here tonight for the twenty-eighth annual encampment of the Illinois division, opening here tomorrow morning and continuing until Saturday noon. Approximately 3,000 veterans and members of the auxiliary are expected to attend. Col. C. W. Nunan, commander of the Champaign-Urbana camp, will open the general session. Tomorrow afternoon a reunion of the Fifth Illinois infantry will be held. Business sessions will be held Friday with a parade at night. Ernest C. Ermel, Chicago, senior vice commander of the Illinois division, a member of Oak Park, No. 30, is one of the leading candidates for state commander at the election to be held Saturday morning.

Catholic Action Clubs Favored by Teacher at School Convention

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—(AP)—Formation of Catholic Action clubs in American Catholic schools was urged today by Brother D. Joseph, professor of history at St. John's college, Washington, in an address before the secondary school department of the National Catholic Education association.

"In the Catholic schools," he said, "the distinguishing feature clubs should be those which have specific religious purposes. These religious clubs may be confraternities, sodalities, oratories, leagues, student mission units, adoration circles, Catholic truth guilds, and similar projects.

"What a possibility is here for the development of the lay apostolate and Catholic Action so dear to the heart of our gloriously reigning supreme pontiff.

"In these days of the radio and multiple press, our yourth, in emulation of prominent Catholic men, wish to explain their faith to their fellow youth. Practice in school clubs will fit them for such mission work.

"The clubs existing in any school are the result of local needs and the administrative policy. Needless to say, in the Catholic school those clubs which are not specifically religious in purpose will, nevertheless, be permeated with the spirit of religion."

Cute Railway Stations in England, Says U. S. Good Will Envoy

LONDON, June 24.—(AP)—Members of America's youthful "peace mission" reached London tonight from Plymouth and the eleven boys and girls entertained the newspaper men who had gone to the station to meet them.

Sonya Schulberg of Los Angeles and Charles Holbrook of Maryland, both 11 years old, were particularly enjoyable.

"You have cute railroad stations here," said Sonya, assuming the air of one accustomed to interviews. "We're sort of disappointed at having to wear uniforms, but we've brought other clothes for use when we're off duty."

Young Holbrook permitted a diplomatic breach for a member of a peace mission, affirming with some pride that his ambition is to enter the United States army. He represents the Y. M. C. A.

This tour is under the auspices of the United States Flag association.

Phi Delta Tau Sorority Dance Set for Friday

The grand council of Phi Delta Tau National sorority will hold a summer formal dance on Friday evening on the roof garden of the Beachview club, 1725 East 53d street. Miss Mildred Ellsworth of Oak Park, grand president, is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Miss Bette Ruddy, vice president.

The thirty-seventh biennial convention of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority will be held at Bemidji, Minn., from June 28 to July 2. Mrs. Ernest Barbour, 1704 Asbury avenue, Evanston; Miss Lillian W. Thompson, 224 West 61st place, and Mrs. Lester A. White, 6812 Wayne avenue, are international officers. The organization maintains camps for underprivileged children in Colorado and British Columbia.

Food Talk.

Mrs. G. D. P. writes: "We are fond of broiled steak, but whenever I put it in the oven it always catches on fire and not only frightens me but spoils the steak as well. Is there anything I can do to prevent the steak from catching on fire?"

Mrs. P. does not say when the steak takes fire. If she is not changing the position of the steak after it is well seared and continues to cook it near the fierce fire it will naturally take fire before it is well cooked. The rule for the preparation of ideal steak is to first sear both sides rapidly near a high heat, then lower the flame or move the steak a greater distance from the flame to finish cooking. If Mrs. P. is taking these precautions then there are two other reasons why her steak may catch fire.

One cause may be that the steak is too fat for broiling. Fat has a much lower kindling temperature, takes fire at a lower temperature than the lean part of the meat which has a higher water content. So Mrs. P. may need to purchase steak that is less fat or trim off the excess fat. Of course, all of it should not be trimmed off because fat adds much to the fine flavor of the broiled meat. Another cause for the steak catching fire may be due to a faulty broiling flame. The flame of her broiling oven may not be even. If there are any long sharp points in any part of the flame that come too close to the fat on the meat it will sooner or later heat the melted fat to a kindling temperature.

Mrs. D. writes, "Will you kindly publish recipes for chocolate fudge, also for divinity fudge." A number of recipes for fudge have been published in this column during the last year in which the liquid constituents used have been ordinary bottled milk, cream or evaporated milk.

If Mrs. D. will write for recipes we will gladly send any of those published. What does Mrs. D. or any one else mean by divinity fudge? I know a candy called divinity which is made of stiffly beaten egg whites and a sirup of water, sugar, and corn sirup cooked to the hard ball stage. It is not a fudge, but belongs more to the nougat family.

DIVINITY FUDGE.

1-3 cup boiling water.
3 egg whites.
2 cups granulated sugar.
1 cup corn sirup.
¾ cup walnut meats.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Without stirring, boil 1 cup of sugar and 1-3 cup of water until sirup will spin a thread [215 degrees F.]. Pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites slowly, beating constantly. Start the 2 cups of sugar and corn sirup to cook when the first mixture is removed from the fire. Beat the first mixture until the second reaches the crack stage [270 degrees F.], or until small drops will form a brittle mass in a cupful of cold water. Cool until bubbles disappear in sirup, then pour over the egg mixture and beat continuously until mass stiffens. Add ½ cup chopped walnut meats and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour on a buttered platter. When stiff, cut into squares and wrap in oiled paper.

Yield: 2¼ pounds.

BEAN SALAD.

2 cups kidney beans well drained.
1 cup diced celery.
¼ cup nut meats.
⅛ green pepper, chopped.
2 teaspoons salt.
6 tablespoons chopped pickle.
½ cup French dressing.

Mix the beans, celery, nut meats, green pepper, pickles, and salt. Add the salad dressing. Serve cold on lettuce leaves.

3 Foreign Judges Chosen for Carnegie Art Display

Pittsburgh, June 24.—(AP)—Albert Marquet of Paris, Paul Nash of London and Cipriano Efisio Oppo of Rome have been selected to serve on the jury of award at the 30th Carnegie institute international exhibition of paintings next September. Three American artists, whose names will be made known later, will serve with the Europeans.

Expert on Makeup Gives Some Tips on How to Apply Rouge

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Here are a few makeup tricks gathered from a womap who has been actively engaged in makeup demonstration work for one of the big cosmetic manufacturers:

"A girl with a thin face," says this makeup artist, "should leave as much white space as possible. Rouge towards the ear lobes and back, and the face will appear fuller. The reason for this is that the eye sees the white space first and then goes out toward the darker area, creating an impression of a broader face."

That's a good tip for the thin faced girl. Another one is to lay the rouge on lightly, letting the lips carry most of the color. When you get a thin face with the cheeks ever so slightly drawn or hollowed and you weight that surface down, as so many thin faced girls do, with a heavy allover cheek makeup, the effect is distinctly aging, and the color often purplish in the impression given, whether rouge of a purplish color is worn or not. I think it is the shadows created, covering the red in the rouge, that give the purplish tint.

For the full faced girl, the rouge may be applied close to the nose with breadth minimizing effect.

For the thick lipped girl, a light shade of rouge is advised and it must be laid on lightly. Any feature that is disproportionately large should not have attention drawn to it by color. A full underlip may be camouflaged by building up the upper lip with color, the under one just glazed with a matching shade.

The girl whose face is very short can dress her hair away from her forehead and off the sides of the face, too, with improvement, putting her rouge on not in circular form but diagonally.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special:]—The secretary of the navy and Mrs. Charles Frances Adams are again in Washington after a visit to their home in Massachusetts and to witness the commencement at Harvard last week.

Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, wife of the secretary of commerce, left Washington today by motor for New York to visit her daughters, Mrs. Chauncey Belknap and Mrs. Charles E. Saltzman, before traveling through New England, also by motor. Mrs. Lamont will be the guest in Edgartown, Mass., of Mrs. H. St. Clair Putnam in the latter's summer home at Martha's Vineyard. After that she will spend a week-end at Mount Kisco, N. Y., as the guest of the chairman of the federal reserve board and Mrs. Eugene Meyer going from there to the Lamont summer home at Land O'Lakes, Wis. There the secretary will join her.

SYNOPSIS.

Clare, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. Iris has been separated for years from her dissolute husband, Marcel. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their tyrannical aunt, the Comtesse de Castelmauron. Marcel is seen frequently with Suzanne Marly, an actress. Iris planned to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood and his friend, Tommy Rostetter, conduct a private search for Clare.

Iris moves to her aunt's home and learns that her husband is already domiciled there. He seems to have reformed.

A letter is sent to Iris stating that Clare is being held for ransom. Her aunt offers to pay the sum asked if Marcel and Iris promise to become reconciled.

Alan meets Marcel and recalls having seen him at Le Touquet, hobnobbing with a suave looking couple. Marcel calls on Alan in his hotel room. That night an attempt is made to asphyxiate Alan. He moves to Tommy's apartment.

Tommy and Alan suspect that Marcel, who is known to be heavily in debt, is the instigator of the kidnaping with the couple, known as Yetta and Pietro, his partners in crime, the motive being the ransom. Alan learns that the couple have a half-witted son.

Tommy sees Marcel leaving Suzanne Marly's home at the hour scheduled for him to deliver the ransom. Alan calls on Iris. Marcel arrives shortly after, badly beaten up, and declares that he was robbed by the kidnapers, who have not returned Clare. Tommy and Alan tell the story to the police. They return with the police inspector to question Marcel and find he has vanished. They leave to search for Yetta and Pietro in the neighborhood outside of Paris, where they are supposed to dwell, each taking separate routes. Alan finds the dilapidated dwelling they used as their hideout. It is deserted. The couple returns and Alan hides in the scullery off the kitchen. Marcel arrives. He says he hid the ransom in Suzanne's flat, and that she found it and won't give it back. Yetta tells Marcel that Clare is dead. The son of the couple has escaped from the house and Yetta plans to make a search for him before they make their getaway.

INSTALLMENT LVIII.

THE LOST BOY.

Without a glance behind, Yetta strode to the entrance, where an obstacle met her in the shape of de Bertincourt who, with revolver drawn, barred her way.

"If you refuse to let me know what you're up to," he declared with an ugly glint in his eye, "what's to prevent my shooting you? I'd do it, by God!—and it would serve you right."

"You white livered cur!" she blazed at him. "You take anything from me. Bah! You make me sick!" She took no notice of the weapon. Instead, with another of her quick changes, she looked him over, all at once craftily astute. "On second thought," she said slowly, "you'll come along with me. Yes, that is better. Pietro is right; it's your affair, this. You'll help me find Jacquot."

"My affair?" he echoed, dazed. "Why mine? I don't——"

Before a word of further objection could be uttered she shepherded her unwilling companions through the door, put out the light, and joined them.

Charnwood sprang out, cursing the luck which had held him here powerless, and determined to make straight for the village to report what he had heard. The party would have vanished before he could reach the out of doors, but that was of small account; since he was unable to follow.

He dashed to the passage, cleared the cellar steps at a bound and, to his relief, found the missing revolver beneath the rubbish. When he reached the garden gate he found it securely fastened as before. All was quiet. The criminals had disappeared, probably to retrieve the idiot boy, though why they had taken de Bertincourt with them was a puzzle he could not solve.

He discovered an old barrel, placed it against the wall, and was about to climb over when a whirring sound pulsated on his ear. An engine hummed in a steady crescendo up the long grade of the hill, neared the common, and three seconds later was chugging at a standstill just outside the garden. He crouched in the shadow of the wall, holding his breath, and waited, tense.

"Who's that—stay as you are or I'll shoot!"

Who was coming here? Had the scoundrels already accomplished their purpose?

Low voices conferred together at the gate. There was fumbling at the latch. Then something scraped the wall near where he was standing, and almost at once the dark mass of a head raised itself above the ledge six feet away. He braced himself, drew his revolver, and, leveling the torch full on the intruder, cried out suddenly:

"Who's that?" Stay as you are or I'll shoot!"

Instantly an English voice came back at him, "Alan, you damned fathead, drop that gun!"

"Tommy!" yelled Charnwood in ecstatic relief.

"Eh! Why the clamor?"

By now a second head had showed itself, and the dazzled eyes of Inspector Maupin blinked in the glare.

"Because," said Charnwood, "there's no one here but me. All three of them cleared off barely ten minutes ago. Sure you didn't pass them?"

"We saw nothing. Three, did you say?"

"De Bertincourt is with them."

"But the girl?"

"She's dead, Tommy. I've just learned what happened. Here, haul me up, and I'll tell you what I know."

A moment later in a hushed voice he made known what seemed to him the essentials of the story. Tommy listened, his arms dropped heavily at his sides, his face contracted with pain.

"So the poor kid was done for in the very beginning?"

"Yes—we couldn't have saved her—no one could. It was an overdose of morphia, just as you said it might be." After a brief pause he burst out, "The swine, the utter swine! Do you suppose he cares, except as it affects him? All he's concerned about is the fortune his aunt promised to leave him if he and Iris agreed to live together. He's frightened for fear he won't get it, that's all. Now you see the full dimensions of his scheme. God, when I think of it!"

"So that's the plan!" cried Tommy, his blue eyes smoldering. He rapidly translated all this to the inspector, who swore under his breath.

"And they have gone together, you say?" he demanded, frowning.

"Then I suppose that is his own car over there——? Look!" He pointed toward the far side of the mere where in a thicket of birches a dim mass showed.

"Then he at least intends to come back," announced Maupin. "But why should he risk being seen in their company? Have you any idea what they mean to do?"

"A sort of one. That boy of the Lepins is at large, and just now a neighbor came in to say he'd seen him in some field at the bottom there, where there's a dangerous stone quarry. I fancy they have gone to look for him, and for some reason which I don't understand, they've dragged de Bertincourt off, too."

The Frenchman shrugged. Plainly this explanation struck him as decidedly fishy. Meanwhile, Tommy was bending over the tires one after the other. A succession of reports sounded, and air released hissed forth.

"That's fixed our chief hero," he declared, shutting up his knife with a snap. "We can hide here and nab him, if you like. But wait! Let me hear again what you said. I didn't quite catch it."

Charnwood repeated his supposition, but the inspector was already striding impatiently back to the waiting car.

"Don't let us waste time, messieurs," he called over his shoulder. "I want to report this at once to the police at Antoine-Eglise. They can hold up the criminals by telegraph or telephone, no matter what direction they have gone."

But Tommy paid no attention.

"Here, I fail to grasp this. Do you mean to say they have fooled about all this time instead of making their escape?"

As coherently as he could, Charnwood described what he had witnessed. "I can only suppose they'd lost that son of theirs and didn't want to go without him. I am positive they'd searched and given it up as a bad job. They only came back to light a fire and burn Clare's clothing."

"Clare's clothing!" shouted Tommy. "What! Twelve whole days after her death? Stop, inspector! I want you to hear this!"

Maupin listened and smiled scornfully.

"Why do you think it was Mademoiselle's garments they destroyed? Did you actually see them?"

"No, but I heard a lot of metal buttons drop on the floor, and I know that the frock she was wearing had buttons down the back."

"Buttons! Many clothes have buttons. This was probably a gown worn by the woman during her stay here, something she didn't wish to be recognised by."

"Still, I'm practically certain they were Clare's," persisted Charnwood, lowering his voice. "There were several articles—the wig, a hat——"

Tommy pinioned his arm. His eyes were narrowed to steel points.

"Hold on, I want to know more about this boy—and what was it you said about a stone quarry?"

"That part of it is true, I can vouch for it. I nearly fell into the quarry myself, and what's more, I ran into the boy, two hours ago, ambling along like a sleep walker. I didn't guess who he was till later."

Tommy exploded like a grenade.

"You saw him? Merciful God! Why didn't you say so at first? And de Bertincourt was ignorant of his daughter's death till he came here tonight? You're sure of that?"

"I watched him receive the news. It was a few minutes later that their friend interrupted them, and it was his tale which apparently made them alter their intention of going off without their son. Judging from their anxiety to get hold of him, it may be that he knows something which they're afraid he'll give away."

There's a Definite Reason Behind a Youngster's Fears

Suggestions for meeting warm weather problems in the care of your baby will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Again and again we find it necessary to ring the variations on the old theme of fear. Yesterday there were letters from two parents who had discovered the fear that made their children dread their bath.

Today there is a second letter from a mother who wrote me some time ago that her little girl disliked stories, in fact, wouldn't listen to them. She couldn't understand why, but in time the fear was uncovered, and by skillful handling she had straightened everything out.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: My husband and I read your articles each day and they are so helpful to us. We have a little girl almost 5 and not only our friends, but people we have never seen before comment on how well she behaves in stores and shows, church, subway or bus.

"Ever since she was tiny we have kept up with your articles and many have been used as she grows older. Last year she would not listen to stories, and I wrote you. You wrote a most interesting article and sent me a copy of it. I learned that what you said was true. A nurse in the hospital had told her the story of the babes in the woods—that was why she didn't like stories [this is a quite horrible story and should never be told to little children]. She wouldn't stay in bed [of course she should have] so when the nurse realized that getting up would hurt her she threatened to tell her that story whenever she found her out of bed!

"I did as you advised and made up stories about her doings. Whenever we were 'lost' for something to do I would tell her: 'Once upon a time there was a lovely little girl whose name was Jane' and she would ask for a story about herself. Later I would tell fairy stories but Jane was always the leading lady. I read to her every night now."

How many things there are that create fear. Fairy tales are great creators of fear in the lives of young children. Incidentally, the foreword in our booklet called "The Littlest Bookshelf" contains suggestions for the kind of reading suitable to each age, and may be helpful if you have young children.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Webb will give a dance at their summer home at Westbury in honor of their daughter, Miss Lila Vanderbilt Webb, and their niece, Miss Adeline Havemeyer, debutantes of next season, and also for Miss Frederica Webb, another niece.

Mrs. Daniel Bennett gave a large tea this afternoon at the Sherry-Netherland for Mrs. Leland Orvis, who is sailing in July to pass the remainder of the summer abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thomas of the Hotel Carlyle departed today for Newport, R. I.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Chance to Help a Cripple.

"I am a crippled girl 19 years old. As I am unable to work, I can not buy the clothing I need, and I wonder if you can get some for me. I wear size 32 in a dress and size 3 slippers. My sister needs clothing, too. She wears the same size as I do except in slippers. Her shoe size is 4. S. K."

Girls and young women who are now planning their summer wardrobes should have a garment or two of last year's things to discard. Won't you give them to the K. girls who are so badly in need of wearing apparel?

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Sleeveless frocks are decidedly popular this season and this good looking sports model adopts the sleeveless fashion with a simple but smart effect. The collar is rather novel and a contrasting material or color may be used with good effect. Plaits at either side of the bodice at the front combine with the vertical seaming of the skirt to give height to the figure. Shantung, linen, cotton angora mesh, and washable flat silk crêpe make up well.

The pattern, No. 3090, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Outlook's Gloomy.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am interested in a young lady to whom I have sent a few letters, but she never answered. Could it be that she is not interested?

"WONDERING."

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I've been married five years. My wife has a terrible disposition. At the slightest thing, she blows up in the air. Then, there is a week of quarreling. I've given in so often that I'm sick of the whole business.

"I like to play cards; she doesn't. That's cause for a fight. I'm no gambler. I play cards with my old dad because he likes to play. I'm told that I go to my mother's too often. I go twice a week. My wife spends part of every day with her mother. I'm told all the time how I neglect her. "Every Saturday night we see a good show and go once during the week. I am, yours truly,

"JUST A DOG."

That signature may be the cue to what's wrong with your domestic picture, brother. Any man who can describe himself as "Just a Dog" is by way of being in the perfect position to be treated as one.

When a man draws one of the quarrelsome, bickering, unreasonable creatures, he has to be a whole lot of a man to survive. He has to speak up early, too, or he's lost. There's much of the same yellow in the unreasonable, hectoring female mate that is characteristic of the male bully. And the treatment for both runs along the same principle. Just show a superior strength and your bully, male or female, weakens.

I suppose the fear of divorce and alimony injustice is what gets into men under these quarreling-marriage circumstances. The men suspect they haven't a change in the world and women do take advantage of that situation, using it as a whiphand, often when they haven't a single intention of carrying their troubles to a judge. They know they have their men cowed and that serves.

There's this about the type—the more she is permitted to have her way, the more tyrannical she becomes. The explanation for which, I believe, is the fact that the woman doesn't want to have her way.

WHAT TEN-WORD SENTENCE CAN YOU MAKE USING ONLY THE WORDS IN TODAY'S ADS?

The Chicago Tribune will pay

$1000 IN CASH PRIZES

for the Best ORIGINAL

"GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS"

What Is a Good Time Charliegram?

A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice: "Every time you buy something you help bring back prosperity." "The time to stock up is when prices are low." "Large savings can be made on nearly everything bought today." "When business starts humming prices are bound to rise again." Do you think you can make up a better Good Time Charliegram than any of these?—using only the words appearing in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune? Try your hand at it! Read the simple rules and start looking for your words now!

WHAT sentence of exactly ten words can you make up, using only the words appearing in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune?

This is your last week to try for the $1,000.00 in cash prizes which the Tribune will pay for the best original Good Time Charliegrams. All you have to do is select ten words from any ads in today's Tribune except the Want Ads. Put them all together and the resulting sentence may win for you one of the big cash prizes.

Try it! It's a fascinating game—just like a treasure hunt. Read the simple rules and start looking through the ads now!

THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. The Chicago Tribune will pay $1,000.00 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the best and nearest complete sets of seven (7) original Good Time Charliegrams in accordance with these rules.

2. A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice. The sentence must be made up of words taken from advertisements EXCEPT Classified or Want Ads, published in a single day's issue of the Chicago Tribune. To indicate where you get each word, simply write down the name of the advertiser following the word. Words are NOT to be taken from the Want Ads.

3. Not more than one word shall be taken from the advertising of any one store, company, or individual. If an advertiser has more than one advertisement in the same issue of the Tribune, only one word from such advertisements may be used in the same Good Time Charliegram. The same word may be used more than once, provided that it is taken from a different advertiser every time it is used.

4. The prizes are as follows:

1st Prize		$250.00
2nd Prize		100.00
Next 2 Prizes	$50.00 each	100.00
Next 4 Prizes	$25.00 each	100.00
Next 25 Prizes	$10.00 each	250.00
Next 40 Prizes	$ 5.00 each	200.00
73 prizes totaling		$1,000.00

5. This offer is open to every one—men and women, boys and girls—except employees of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

6. Good Time Charliegrams are to be submitted in complete sets only. DO NOT send in each day's entry separately. Hold all Good Time Charliegrams until you have the complete set of seven (7). Then send them to "GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS," the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. All entries in the Fifth Series must be received in the Tribune office before 5 P. M. on Wednesday, July 1, 1931.

7. Contestants may submit as many sets of Good Time Charliegrams as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

8. You need NOT buy the Chicago Tribune. You may use the yearly files supplied each day in the Tribune to print or submit your entry on a regular sheet of paper. The Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

9. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be made to each tying contestant.

BOARD RENEWS LICENSES OF 4 R. C. A. STATIONS

[Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—By a vote of 2 to 2 the federal radio commission today granted license renewals to four subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America. Dissenting opinions were handed down by Chairman Charles Saltzman and Commissioner Eugene O. Sykes.

Today's action comes in the face of a decision of the District court of Delaware holding that contracts between the Radio Corporation of America and other companies in violation of anti-trust laws. The radio commission was called upon to decide whether 1,409 licenses held by subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation should be revoked when the court refused to review the commission's decision.

Majority Issues Statement.

"It is the opinion of a majority of the commission," a statement issued after the commission's meeting said, "that the judgment of the district court of Delaware in the case of Arthur D. Lord, receiver, against the Radio Corporation of America is not sufficient as is designed in section 31 of the radio act, and it is hereby decided that renewal licenses should not be denied the applicants by the commission June 15, 1931."

Section 31 of the radio act prohibits any firm "finally adjudged guilty" of creating a monopoly.

Buckley Took Bribe.

Commissioner Sykes in his dissenting opinion declared that Section 13 of the radio act was applicable and that the commission should therefore revoke the licenses. "Under this section," he said, "there is no discretion reposed in the commission." He contended that the radio monopoly has used unfair methods in violation of the law.

Testimony leading to show Jerry Buckley, slain Detroit announcer, had received $1,000 from gamblers was offered before the commission today. Buckley's station applied to show cause why WMBC's license should be renewed.

The high power issue in broadcasting, which has dangled before the federal radio commission for ten months, again has been sidestepped by the agency, which today deferred consideration of the question until Jan. 1. The commission, by a four to two vote, adopted a motion postponing the issue for another five months, and possibly longer.

An inquest into the deaths of Nicholas Berich and Miss Olga Tehan, both of 226 Canal street, Lemont, who were killed by a Chicago & Alton train, was continued yesterday until July 2 for further inquiry. It was believed at first that they had died in a suicide pact, but evidence supporting that theory was refused at the hearing.

YOUTH HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER IN AUTO DEATHS

James Wood, 17 year old Gary high school student, of 449 Bridge street, was held yesterday on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of the auto accident Tuesday night in which Thomas Fitzhugh, colored, and his wife were killed. Wood's three companions, Edward Tockstein, 18 years old, Elaine Maley, 16 years old, and Frances Eckles, 17 years old, also Gary high school students, were released on bonds of $500 each on charges of being accessories. Wood's bond was set at $2,500, but he was unable to furnish it.

Three deaths in Cook county raised the 1931 automobile toll to 525. The victims:

Frank Fantanetta, 3 years old, 1562 Orchard street. Died in the North Avenue hospital of injuries received Tuesday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Edward Faulkner, 27 years old, 1342 North Cicero avenue, in front of the boy's home.

Lucille Oram, 6 years old, 68 West Oak street. Fatally hurt while playing in an alley near her home when she was struck by a truck driven by Frank Tanzillo, 27 years old, 849 North Oakley avenue. Tanzillo was held.

Miss Ann Badner, 20 years old, 5642 South Halsted street. Died in the St. James hospital in Chicago Heights of injuries suffered in a collision Sunday afternoon at Torrence avenue and the Lincoln highway, in which Miss Jeanne Tyne, 35 years old, of the Wacker hotel, 109 West Huron street, was killed.

$4,500,000 ESTATE OF J. L. LAWLER GOES TO SISTERS

John J. Lawler, live stock commission man, who died June 20, left an estate in excess of $4,500,000, it was stated yesterday when his will was admitted to probate by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner.

The entire estate is left in the form of an elastic trust fund to his two sisters, Miss Mary Agnes Lawler, who lived with him at 4843 South Park way, and Mrs. Katherine F. L. Himrod, 219 Lake Shore drive.

According to Attorney James G. Porter, representing the estate, it consists of $265,000 in personal property and $4,235,000 worth of real estate. Mr. Lawler invested all of his surplus cash in farm lands, the attorney stated, and at the time of his death owned approximately 35,000 acres of land in Illinois and Indiana.

$5,800,000 Voted for Belgian Defense Scheme

BRUSSELS, June 24. — (AP) — The Liberal Catholic majority in the chamber of representatives today voted a $5,800,000 special credit to be spent this year on the Belgian fortifications scheme.

TWO VOLCANOES IN JAPAN ERUPT; FOLLOW QUAKES

TOKIO, June 24.—(AP)—The eruption of two more volcanoes in Japan was reported today by the Vernacular Press, making a total of four which have burst into activity within a week, two of them in conjunction with earthquakes.

Mount Iogatake, "Sulphur Mountain," in Gifu prefecture, and Mount Hachido on Kuchiyerabu island, south of Kiushiu island, were the volcanoes mentioned in today's reports.

Hachido was said to have burst out Monday morning to the accompaniment of earthquakes. Two eruptions came in quick succession. A village of 70 houses was said to have suffered heavily, falling ashes driving townspeople away. Crops on the island were reported ruined.

Iogatake is near Mount Yakegatake, which erupted violently yesterday just before an earthquake which shook Tokio and the coast line of several adjacent prefectures. Mount Asama, not far from Yakegatake, erupted Monday.

3 Bandits Sentenced for Robbing Taxicab Drivers

Three robbers who preyed on taxicab drivers were sentenced to Joliet prison by Judge Joseph B. David in Criminal court yesterday. Arthur Thaap, 27 years old, and Arthur Kloop, 31 years old, entered pleas of guilty of one charge of larceny and were sentenced to one to ten years each. Matthew Seiwert, 27 years old, chose to go to trial before the judge. He was convicted on three charges of robbery and sentenced to one to twenty years on each charge, the sentences to run consecutively.

Britons Fly to Warsaw and Back in 15½ Hours

CROYDON, England, June 24.—(AP)—The British flyers, Neville Stack and J. R. Chaplin, landed here tonight from Warsaw, having completed a round trip flight between England and the Polish capital in about 15½ hours. They left Hestun airdrome early this morning, reached Warsaw at a little after noon, and left there two hours later. They used a British mail plane, averaging 130 miles an hour.

Tries to Fix Radio Aerial; Falls 4 Floors and Lives

Stumbling while trying to repair a radio aerial, Carl Anderson, 35 years old, toppled early this morning from the roof of the four story building at 19 West Ohio street. He was taken to the Henrotin Memorial hospital by Chicago avenue police. His condition is critical.

LABOR OFFICIAL DEFENDS DOLE IN LECTURES SERIES

Unemployment insurance in England does not encourage idleness and the dole system is not sapping the morale of the British workers, according to E. J. Phelan, chief of the diplomatic division of the international labor office at Geneva, Switzerland.

In a lecture at the third session of the Norman Wait Harris Foundation at the University of Chicago, Mr. Phelan cited the latest figures of the British ministry of labor, showing that out of 12 million insured workers, 35 per cent of the men and 43 per cent of the women have drawn no benefit up to the end of 1930, although many of them have been insured for more than ten years.

In the period 1922 to 1930, the Phelan analysis sets forth, the record of unemployment benefits paid shows 30 per cent of the men and 40 per cent of the women drew benefits in only one year out of the seven. Fifty per cent of the men and 60 per cent of the women drew benefit at some time in not more than two years of the seven. Only 1 per cent of the men and 0.3 per cent of the women drew benefits in each of the seven years.

The analysis showed that less than 5 per cent of the men, about 120,000, had been continuously unemployed for a year or more. Mr. Phelan also submitted figures showing an increase in savings of persons of small means in England.

Hold Funeral Rites Today for Policeman Johnson

Motorcycle policemen from the park systems of the city and the county highway police will act as escort for the funeral services for Motorcycle Policeman Thomas J. Johnson, who was fatally injured in an accident on Sunday. Funeral services will be held from the home of his parents at 6500 South May street to St. Brendan's church at 9 o'clock this morning. Policeman Johnson is survived by his widow, Jean, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson.

Arrested Wife Calls Her Husband; He's Jailed, Too

Stanley Wisnieski, a city license inspector, yesterday arrested Mrs. Margaret Ruppert, 5342 Washington boulevard, on the charge that her automobile bore a stolen city vehicle tag. She telephoned her husband, Edward, to come and post bail for her at the Chicago avenue police station. He came. Wisnieski was still on the job. He arrested the husband, charging that Ruppert's car, too, bore a stolen tag.

20 PLANES GROUNDED BY U. S. PERMITTED TO RESUME FLIGHTS

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation, today announced that 20 of the 36 Fokker F-10 and F-10A type monoplanes suspended from passenger service over various air lines of the country on May 2 had been permitted to resume passenger service. Five other planes, he said, are being reconditioned and will soon be presented to the department of commerce for inspection and approval. Doubt was expressed whether the remaining 11 planes would eventually be reinstated.

The announcement said that all of the 20 planes had been reconditioned and that the ailerons had been statically balanced by counterweights. This latter phase constituted the "aerodynamical characteristics" quality mentioned by Col. Young at the conclusion of a four day conference with Anthony H. G. Fokker and associates following published reports of the "grounding" order.

It was also said that the reconditioning process had disclosed the need of certain replacements inside the wooden wing design of the majority of the reinstated planes.

Council Votes Resolution on Walter Strong Death

The city council yesterday passed a resolution of condolence on the death of Walter A. Strong, late publisher of the Daily News, who died suddenly on last May 10. The resolution, which praised the work of Mr. Strong, was drawn by a committee of aldermen named by Mayor Cermak. Those on the committee were John A. Massen [48th], Jacob M. Arvey [24th], and John J. Coughlin [1st]. The resolution declares that Mr. Strong "gave freely of his time and energy in the promotion of public movements beneficial to Chicago and its people."

Brakeman Killed When He Steps in Path of Train

Fred Anderson, 35 years old, 4840 Concord place, a fireman for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, was killed yesterday afternoon when he stepped from behind a signal tower in the path of a west bound Milwaukee suburban train at Spaulding avenue. The engineer, Richard Folger of Libertyville, notified Austin police.

MILWAUKEE BOY IS KILLED UNDER WHEELS OF TRAIN

Pipersville, Wis., June 24.—[Special.]—Sigman Stasziak, 18, 2341 South 15th street, Milwaukee, was killed here today when he attempted to get off a freight train on which he and two companions were stealing a ride.

According to one of Stasziak's companions, he lost his footing when he alighted and fell under the moving cars.

The body was taken to the Boyd undertaking parlors in Watertown, while officials notified relatives in Milwaukee of the death.

The three were westward bound and had alighted from the train to obtain something to eat.

HERO OF LIEGE DROPS DEAD IN BELGIAN THEATER

BRUSSELS, June 24.—(AP)—Gen. Bertrand, famous for the defense of Liege, and the Yser campaign in the world war, dropped dead in a theater here tonight.

He was a national hero of Belgium, credited with delaying the Germans ten days at Liege while Marshal Joffre re-formed the lines of the French army in defense of Paris.

He was 74 years old. In August, 1914, King Albert raised him to the rank of full general for meritorious conduct in the face of the enemy. He was a second lieutenant in the Belgian army at the age of 20 and became a major general in March, 1914.

"DEAD" IOWAN WHO RETURNED CALLED INSANE

Doctors Find a Dent in His Head.

Des Moines, Ia., June 24.—(AP)—Further efforts of authorities to solve the mystery of the disappearance of John M. Smith, Perry insecticide manufacturer, who was found bound and gagged near Gardner Monday night, appeared definitely blocked today by the opinion of medical experts that Smith is of unsound mind.

After four hours' fruitless questioning of Smith this morning, authorities called upon Dr. George Donohoe of Cherokee and Dr. Max E. White of Clarinda, heads of state hospitals for the insane in their respective cities, to examine Smith. They found he is suffering from a skull fracture which depressed his brain. The fracture resulted from an injury received while working for a railroad near Norfolk, Neb., in 1923.

Investigation of his war record showed that Smith had been discharged in 1918 as a sufferer from dementia praecox.

Smith was reunited today with his wife and 11 year old son, Leo, whom he had not seen since he disappeared after his burning truck and a charred body erroneously believed to be his were found near Denison Feb. 2.

James E. Risden, chief of the bureau of investigation, questioned Smith and his wife separately before bringing them together. Smith was unable to relate any details as to the burning of his auto, the identity of the body, or his whereabouts since, even after his wife had pleaded with him to tell his story.

Smith was taken to the Dallas county jail at Adel tonight and will be returned here tomorrow for further examination by Dr. Donohoe.

Risden said the technical charge of attempting to defraud insurance companies holding more than $50,000 policies on his life would not be pressed at this time.

BILL ASKS CLOSED BANK'S DIRECTORS FOR AN ACCOUNTING

A bill for an accounting against Edward C. Hart, director and president of the defunct Fidelity Trust and Savings bank, and ten other directors was filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Otto E. Widmaier, a stockholder. The bank closed on Dec. 21, 1929, transferring its assets to the Uptown State bank.

The bill, drawn by Attorney Francis X. Busch, alleges that failure of the directors to exercise ordinary diligence in making loans resulted in losses of more than $250,000. It asks that the directors pay the losses and that the bank's books be impounded for evidence.

Widmaier asserts that the directors were warned in 1927 that $382,000 worth of outstanding junior mortgages were unsound investments. In 1928, despite the warning of the state auditor, these loans increased to $658,519, according to the bill. The bill lists $126,100 in bonds which the bank holds on buildings which are alleged to be worthless.

WIFE FAINTS WHEN HUSBAND IS FOUND GUILTY

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Victor Rosso, portrait painter, listened stoically this morning to the verdict of guilty of conspiracy and filing false claims through the mails pronounced against him in federal court, but his wife, who was acquitted on the same charge, collapsed in his arms.

Mrs. Rosso, who was accused with her husband of attempts at fraud in filing insurance claims for $266,000 for paintings destroyed by fire, screamed: "You know my husband is innocent," when the verdict was given by the foreman of the jury.

BANK CHIEF WHO TOLD OF HOLDUP SLAYS HIMSELF

Lynch, Neb., June 24.—[Special.]—Dan Meisha, vice president of the Farmers' State bank, who Monday reported that he had been slugged by a robber who took $52,000 from the institution, was dead today, the victim, a coroner's jury found, of his own hand.

State and Boyd county authorities were investigating the strange case and were said to be working on the theory that the story of the holdup had been fabricated.

Meisha shot himself through the head with a .25 caliber bullet from a revolver taken from the cashier's drawer at the bank, the inquest revealed. Testimony brought out also that although the banker lived about eight hours following the shooting, he had nothing to say of his act or of the story of the robbery.

The story given out Monday was that Meisha was alone in the bank counting the money when he was slugged from behind. He was still unconscious, it was said, when the cashier reported for work. He was not dangerously injured, however, it was believed. The robber was reported seen by no one and could not be described by Mr. Meisha. Officials said the bank was in good condition.

At today's inquest only the cause of the banker's death was considered and the matter of the robbery story was ignored, according to County Attorney Brennan of Butte.

Volcott Condit, investigator for the Nebraska State Bankers' association, was here working on the case, and State Deputy Sheriff Dudschus was reported on the way from Lincoln to assist in the inquiry.

U. S. Arrests Brothers Indicted with Capone

Indicted with Al Capone and 68 others in a conspiracy against the prohibition laws, Henry J. Wirtz, 454 West 25th place, and his brother, Fred Wirtz, 7935 South Lincoln street, were arrested yesterday by United States deputy marshals under Deputy Joseph O'Neill. The two men operate a hardware store at 2913 Wentworth avenue. They were held under $3,000 bonds each. With their arrest a total of 22 of the 69 named in the conspiracy indictment have been taken into custody.

RUMOR CHINESE TROOPS MUTINY; LEADERS RESIGN

HONGKONG, June 24.—(AP)—Firing at Shekchang, on the outskirts of Canton, today aroused rumors that a regiment of the new Cantonese government's troops had mutinied and seized an arsenal. This was officially denied, but troops were dispatched to the scene.

Meanwhile there were indications of further trouble within the ranks of Canton officialdom. The resignations of several leaders were announced. Chi Feng-wu, 32, a student from the United States, who allegedly received military training there, was executed at Canton as a nationalist spy.

Foreign consular services received a report that Gen. Ho Ying-ching, second in command of the nationalist armies now mobilizing in Kiangsi province ostensibly to fight bandits, had succumbed to wounds inflicted by an assassin several days ago. Anti-Christian propaganda also was reported reappearing in Kwangsi, which, in cooperation with Kwangtung province, inaugurated the recent southern movement against the nationalist government. Chiang Kai-shek, nationalist president, about a year ago was converted to Christianity and joined the Methodist Episcopal church.

TWO WITNESSES IDENTIFY YOUTH AS BANK ROBBER

Two witnesses at the trial of George Nelson, 22 year old suspected bank robber, yesterday identified him as one of three bandits who held up the Hillside State bank last fall and escaped with $4,155. The witnesses were Joseph J. Marik, assistant cashier of the bank, and H. M. Yundt, bank clerk and son of one of the directors. The state rested its case yesterday.

Nelson, who is on trial before Judge John Prystalski in Criminal court, denies he took part in the robbery, although Harry N. Lewis, alias Powell, one of the bandits, testified against him and named Nelson as one of the accomplices in the robbery. Lewis is yet to be tried.

Why be satisfied with SECOND-CHOICE

WHEN

FIRST-CHOICE costs no more?

The department of business research of a great public institution asked 205,000 representative motorists this question:

"Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what tire do you consider the best tire made?"

Fact is, experienced tire-buyers aren't.

...X LOSE 17TH ...E LAST 20 AS ...KS WIN, 10-3

...th Enjoys Hitting ...th Home Run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

...e White Sox were guilty of an ...ecedentable venture yesterday afternoon. Not having much choice in the matter of a pitcher, Manager Bush delegated the important duty to Garland Braxton, but the mauling Yankees shoved him out of the picture without much loss of time and then proceeded leisurely to a 10 to 3 triumph. It was the Chicagoans' seventeenth jolt in their last twenty starts.

Another defect, as usual, was the poor showing displayed by the Sox in the field. Charley Ruffing, a large ...ader of no more than ordinary ...ements, faced them from ...e finish and, except in the ...h, he wasn't annoyed by more ...n occasional loss of control.

BRUINS SCORE SIX IN NINTH TO WIN 2D GAME

Hubbell Allows Only 2 Hits in Opener.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—You can wait to hear about that 2 to 0 pitching masterpiece the Giants took from the Cubs in the first game of today's double header. Right now you're going to be told how the Cubs rose up in the ninth and scored six runs to take the second game, 14 to 10, after suffering such as few athletes have endured in the baseball business.

GABBY HARTNETT.

To appreciate this suffering you must be apprised of the fact that in this glorious exhibition of clownish endeavor the Cubs made seven runs in the second inning to give Pat Malone an 8 to 2 lead, only to see it vanish in the Giants' fourth. In that inning Malone was yanked after passing Pitcher Chaplin and Allen, and was followed by Charley Root, who blew up when Rogers Hornsby went to sleep on an easy chance to retire the side. The net result was six runs for the Giants, the climax being a homer by Johnny Vergez with two on to set the score at Giants, 10, Cubs, 8, a tabulation which prevailed until the ninth.

After that fourth the contest became a respectable competition for four innings.

Hartnett Starts Parade.

Then all hell broke loose again in the ninth. Hartnett, who had relieved Hemsley in the fifth, got his second hit, a double to right center. And recalling Danny Taylor's theft of home on Heving last year, Gabby playfully, and perhaps foolishly, it seemed at the time, made up his mind to steal third on the same Heving. And Gabby did steal third. This caused much chagrin and Grimm pounced on the situation with his third hit, a single to right, which scored Hartnett.

Jurges bunted in front of the plate and Hogan not only threw late to second in an attempted force out, but he also threw wide. However, Grimm stopped at second and Jurges was on first, credited with his second sacrifice. Walker relieved Heving and D. Taylor ran for Grimm.

Blair batted for Teachout and bunted. Walker juggled the ball and the bases were full with none out. Walker walked Cuyler and forced in D. Taylor with the tying run.

Four Homers in Two Games.

There were four homers during the afternoon: one by Ethan Allen in the first game, Hornsby's No. 12 which was the first run of the second game, Vergez's and one by Mel Ott.

In the first game this afternoon Carl Hubbell and Bob Smith engaged in one of the sweetest pitching exhibitions of the year, Hubbell allowed one single in the first inning and one in the second. Those were all. Smith allowed only five hits, but they were good for two runs.

The first inning of the first game didn't give any special warning of the great distress that was to follow. Cuyler started the game with one-half the Cubs' total hits for the game, a single to right, and went to second on English's sacrifice. Hornsby experienced his first robbery at the

by Irving Vaughan

In the period around 1910 there was a pretty fair pitcher in the American league by the name of Russell Ford, property of the then New York Highlanders. The league also boasted a pretty fair country hitter in Larry Lajoie of the Cleveland club. One day they became involved in a real test of skill and the result was proof that when better right-handed hitters are made they'll have to be an improvement over the big Frenchman. Lajoie's ability wasn't confined to his batting.

Ford, it will be remembered by the old timers, became a sensation almost overnight. With his battery mate, Ed Sweeney, he had been brought up from the Southern league, where by accident they had discovered how roughing the cover of a ball would aid a pitcher. In a game down there a ball hit the concrete facing of the stand. At that time concrete in ball parks was a rarity and the custom of the period was to keep a ball in play as long as possible.

Ford continued to pitch with the rough ball and immediately noted its peculiar sail. He promptly provided himself with emery paper and used this trick long after he had come into the majors.

The game in which Ford discovered that Lajoie was a menace on shy pitched ball that he could reach with his bat was played at Cleveland. In the first inning he came up with a man on base. First was empty so Ford, despite his skill with the emery ball, decided not to flirt with trouble. He started to walk the batter, but he didn't finish the job. Swinging his bat in his right hand Lajoie reached out across the plate for a waste ball and lined it into right field for two bases.

Lajoie's next appearance was under similar conditions. Ford again started to walk him. With his bat in one hand Lajoie reached out for a wide pitch and another two bagger went whistling to right. The next time Lajoie came up an intentional pass again was the logical step. Ford tried to give it, but for the third time Lajoie took that one handed swipe and for the third time a two bagger boomed into right.

Having gone through that experience Ford and his battery mate decided drastic measures would have to be adopted if Lajoie came up for the fourth time with any body on base. He did and this time he actually walked. Ford eluded the menace by pitching four balls back of the batter.

SINISTER HINT OF HONESTY PERILS WRESTLING GAME

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—I hesitate to knock another man's business in times like the present, but I have been hearing sinister rumors that the impending wrestling bout between Jim Londos, the Greek who owns the championship of the Jack Curley herd, and Ray Steele, the number two boy of the same troupe, is to be strictly on the level.

Customers planning to attend the contest at the Yankee stadium next Monday evening, and customers who are planning to stay away, may wish to take these reports into consideration and alter their plans accordingly. There are some who would not wish to attend a level wrestling match, but always buy their tickets with a serene faith that they are going to sit by and observe a phoney, uplifted by a sense of their own sophistication and of their neighbors' gullibility.

To such I would issue a warning to be absent next Monday, as the reports that this contest will not be in the burlap are too insistent to be scoffed away. To the others who may intend to be elsewhere that evening suspecting that Londos and Steele will be merely indulging in one of those traditional mockeries, the current reports will have a different meaning, though verification is impossible, of course.

It's an Intra-Mural Bout.

This wrestling bout is advertised as a world championship contest and though it is strictly intra-mural, both boys being members of the same herd, the championship involved will cover more territory than any of the other heavyweight wrestling championships of the world now in circulation. There were three of them last winter, but the other two have been badly managed during the last two months and Londos, up to the present writing, has the most authentic look of all.

Mr. Ed Strangler Lewis, the champion of the Sandow herd, missed his dinner one evening not long ago and went into the ring up in Canada so hungry that he presently found himself sitting heavy on his horizontal opponent's keel, gnawing his opponent's leg. The opponent was a Frenchman by the name of Mange or De Mange, I believe, and it seems that Mr. Lewis figured that because his opponent was French, the name was an invitation to go ahead and eat. It even may be that that wasn't the Frenchman's name.

Outside the Curley herd, the championships have been changing hands so often that it is hard to keep up, and if his name wasn't Mange or De Mange, it can hardly matter because he probably has lost his championship by now, anyway.

We'll Just Call Him McManus.

Anyway, this Frenchman—let us call him Edward J. McManus and quit

Fistic Fireworks Return as July 4 Entertainment

BY ARCH WARD.

It is encouraging to observe that the prize fight promoters are doing their best to help Uncle Sam celebrate the Fourth of July in a big way. For the last few years the holiday period has passed without a single championship match. But this is all changed. The boys again are teeming with patriotism and the militant left hook will boom a stirring pæan over the nation's turnstiles.

JIM JEFFRIES.

The Madison Square Garden corporation will present at Cleveland on the night before the Fourth its 1931 extravaganza, with Max Schmeling and Willie Stribling in the lead roles. Jack Dempsey has arranged entertainment for the western half of the country the next day with a bout at Reno involving a pair of barrel chested giants named Paulino Uscudun and Max Baer.

Promoters used to reserve July 4 as the date for their most magnificent efforts. Two of the greatest fighters the ring ever knew leaped into blazing prominence on Independence day. It was on July 4, 1919, that Dempsey poked his nose through the ropes at Toledo to flatten Jess Willard seven times in one round. From Toledo Dempsey came on to be rated as the most devastating puncher the sport has known. You wouldn't have to travel far to find somebody willing to wager that today—nearly 12 years after he won the title—he could knock the stuffings out of the boys who will battle for the crown a week from tomorrow night.

It was on the Fourth of July, 1910, that Jim Jeffries, who had returned to the ring to make the game safe for the Nordics, was knocked out by Jack Johnson in the fifteenth round at Reno. It was the first bout Jeffries had fought in seven years.

Promoters in recent years have shunned the date for big bouts they used to favor. They learned that people prefer to spend the holiday playing golf, motoring, yachting, or in some other active recreation.

Walter St. Denis, publicity director for the Schmeling-Stribling bout, states the promoters will lose $200,000 by holding the fight the night before the Fourth.

"The match easily would have drawn $200,000 more if it had been scheduled for July 3 instead of July 3," St. Denis said yesterday, while on a business trip to Chicago. "Too many leave the city the night before the Fourth."

The fight will draw about $500,000, the publicity chief predicts. The cash sales amount to $175,000, he stated, and there are reservations covering about that much more.

Two special trains, one operated by Sheldon Clark and the other by Sammy Wolff, will transport the Chicago delegation to Cleveland.

NEW RACE RECORD.

Arlington Park Jockey club on Monday will open the richest race meet in turf history. The leading stables of thoroughbreds east and west will strive for purses which total more than $700,000.

Thus Chicago, which already holds records for baseball, football, and boxing, becomes the racing capital of the nation. This is something to talk about, in view of the fact that Illinois has had legalized racing only since 1926.

Arlington's place in the foreground of American racing plants was made possible by the civic spirit of a group of Chicago's leading citizens. They subscribed $2,000,000 in varying amounts with the understanding they were not to receive any interest on their investment. Their purpose was to give Chicago racing for sport's sake.

Fans who patronize the thirty day meeting opening next week can judge for themselves what success Arlington's supporters have had.

GOLF WITHOUT JONES.

The commercial side of golf will get a test next week in the national open at Toledo. Last year the meet at Minneapolis drew a gate of $44,000. The presence of Bobby Jones, who had just returned with the British open and amateur titles, was thought to be the reason for the record crowds.

The national amateur at Philadelphia, where Jones won his fourth major title of the year, attracted $55,000. The 1931 meet will be played at Beverly Country club, Chicago.

DUNLAP, COLLEGE GOLF CHAMPION, WINS 2 MATCHES

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Four golfers from the central states, three from the east and one from the south battled their way into the quarter finals of the thirty-fifth national intercollegiate tournament in the two preliminary rounds played over the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields yesterday.

The eight who survived for today's 36 hole round are George T. Dunlap Jr. of Princeton, defending champion; Tommy Aycock and Sidney W. Noyes Jr. of Yale, Jesse Rainwater Jr. of Tulane, Jim Reston of Illinois, Bob Kepler and Johnny Florio of Ohio State, and Bill Redmond of Notre Dame.

Extra Holes Necessary.

Yesterday's play produced some of the most spirited competition of the season in these parts. Two of the matches went to the 21st green, another to the 19th, and two others went the full distance of 18 holes.

Dunlap apparently is bent on keeping the title he won at Oakmont last year, for he experienced little difficulty in winning two matches yesterday. In the morning against O'Hara Watts of Southern Methodist university he was even at the 11th, but captured four successive holes to win, 4 and 3. He seemed to be hopelessly stymied on the 14th, but his eight foot putt curled a bit and trickled into the cup.

Noyes Beats Moller.

In the afternoon, George defeated Samuel Parks Jr. of Pittsburgh, 6 and 5, dropping in four birdies. Two great putts brought him under par on the 6th and 7th and a fine second shot with a spoon landed him on the 9th green for another birdie. He made his fourth on the 125 yard 13th, his drive carrying to the green.

Noyes, the Yale sophomore who tied for second place among the qualifiers, defeated Lawrence Moller of Notre Dame, last year's runnerup, 3 and 2, in the morning, but it took plenty of golf for him to win from Milton Klein of Chicago on the 21st hole in the second round. He came from behind to square the match at the 18th and had an opportunity to win on the 19th, but missed an eighteen inch putt.

Boys Play Rough.

He drove well on the 21st, but his second shot was poor, and he took another to get on the green where he two putted for a five. Klein drove into the rough, when he boosted it into a creek, taking a penalty of one stroke. He finally finished with a six.

Kepler and Richard Martin of Illinois put on the other 21 hole battle after the former had defeated Robert H. Crowe of Illinois, 2 and 1. Martin won his first match from Gail Stockton of Southern California, 2 and 1. Martin was two down at the 12th in his match with Kepler, but squared

In the WAKE of the NEWS

"OVER THE JUMPS."

THE WAKE is informed that upward of $30,000 will be paid in stakes and purses to owners of steeplechasers during the Arlington Park meeting, beginning next Monday. In the days of Way Back When that would have been a big laugh. We figured then that the "leapers," their owners, trainers, and jockeys, got theirs in the betting ring.

Whether rightly judged or not, it was popular in the early years of the century to think that steeplechases and hurdle races were run the night before in some secluded nook of a thirst emporium. Many otherwise heavy betters would not risk a dollar on the jumpers. The theory was there were not enough races for jockeys to make a living honestly just by riding. In a measure the same arguments applied to trainers and owners.

Now we find timber toppers owned by the same type of wealthy men who monopolize the star flat performers because they can afford to indulge their hobby. When we chortled a bit as an Arlington Park director told us of this $30,000 purse and stake offering he at once took issue with us. "It may surprise you," he said, "but it is true that jumpers run truer to form than any other division of thoroughbreds." To us it was an important assertion. We have no figures on the subject, but have no reason to doubt his assertion.

Jumping races are spectacular and popular with crowds. We are glad to accept the assurance the nags run true to form, even if the one on which we place a modest wager does usually "run out" or come a cropper.

SCHMELING GETS CHIN IN SHAPE FOR STRIB'S FIST

Conneaut Lake Park, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Whatever else may happen to Max Schmeling when he defends his world's heavyweight title against W. L. Stribling July 3, a punch on the chin will be nothing new to him.

Max has become so accustomed to being rapped on the beard that he is disappointed if he fails to get at least a dozen good ones in each workout. Today, for instance, 500 sun baked customers saw Natie Brown of Chicago, a stablemate of Tuffy Griffith, battle the champion with lefts and rights for two rounds. The punches were straight, solid, and direct to the target, but they had no effect on the champion. Schmeling worked ten rounds today.

DENSMORE SHUTE WINS PLACE ON RYDER CUP TEAM

Columbus, O., June 24.—[Special.]—Densmore Shute, professional at the Lake Forest Country club, Hudson, O., today won a regular place on the American Ryder cup team by defeating Frank Walsh, Morton Grove, Ill., and Henry Ciuci, Stratford, Conn., in an 18 hole playoff.

Six Pittsburgh Athletes Suspended for One Term

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 24.—University of Pittsburgh football prospects for the coming season were somewhat dimmed today with an announcement that six athletes, among them three football players, had been suspended for one semester because of scholastic difficulties. Those suspended include: Ralph Daugherty, regular center for two seasons; Frank Walton, sophomore tackle who suffered a broken shoulder in last year's West Virginia game and did not play thereafter; and Charles Miller, sophomore tackle of Louisville, O.

JUNE BEEBE IS EASY WINNER AT MIDLOTHIAN

Looks Par to Conquer Miss Morse.

Miss June Beebe of Olympia Fields, playing the most brilliant golf of the day, moved an easy 4 to 5 victory over Miss Josephine Morse of the home club as play was resumed yesterday in the Women's Western open golf championship at Midlothian Country club.

There had been a day's intermission because of the flooded condition of the course. Miss Beebe, who was runner-up in last year's tournament, was 1 up on the out nine, one over par, and was 7 up at the fifteenth green and sank her putt for a birdie. Miss Beebe's card:

Out nine, out.....534 555 545—41
In nine, out.....545 457 526—42
Out.....543
In nine, in.....553

Miss Gustafson Wins.

Miss Dorothy Gustafson, South Bend city champion, won, 2 up, over Miss Pearl Indig of Mohawk. Mrs. Indig won by a series of slices which were a joy for her opponent on the following holes.

Miss Margo Rosselin, hard hitting Woodstock public links player, won the first flight match of the day's play from Mrs. E. T. Nicholas of Olympia Fields, 1 up, in 21 holes. Mrs. Nicholas was 2 up at the 14th hole, but dropped the 15th, 16th, and 17th to go 1 down. She rallied and took the 18th with a 4 to square the match.

Starting again, they halved the 19th in 6's and the 20th in 4's, but Miss Rosselin chipped within 6 inches of the cup for a par 4 on the 21st.

Miss Shirley Jones, Lincolnshire, after showing consistent golf, defeated Mrs. Rose Marshall of Marquette 5 and 4.

The runner to Chicago golf ranks, Miss Ann Shelil, formerly of Lockport, Ill., now playing for the Detroit club, won her first round match. Miss Shelil is Detroit champion and has been a member of her club seven years. She defeated Miss Betty Burnham of Glen O'Shanter, 6 and 5.

Seven Ridge Entry Triumphs.

Miss Anne Weller, Vernon Ridge, after showings of her opponent's exceptional golf and carded a 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. Tillie Langer, Lincoln Park.

Mrs. O. F. Burnett, Medinah, eliminated Mrs. Arthur Evers, Klinger Lake, 2 and 1. The winner has been playing under Abe Espinosa and will meet her game in several years. The eight losers of these first matches will meet today in the championship consolation flight.

Rosselin, Bellaire, defeated Jones, Lincolnshire, 1 up.

MANUFACTURERS GOLF MEET WON BY JERRY DEBS

One hundred and fifty members and guests of the Central Manufacturing District club braved the terrific heat yesterday to participate in the annual golf tournament at the Ridge Country club.

Jerry Debs, whose home club is Idlewild, won the low gross prize for the day with an 82 for the 18 holes. He played the first nine in 38, three over par, but faltered on the final nine, shooting a 44.

J. H. Petree, champion for the last two years, found the heat not at all to his liking, and finished with an 86. His 9 handicap gave him a low net of 77, which won first low net prize in class A.

Shotgun blasts and the music of several orchestras, which paraded the fairways during the afternoon, affected the scores of some of the more timorous golfers. State Representative Michael Igoe contended that the disturbance had considerable to do with the 16 he took on the long 11th hole. His misadventures of the 11th, however, gave him the prize for the highest score on any hole.

Prize winners for the tournament were:

MEMBERS.

Class A—low gross, J. H. Debs, 82; low net, J. H. Petree, 86—9—77. Class B—low gross, J. Tellefson, 89; low net, J. G. Malevan, 84—17—70. Class C—low gross, C. MacHarg, 87; low net, R. F. Schuster, 89—24—70. Class D—low gross, B. J. Coyle, 93; low net, George Chrisemer, 94—25—70.

GUESTS.

Cubs Beaten by Hubbell, 2-0; Then Whip Giants, 14 to 10

In the fourth Wilson reached first on a low throw. He was the fourth Cub to reach first—and the last. It was three up and three down the rest of the way.

The first and winning run, Allen's homer, started the fourth. It was only a fair swat that would have been a putout in any other park in the league.

Hubbell scored the second and unneeded run in the sixth. He amazed the populace by doubling to left. Allen followed with a single to right for the fifth and last hit off Smith. Hubbell stopping at third. Smith threw out Marshall, but Hubbell scored on Lindstrom's fly to Wilson.

The second game was a contrast with the first from the very outset. The fireworks started with two out in the first inning when Rogers Hornsby knocked his No. 12 homer.

In their half of the first inning the Giants pounced on Malone with great vigor, Allen, Marshall and Lindstrom making singles in rapid succession. These, with a fly by Terry, produced two runs.

Cubs Score Seven in Second.

The Cubs came back in the second inning in a murderous mood and scored seven runs. Wilson led off with a single to right and stopped at second on Hemsley's single past Terry. Grimm followed with a single to center which scored Hack and put Hemsley on third. Jurges sacrificed, Grimm taking second and Hemsley holding third. Malone flied to Ott. Hemsley scoring after the catch and Grimm taking third. Cuyler walked, and when English singled to right, Grimm scored and Cuyler went to third. At this point Morrell relieved Fitzsimmons.

Hornsby singled off Vergez's glove, scoring Cuyler, English stopping at second. Then Stephenson singled to right, scoring English, Hornsby stopping at second. Wilson, up the second time in the inning, walked, filling the bases. Hemsley also walked, forcing in Hornsby. Chaplin relieved Morrell and walked Grimm, forcing in Stephenson with the seventh run of the inning. Chaplin threw out Jurges.

The Giants didn't seem properly discouraged in their end of the second. Vergez opened with a single and stopped at second when Hogan also singled. Chaplin fanned. Allen got his second single which scored Vergez.

The score became 8 to 3 in the third inning when Ott led off with a homer into the right field stands.

The Giants' fourth was a horrible experience for all Chicago observers. Malone started off by issuing passes to Chaplin and Allen. Root then came on the scene and fanned Marshall, but Lindstrom beat out a high bounder to English and the bases were full. Terry filed to Wilson and Chaplin scored after the catch.

Wilson properly made the throw in to second base. Hornsby was taken by surprise and barely managed to ward off the ball with his glove. He got an error for his act of self-preservation, while Lindstrom pulled up safely at second. Root then walked Ott, filling the bases. Then Jackson doubled, scoring Allen and Lindstrom and putting Ott on third. Vergez followed with a homer into the left field stand, scoring Ott and Jackson ahead of him. Hogan walked, but Chaplin, up the second time, obliged by striking out. The score at this point was: Giants, 10; Cubs, 8, and that's the way it remained until the Cubs' uprising in the ninth.

PREPS FAVOR PURPLE, ILLINI AS ALMA MATER

Northwestern and Illinois will not lack material for future athletic teams, a survey of outstanding Chicago public high school league athletes who will graduate today and tomorrow revealed last night.

Northwestern, 1930 football and basketball champion, and Illinois, 1931 baseball title holder, were selected by most of the stars as their future alma maters. The University of Chicago, Notre Dame, Wisconsin and Alabama also attracted some.

Among those choosing Northwestern is Robert Rieff, 19 year old brother of Joe Rieff, who helped bring Northwestern its first Big Ten basketball championship. Robert in addition to his athletic activities, was president of his class, and won a one year scholarship.

He was a guard on Crane's heavyweight championship basketball team. Crane will lose three others members of its championship squad, Willie Phillips, Sidney Newman and David Rick.

Purple Gets Gridders.

Milton Rosenfeld, captain of the Austin lightweight basketball team, and Walter Czelusta of Lane Tech will be other Northwestern basketball prospects. Both were prep stars in baseball. Czelusta, who piloted last year's heavyweight team, is the first baseman on the team which plays for the league title Saturday.

Some of the best football players in the league's history will be among Purple gridiron candidates. Chief among them are Leon Witkowski, tackle on Lindblom's 1930 championship team, who also has won a scholarship, and Jack Quigley, varsity football and baseball man at Hyde Park.

Freddie Bergmann, quarter back on Lane Tech's north section title squad, will matriculate at Northwestern. Other stellar players are Edwin Graf and Harry Moore of Schurz. Moore was captain of the Schurz track team for two years.

Illinois was the choice of practically all of the outstanding baseball players. In this group, is Joe Soucek, captain and one of the leading hitters of Tilden Tech's team.

Wiseberg Goes West.

Fred Kasch, Austin shortstop, and Wilfrid Tourville and Frank Chorvot, Lindblom outfielders, also will enroll at Illinois. Others who chose Illinois are Kenneth Probst and Don O'Brien of Hyde Park and Andrew Jordan, Englewood.

Two leading players at Englewood, James Day, 20 year old Negro, and Carl Dacons, seek further laurels at Iowa. Day won major letters in three sports, football, baseball and track, while Dacons was a tackle on the Englewood eleven.

Jules Wiseberg, captain of the lightweight basketball team which reached the league championship finals, is the only athlete to go to the Pacific coast, choosing Southern California. Another tackle on the Englewood team, Willard Goldman, will enroll at Wisconsin.

Notre Dame Gets Two.

The University of Alabama has been selected by three, Frank Mitrick of Calumet, Bernie Gottstein of Hyde Park, and Sidney Newman of Crane Tech. Mitrick and Gottstein play both football and baseball, while Newman was captain and forward on Crane's basketball team.

Matthew Muscynski, Crane full back, and George Moore of Austin, 50 yard dash champion, will enter Notre Dame. Muscynski also was a prominent wrestler, having been co-captain of the championship Crane squad.

MILLS TO PLAY ALL-STARS.

The Mills club of the Chicago Semi-pro Baseball league will play a double header with the Colored All-Stars next Sunday at Mills stadium.

Lee Rallies to Defeat Lott in Wimbledon Play

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, June 24. — George Lott, Chicago tennis star, lost his place today among the select 16 in the men's singles championships at Wimbledon to H. G. N. Lee, a former British Davis cup player. Sluggishness and failure to hold advantages in three straight sets, which were delivered to him guaranteed, beat Lott. The scores were 7-5, 7-5 and 7-5.

There are now only three Americans going into the fourth round, one more than France, but four short of Great Britain.

The three Americans are Syd Wood, who defeated E. E. Maier of Spain by 6-3, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-2; Frank Shields, who beat E. Nourney of Germany by 6-1, 6-1 and 6-2, and John Van Ryn, who defeated F. W. Matejka of Australia by 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

Jean Borotra and Christian, French Davis cup players, are left in the play, and among the seven Britons are Bunny Austin, Fred Perry, Nigel Sharpe, Cochet's conquerer; G. P. Hughes, Davis cup player, and I. G. Collins.

One of the greatest upsets of the day was the defeat Miss Round administered to Señorita de Alvarez. The señorita discarded her trousers and her famous forehand at the same time. Miss Round won by 6-3 and 6-3.

LINDBLOM BEATS TILDEN, 13-2, FOR SECTIONAL TITLE

Lindblom of the Central section entered the finals for the Chicago Public High School Baseball league championship yesterday by defeating Tilden in the playoff for the south and central sectional title at Greenwood field, 13 to 2. The victors will meet Lane Tech for the league crown at Wrigley field Saturday.

Tilden held a 2 to 0 lead until the sixth inning when Lindblom scored seven runs. With Frank Chorvat and Al De Renne leading the attack, Lindblom scored three runs in the eighth and three more in the last inning. Frank Narbut held the losers to eight hits. Score:

MAY COMPLETE EXAMINATION OF ANDERSON TODAY

Rochester, Minn., June 24.—(AP)—Heartly [Hunk] Anderson, Notre Dame football coach, who came here for examination to determine the cause of headaches from which he has suffered since last May, was confined to the Mayo hospital tonight.

Dr. C. J. Barborka said Anderson was sent to the hospital so that a better check might be kept on his condition during the examination, which probably will be completed in 36 hours.

SINISTER HINT OF HONESTY PERILS WRESTLING GAME

this wabbling around—let out a yell to the referee and the referee let out a yell for doctors and Lewis let out a yell for the Worcestershire sauce, and the decision was given to Edward J. McManus along with such portion of the heavyweight championship of the world as Lewis happened to possess at that time.

Then somebody, Lewis again, I believe, put on the squirm with Ed Don George of the University of Michigan, who claimed the third of those world championships and ironed him flat. Fancy the confusion that caused.

However, the Strangler is very old now and all billowy and jiggly with folds of fat meat and I don't think people would want him for champion even if he were champion. He has become the William J. Bryan of the wrestling business, always bobbing up and causing a lot of unrest at moments when the boys seem to be getting things organized. Somebody ought to call him the grand old man of wrestling. Make him chairman of a boxing commission somewhere, and quiet him down.

I don't know what has happened to Mange or De Mange—but we were going to stick to Edward J. McManus, weren't we? But people don't seem to care much, and I certainly am not going to start a national movement to make people care what has happened to Edward J. McManus.

The last time Londos and Steele kept a date this Steele tied the Greek into a number of those apparently insoluble knots which parlor magicians tie in lengths of grocery string and then with a simple yank unravel before your very eyes, as though you cared what they did with their damn string. And the Greek also unraveled himself, but there was something about the way the boys did business that time which aroused the suspicions herein before referred to. Steele seemed to be trying to sneak one over, and people went away muttering that as it's the market and the unemployment and all such as that weren't enough to put up with, here was wrestling turning square.

The New York fund to buy milk for the children of the poor will get the profits from the bout, and in view of the kiddies' interest, it is still the hope of the promoters to persuade Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. to come on from Reno and shoot three hypothetical enemies with imaginary bullets from his figurative pistol just before the main event.

TICKERS CLICK OUT NEWS OF RISING PRICES

Chicago Stocks Advance as Buying Improves.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Tickers merrily clicked out the news of advancing prices yesterday to a La Salle street audience which was anxious to believe that the long down trend has ended. Recovering from its temporary setback of Tuesday, the Chicago market forged ahead again under the stimulus of increased buying demand inspired by the more optimistic sentiment to be found everywhere in the financial community.

Trading picked up and stocks previously neglected in the advance pushed ahead to claim their share of the benefits resulting from the improved outlook. Active shares added to their recent gains and final quotations in the main represented about the best prices of the day.

Eye Investment Demand.

Commission houses reported an increase in the investment demand, but it was the change in the attitude of the professionals that accounted for most of the improvement. It is felt in the street that if the market is able to hold its own in the next few weeks it will unloosen an investment demand, which was waiting for a change in the trend.

Utility shares were buoyant throughout the day. Commonwealth Edison climbed to 103 following the prompt oversubscription of its $55,000,000 bond issue which was offered on the previous day. Estimates of the savings to be effected by the company under the new capital setup ranged as high as $175,000 a year. Insull Utility and Middle West also turned in moderate gains. Among the miscellaneous shares gains of 1 to 3 points were chalked up for Walgreen, Kalamazoo Stove, and Ross Gear.

North American Car Income.

Earnings of the North American Car company for the quarter ending June 30 will approximate those of the previous quarter, when the firm showed net profit of $124,722, or 51 cents a share on the common stock, E. R. Brigham, president, said yesterday.

The company's tank car equipment is being fully employed, Mr. Brigham said, and it has been necessary to secure outside cars to fill demands. The directors of the company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend on the preferred stock. The common dividend was passed three months ago.

ENDS LISTING AGREEMENT

The possibility of another open conflict between the Chicago exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade loomed yesterday as the latter body announced that the agreement which the two organizations had entered into in 1929 on the question of listing had been terminated. Under that agreement the two exchanges promised not to solicit securities listed by the other. Termination of the treaty follows several conferences between committees representing the tw oorganizations.

The action was not unexpected, as it was known that the Board of Trade felt that the agreement hampered the expansion of its securities department. Exchange officials refused to comment last night on the matter.

The exchange governing committee at their meeting yesterday approved the listing of $3,142,200 first mortgage bonds of the Grigsby-Grunow company. The bonds were issued last spring when the Grigsby company acquired the Majestic Household Utilities corporation, its refrigerator affiliate.

PENN RY. CUTS OFFICERS' PAY; DIVIDEND TO $3

Westinghouse Votes Regular Payment.

BY O. A. MATHER.

...similar reduction of the sharp de... in railroad earnings in the last ... or so cause yesterday when the ...ectors of the Pennsylvania railroad ...ced the annual dividend rate from ...0 to $3 a year. They declared a ...uarterly payment of 75 cents, com... with $1 previously paid. At ...e same time, the directors approved ...e reduction of 10 per cent in salaries ...d executives and officers.

...resident W. W. Atterbury said ...e reduced current earnings would ...t for an even greater reduction in ...e dividend, but the directors were ...pressed that the recent measures of ...ational cooperation initiated by ...resident Hoover were of such funda... importance as to justify a divi... adjustment partly out of sur... However, the action reflected ...e confidence of the directors in ...e improvement.

...Atterbury also said that the ac... capital expenditure program of ...e road and terminal improve... ...ts between New York and ...ago will be continued. Funds ...r this work have already been ...ovided.

Does Pay Regular Dividends.

...On the other hand, the Delaware & ...dson directors declared the regular ...arterly payment of $2.25 a share. ...e Northern Pacific announced its ...ual quarterly dividend of $1.25 a ...are, and the Baltimore & Ohio de... ...ed its regular quarterly payment ...f $1 a share. The latter road, ...owever, reduced its annual rate from ...$4 to $3 earlier this year.

...Among the adverse action of the ...ailroads the Erie railroad also was the ...ly one of the directors of the West... ...ghouse Electric and Manufacturing ...ompany declared the regular quar... ...ividend of $1 a share on the ...ommon stock. A reduction in the ...ividend had been freely predicted, ...lthough the annual rate was low... ...ed to $4 from $5 three months ago.

...Although the Westinghouse direc... ...ors said that second quarter earn... ...gs were not sufficient to cover divi... ...end requirements, their action in ...aintaining the present dividend rate ...as governed by the strong cash po... ...ition of the company and the sub... ...tantial surplus accumulated in for... ...er years and not distributed to stock... ...olders.

Show Small Profit.

..."Although the earnings for April ...d May were not sufficient to cover ...ividend requirements," Chairman A. ...Atterbury said, "yet they were ...ery much improved as to show a small ...rofit compared with the loss of the ...orresponding months. Continuing ...he policy announced some months ...ago the management has distributed ...ork among as many men as possible. ...This has increased the expenses of ...operation somewhat but it was con... ...idered advisable procedure at the ...present time.

..."On the other hand, the manage... ...ment realizes that countless small in... ...vestors who have purchased stock of ...the company are in many cases de... ...pending on dividends for their livelih... ...ood. The company believes in sup... ...porting general business by maintain... ...ing employment and development ...work and continuing dividends at a ...rate as far as possible."

Third Major Eastern Cut.

...The Pennsylvania railroad is the ...third major railroad company in the ...East to reduce its dividend this year. ...The Baltimore and Ohio cut its rate ...from $6 a year and the New ...York Central reduced its annual rate ...from $7 to $6. Other railroads also ...have cut their dividends, including ...the Illinois Central, Great Northern ...and Chicago & Northwestern in the ...past.

...Railroad cuts have been few in the ...recent history of the Pennsylvania ...road, while the company has an ...unbroken record of cash payments to ...its stockholders since 1847. In the ...last thirty-one years reductions have ...been made twice before today. In ...1894 the company cut from $3.50 a ...share to $3 annually, while in 1921 ...a cut was made from $3 a share to ...$2. The $4 rate was paid through... ...out the end for the first quarter of ...this year.

Stockholders to Vote on Central-Republic Merger

Special stockholders' meetings of the Central Trust Company of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic have been called for July 25 to ratify the consolidation of the two institutions which has been voted by the directors. Physical consolidation will take place as soon as the legal formalities have been completed, it was announced. The new bank will be known as the Central Republic Bank and Trust company and will have total resources of $350,000,000, ranking as the third largest banking institution in Chicago.

Directors of the Mercantile Trust and Savings bank have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. H. H. Grut, president, announced yesterday. Earnings for the period covered dividend requirements with a comfortable margin, he added.

Total Cigar Output Gains; Expensive Ones Decline

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Cigar production in May declined 56,475,502; or 2.2 per cent, from 1930, amounting to 2,539,501,498 in the month, against 2,595,976,000. With the exception of the 8 cent cigar division, every class showed a decline. The nickel cigar moved against the trend, production during the month amounting to 307,026,260 cigars, against 307,026,260, a decrease of 7,487,348 cigars, or 2.4 per cent.

Having Good Time Becomes a Major American Industry

BY SCRUTATOR.

The business of having a good time out of doors has become a major American industry, and one which is expanding rapidly.

Larger numbers of employés granted paid vacations, improved roads, more motor cars, and the fact that the nation has been learning how to play in its spare time have all contributed to bring this about.

Take the case of Minnesota. Back in 1917 only 17,000 tourists visited the state, spending about $937,000. In 1929 there were 200,000 and they spent $10,000,000. In the last four years tourists have numbered about a million and a half each year and they have spent between $76,000,000 and $90,000,000 per year. From 1926 to 1930 the number of resorts in Minnesota increased from 600 to 1,275.

Duane H. Kipp of the Wisconsin conservation commission, asked what the tourist business means to his state, replies that in 1929, when the last estimate was made, the value of the tourist industry was $134,659,470, compared with $111,956,000 in 1927. The appropriation for conservation activities in Wisconsin amounts to $613,000 this year.

Michigan's department of conservation is about to take an economic census of the tourist and resort business. W. C. Cribbs, extension agent of Michigan state college, estimates that this business is worth $200,000,000 annually, which would exceed the combined return from Michigan's four great agricultural industries—fruit crop, $20,000,000; potato crop, $25,000,000; dairy industry, $80,000,000, and poultry industry, $60,000,000.

One index of the growth of Michigan's recreational activities is the number of persons who visit state parks. In 1922 annual attendance was 220,000; in 1930, 8,900,000. The yearly increase has averaged 15 to 20 per cent. Last year's attendance was 19 per cent greater than 1929.

W. C. Henderson, associate chief of the United States bureau of biological survey, figures that money spent by hunters and fishermen alone in the state of Maine totals around $80,000,000 per year.

Half Billion for Conservation.

Last January a special committee on conservation of wild life resources, appointed by the senate, reported that investments made by federal and state governments alone for the purpose of preserving or increasing wild life had totaled more than half a billion dollars.

The committee found that in 1929 the public had spent $21,970,367 for sporting firearms, $43,779,020 for ammunition; and $25,000,000 for fishing tackle. It is estimated that sportsmen spent during the year an average of $50 apiece for equipment, including firearms, ammunition, fishing tackle, clothing, tents, boats, etc.

Delving into the records the committee discovered that 13,000,000 hunting and fishing licenses had been issued during the year. Multiplying $50 by 13,000,000 they determined that $650,000,000 was approximately the amount invested each year by sportsmen in hunting and fishing alone.

Part of Industry.

But this is only part of the out of door industry. Most people vacation without guns and fishhooks. Last year 2,774,561 persons visited national park areas, compared with 2,680,597 in 1929. Between forty and forty-five million visited state parks.

No attempt has ever been made to discover the amount of money spent by vacationists who merely climb in the family car and go seeking that intangible something that lies just beyond the next turn in the road.

In this connection it is interesting to note that in 1930, a year of business depression, more gasoline was burned in the United States than in any previous year. The increase was 5.3 per cent over 1929.

Ten Years Ago in Finance

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad announce that salaries of all officials of the company will be reduced on July 1, when the general reduction in employes' wages becomes effective.

With the opening of the lake passenger season a cut of 20 per cent in passenger fares for the summer is announced by lake passenger steamship lines. B. J. Conley, general traffic manager of the Michigan Transit company, said the reduction was a good business move.

Armour & Co. in its weekly trade review said that warm weather has caused the fresh meat business to lag, and some beef cuts are wholesaling at the lowest mark in ten years.

The government's report on foreign trade for May presents a picture of changed conditions in business. Out of the $415,523,000 decrease in total exports, as compared with May, 1920, $206,600,000 occurred in trade with Europe and $95,600,000 in trade with North American markets, principally Cuba and Canada. There was a surplus of nearly $2,000,000 in imports from France over exports to that country.

Week-end reviews of trade and industry continue to reflect dullness. Dun's list of wholesale quotations shows a considerable margin of declines, thus continuing the excess of recessions that has occurred every week for more than fourteen months.

Quaker Oats shares dropped 17 points to 73 on the Chicago exchange after the company announced passage of the common stock dividend.

N. W. HARRIS CO. TO ENTER BOND FIELD IN EAST

Formal announcement that the Harris Trust and Savings bank will enter the eastern field through its investment affiliate, the N. W. Harris company, was made yesterday by Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board of the bank.

The old accounts of the Harris Trust and Harris Forbes & Co. will not be affected by the consolidation of the latter with the Chase Securities corporation, but the new bond business of the Harris Trust in the east will be handled by the N. W. Harris company, the announcement said.

The security affiliate will enter the eastern field on its own account and will do an investment business along the lines carried on by the bank in the west, Mr. Harris stated. Management of the various organizations will remain practically the same, and the friendly relations which have existed under the old organizations will continue, he added.

Combine on July 1.

New York, June 24.—(AP)—Consolidation of the security purchase and distribution of Chase Securities corporation and Harris, Forbes & Co. on July 1 was formally announced here tonight. A new company, known as Chase, Harris, Forbes corporation, is being formed. The new corporation will have a nation-wide organization with offices in 52 American cities, two in Canada and a number abroad.

Lloyd W. Smith of Harris, Forbes will be chairman of the governing board and John R. Macomber of the same firm will be chairman of the board of directors. Halstead G. Freeman, who has been president of Chase Securities, becomes chairman of the executive committee, while Harry M. Addinsell of Harris, Forbes will be president.

GRAIN MEN WILL MEET TO AIR GRIEVANCES ON GOVT. 'INTERFERENCE'

Grain men have been awakened to the alleged disadvantages under which they have worked ever since the government entered the cash grain trade and are said to have become particularly aroused against the grain futures law, which requires traders who buy or sell 500,000 bu or more on speculation to report transactions to the grain futures office. This, they say, is a detriment to the trade, as large operators do not like to have it known how they are interested in the market.

A call for a meeting to discuss the situation and take definite action at 3 o'clock today, in the smoking room of the Board of Trade, was issued yesterday. A committee of grain men has been appointed to lead the movement. At the meeting today James Coghlin will act as chairman.

Meanwhile, President Milnor of the Grain Stabilization corporation told inquirers that neither he nor Chairman Stone of the federal farm board had any new statement, or planned to have any, regarding the disposal of government sponsored wheat holdings, and that reports to the contrary were propaganda put out by speculators in an effort to force a statement and to effect fluctuations in the wheat market.

Note Bright Spots in Steel Despite Slipping Output

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—While steel production for the country at large slipped again this week to 36 per cent of capacity compared with 38 per cent in the preceding seven days, several bright spots were noted today by weekly trade reviews.

Iron Age reports that President Hoover's moratorium plan, the widespread coal strike, and the application by the railroads for an increase in freight rates constitute factors which well may result in a gain for the basic industry.

Through a probable increase in coke prices, the coal strike which is said to be spreading every day, is held likely to stiffen prices and thus bring buyers who have been holding out for lower prices despite efforts of manufacturers to stop the shading movement which has been under way for some time.

View on Moratorium.

The moratorium plan is looked on as a move toward bettering world conditions, while the freight rate plea, if granted, also would stiffen steel prices and thus drive in reluctant buying, Iron Age believes.

"One barometer that will command more than usual attention under current conditions is the scrap market," the review says. "During the last week heavy melting steel has declined 25 cents a ton at Pittsburgh and Detroit and $1 a ton at Philadelphia. The Iron Age composite price for heavy steel scrap has declined from $9.50 to $9.08 a ton, which is only 8 cents a ton higher than the thirty-year low, reached on Nov. 18, 1914. Finished steel prices are still without definite trend, with their future course hanging in the balance.

"The placing of outstanding tonnage of pipe line and structural steel and a modest pickup in railroad buying have given color to an otherwise drab picture, so far as current demands is concerned. Two orders for pipe line account for a total of 58,000 tons. Fabricated steel awards aggregate 34,000 tons. Bids have been opened on 110,000 tons of steel for the Golden Gate bridge, San Francisco. New fabricated work that has come up for figures during the week totals 44,000 tons. Fresh inquiries for reinforcing bars, at 11,500 tons, are the largest since the last week in March."

Improved sentiment manifest last week in the steel markets not only has acquired additional momentum, principally from developments in the world of international relations and finance, but also has received more tangible backing in the form of noteworthy activity in structural steel and pipe, Steel says.

FAVOR BOARD TO TAKE PLACE OF WHEAT POOLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 24.—Creation of a national wheat board to supplant the pools and the private grain companies in the marketing of all this year's Canadian wheat crop has been suggested to the dominion government by a deputation of westerners headed by Premiers Brownlee and Anderson of Alberta and Saskatchewan, respectively, and Robert Hoey, minister of education for Manitoba.

The outstanding specific proposal made to Premier Bennett by the two premiers speaking for the westerners was that the proposed wheat board should make an initial payment to the farmers of fifty-five cents a bushel. They submitted the view that the pools were not in position to make a sufficiently large initial payment to the western grain growers to restore the purchasing power of the west, which they held to be highly essential to national interests at the present moment.

One of the reasons submitted for this proposed major reorganization of existing wheat marketing machinery was that the absence from the wheat market of purchasers of wheat futures made it impossible for the pools and trade to protect their operations by hedging.

Sinclair Posts Price of 20c Barrel on East Texas Crude

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Meeting the recent action of the Magnolia Petroleum company, the Sinclair Oil company today posted a price of 20 cents a barrel for east Texas crude oil.

"This action was taken," the company says, "because of the fact that only Sinclair and possibly one or two other companies were maintaining a price of 37 cents for east Texas oil. Thirty-three purchasers were paying less, the prevailing price being 20 cents or less. Of the average of 377,000 barrels daily moving out of the field in the week of June 17 more than 250,000 barrels were sold at the lower price."

STOCKS RESUME ADVANCE IN NEW POWER DRIVE

U.S. Steel Co. Shares Close at Par.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—The stock market resumed its powerful advance today after yesterday's breathing spell. Stimulated by favorable news, issues in all sections of the list moved into new high territory and total sales went to 5,000,000 shares for the first time in several months.

Although the further advance brought fresh profit taking the selling was so well absorbed that gains for the most part were held and the close was strong. The feature of the market which inspired the most confidence was a spurt in United States Steel, which carried that weather beaten old leader to a level above par. U. S. Steel had a four point gain at one time but lost a fraction and closed at 100, up 3¾ points.

Among Bullish Factors.

Among today's outstanding bullish factors were: The partial acceptance by France of President Hoover's war debt proposal; the federal radio commission's decision in favor of the Radio Corporation of America; a boost in wholesale prices of cigarets by three large companies; a new increase in copper prices; strength in commodities such as lead, zinc, rubber, wool, cotton, and wheat, and the retention of the regular dividend by Westinghouse.

One bit of bearish news, the cutting of the regular dividend by the Pennsylvania railroad from $4 to $3 annually, was more or less ignored.

In the case of Westinghouse there was a 4¾ point gain at the end of the session, and Pennsylvania rail-

THE SERVICE WE RENDER

The esteem in which Moody's Investor's Service is held by the financial world is best illustrated by the general acceptance of Moody's Ratings. An issue rated highly by Moody's is everywhere regarded highly. Yet the mature, careful, and unbiased judgment of this organization, to which this is a tribute, is not confined to its rating of securities. It is just as evident in its study of the investor's own problems, and its application of these data to their solution. Today some eighteen thousand banking institutions and conservative investors are, in their own way, expressing their confidence in this service. They are guiding their investment programs by it—and profitably, too. For they are finding in return, protection against capital losses, sound appraisal of true investment values, and an opportunity to share in the legitimate growth of business and industry.

FACING REALITIES

• The great rise in the investing class in the United States was due to two well-publicized events. The first was the Liberty Loan drives, which widened immeasurably the circle of people acquainted with bonds. The second was the great bull market which culminated in 1929, and which made practically every adult citizen a holder of stocks.

• Neither of these events was in its nature likely to inculcate basic investment principles. The purchase of Liberty bonds was a patriotic duty, and only incidentally a matter of investment. The purchase of common stocks for a quick profit was simply the first step to an easily won Utopia.

• It is little wonder then that by and large the basic investment principles have not been used effectively as guides to action by the average investor. Diversification, conservation of principal, suitable maturity, adequate marketability, stable return—these and the other tenets of investment policy many investors have regarded as vague terms, to apply only where very large sums are involved. The careful formulation of a plan and adherence to it are admitted to be logical, perhaps, but not feasible in the average case.

• And right now, events have rendered many such investors completely ineffective. If they invest at all, they confine themselves to Governments and similar low yield securities, admittedly solely as a temporary expedient, pending the definite return of more normal conditions. When that occurs, they will invest, primarily impelled by the rise in values. Their approach again is apt to be largely conditioned by the prospect of speculative gains.

• This is, therefore, a peculiarly appropriate time to reiterate the fundamentals of true investment. The first essential, irrespective of how small the amount involved, is a conscious facing of the investment problem and the formulation of a plan to meet it. This organization is well equipped to assist you in this primary step as well as to aid you in making the plan effective. Your inquiry will entail no obligation.

Estimated receipts at Chicago Tuesday: Cattle, 8,000; hogs, 24,000; sheep, 10,000.

The hog market underwent a drastic readjustment of prices yesterday. Packing grades made up a much bigger share of offerings and all "lard" hogs slumped 25@40c, while fancy light weights, which were scarce, held almost steady at the opening. A few of these later receded 5@10c.

The extreme top showed only 5c loss at $7.50, while the general average came down 25c at $6.50, due to the severe break in weighty stock. The price range at the close was widest of the year, sales ranging from $4.40 for odd lots of 600 lb "packers" to $7.50 for selected 180@220 lb butchers. Less than two weeks ago the range covered $1.90.

Some of the smaller packers are buying sows instead of butchers for the first time this year. There was an improvement in the wholesale market for fresh pork loins and with smaller supplies in sight for today at some of the points farther west, most of the 7,000 hogs left yesterday were held off the market.

Summer Hogs Bid $7.60.

Light weight hogs for July and August delivery were bid $7.60 on the futures market yesterday, but there were no offers to sell at this figure. September light were offered at $8.25 and carried bids of $7.60. Mediums for September were offered at $8.00 and bid $7.60, while heavy grades were bid $7.40 and offered at $7.90. On the "to arrive" market light weights for today's delivery carried bids of $7.35.

Cattle got another bump yesterday. Beef has been accumulating in the coolers and conditions on recent sessions resemble those of late May markets when cattle prices sank to the lowest level in twenty years. Prevailing quotations are still 50c to $1.00 above that spot, but packers report that cattle feeders are sending in supplies too fast for the beef market to handle and some of the heavy carcasses have come down 50c to $1.00 per 100 lbs since a week ago.

Live steers are selling 50@75c lower than last week's close, with the exception of a few highly finished yearlings. The latter topped the list yesterday at $8.75 and compared with a top of $8.90 last week. Butcher stock showed losses of 50@75c for the week. Calves tumbled 50c again yesterday.

Lambs Sell Steady.

Packers seemed well satisfied with the level of lamb prices yesterday, resulting in a good clearance at the previous day's quotations, with sorting about the same. Most closely sorted strong weight native lambs sold to packers around $6.00, although city butchers and yard traders took several lots at $6.25@6.35.

Yearlings were unchanged, selling at $6.50 and below, while aged ewes held steady again. A string of Idaho range lambs sold at $6.25. Supplies continue to run small. Yesterday's total at the seven leading markets at 40,000 was smallest for Wednesday since March 25. However, they are above normal for this time of the year.

OPPOSES SALE OF CANADIAN LINES IN U. S.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 24.—(AP)—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railway, told a special parliamentary committee today it would be a "catastrophe" for the government road to dispose of its lines in the United States. He referred particularly to the Grand Trunk Western line running through Detroit to Chicago and the Central Vermont system in the east.

The possession of these lines, he said, was a distinct advantage to the Canadian National, particularly the Grand Trunk system. Important industrial areas in Chicago and Detroit were tapped, he explained, and the road reaped a large revenue through the interchange of traffic to and from these centers.

J. D. Chaplin, chairman of the committee inquiring into the finances and general conditions of the system, said he had heard reports the Canadian National was considering the disposal of its Grand Trunk Western holdings. Sir Henry declared there was absolutely no truth in this report.

At this point Col. Thomas Cantley, a member of the committee, said he would "go so far as to say I am one who would get rid of the United States lines. I think that will have to come."

SENTIMENT IN GRAIN IMPROVES, PRICES ADVANCE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Outside interest in the grain markets is expanding, and while there is a marked disposition on the part of operators on either side to act with a great deal of caution, owning to the farm board's holdings of 200,000,000 bu wheat, there has been a material lessening of the pessimistic views predominating during the last few months.

There was nothing in the routine news to account for aggressive and heavy buying of wheat yesterday, with houses with eastern connections active on that side the greater part of the day, although in some quarters there was a belief the buying to some extent represented short covering for a leading local professional. At the top prices were up around 2c from Tuesday's finish, and only a fraction under the extreme high on Monday and the close was ¾@1¼c higher with July, 58¾@58¾c; September, 59½c to 59¾@60¾c, and December, 63¾@64c.

Political News a Factor.

The bullish construction placed by the world in general on the plan to help Germany, and the limited acceptance of the proposal by France, were factors in advancing the price not only of grain but also of other agricultural commodities, and as the trade see it the west would now be in shape to go ahead rapidly were the country assured that there would be no competition from the farm board's wheat stock. Some close observers of conditions assert that were a change made in its policy and the wheat held off the market farmers would receive an average of probably 10c per bu more than they would were the present stand continued throughout the season.

Profit taking, selling against offers and hedging pressure was a factor in checking the advance in the local wheat market, although some houses with southwestern connections claimed farmers were not selling the new crop as rapidly as had been expected, and Kansas City houses were getting relatively few acceptances on overnight bids. New Kansas wheat has started to move and sales equal to 57@58c track Kansas City were reported at interior Kansas points.

Minneapolis wheat was inclined to show weakness, due to persistent selling of the June delivery in that market by the Farmers National Grain corporation with millers the buyers of the nearby futures, and hedged by sales of September, according to reports from that market. July wheat at Minneapolis finished ½c lower at 83¾c. Winnipeg failed to follow the full upturn in Chicago and finished ⅝@1c higher with July at 62½c, while Liverpool was ⅝@¾d higher with July, 61¾c at the last. Export sales of around 1,000,000 bu were reported in all positions during the day, including two cargoes of old crop winter said to have sold by the Farm Board at a price equal to 60c f. o. b. at the Pacific coast.

Fear Damage to Corn Crop.

Report of temperatures of 100 and over in parts of the corn belt, coupled with fears that a shortage in moisture would be disclosed in some sections in the west, especially Iowa, resulted in persistent buying of corn, with the December showing the most strength. July was inclined to lag and finished ½c higher at 58⅝@58¾c, while the September was 1c higher at 57@57½c. December gained 1⅝c and closed at 50¾c.

Cash and commission houses were free sellers of July corn at 59c, the outside figure for the day while spreaders bought July and sold September. Sales of 150,000 bu cash corn were made to go to store and the country sold over 100,000 bu to arrive. Shipping demand remains slow.

Oats and rye joined in the upward movement in other grains and while there was a lack of individuality in the trading the undertone was strong. Oats finished with net gains of ¾@⅞c, with July, 27¼c; September, 27⅝@27¾c, and December, 30⅝@30¾c. Rye gained ¾@1c, with July, 38½c; September, 40½c, and December, 43¾c. There was some changing over from the July to the September at 2c difference.

LARD UP 5 TO 10 CENTS

An easier start in the provision trade yesterday, due to lower prices for hogs, was followed by an advance, and closed at net gains of 5@10c. The upturn was due to stronger markets for grains, cotton, and securities and to covering of shorts and buying by packing interests. A fair trade was on in July bellies, with a loss of 7¼, but other deliveries were neglected, and closed 8@10c lower. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d lower. Export clearances from New York were 231,000 lbs. Hog receipts were larger than a week ago, but smaller than last year. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGHER

Another advance of ¾c was made on butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, the markets moving forward, due to continued good support. Potatoes were steady to firm, round whites being unchanged and Idahos and Green Mountains up 1c. Statistical news in butter and eggs continued to encourage buying, the butter storage report showing 190,000 lbs less in than last year, and the egg report 4,000 cases less in. New buying and short covering were equally prominent and checked the realising and new selling which entered on the advance. Sales: Butter, 103 cars; eggs, 73 cars; potatoes, 16 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car; eggs, 2 cars. Prices follow:

HEAT HITS IOWA CROPS

"Iowa crops are in a critical situation as the results of a week of scorching winds," says the Iowa weekly weather crop report. "The winds and the absence of rain the first part of the week rapidly depleted soil moisture, causing crops to suffer. Rains which fell the latter part of the week were so light in central and eastern counties that they afforded only slight relief.

"Corn was reported to have made a fair growth generally and excellent where the moisture was sufficient. 'Knee-high' corn was a reality in many localities, while the earliest corn was 2½ feet to waist high.

"Possibility of good oats and barley crops was increased by the rains, while winter wheat was turning and preparations made to begin harvest shortly in southern counties.

HIDE FUTURES

Prices of futures on the New York Hide exchange registered further advances in a very active market, closing 10 to 30 points higher. Total sales, 3,840,000 lbs. Prices follow:

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was more active today and, with refiners showing more interest prices, advanced 1-32 of a cent to the basis of 3.40c for spots, duty paid.

Reflecting the strength in the spot market, the higher ruling of the stock and other commodity markets, and a growing belief of the ultimate success of the Washington proposals for a delay in the payments of reparations, sugar futures were firm and 3 to 7 points higher. Approximate sales, 45,750 tons. Prices follow.

The withdrawal demand for refined was more active today, probably promoted by the warmer weather, but there was no new business and prices were unchanged at 4.55c for fine granulated.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders are working more toward the buying side of the market, and rallies after recessions are sharper and more extensive. There is more constructive news from domestic and foreign sources but at the same time, movement of new wheat in the southwest is steadily increasing and the trade has to take more hedging sales. The market absorbed more of the latter class of selling than at any previous time this season and as harvesting advances the movement is expected to enlarge. With changed conditions as a result of the Hoover foreign debt movement, traders believe that lowest prices have been seen for the present. There are many traders, however, who remain bearish, and who say there is too much uncertainty as regards the farm board's action to stick too closely to the long side.

The trade is full of various reports, some bordering on the political action at Washington in regard to the President's position relative to the farm board's future. Traders say that until the atmosphere is clarified nervous markets are to be expected. The trade had it yesterday that production and sale of 4 per cent beer will soon be permitted, which will increase the consumption of corn and barley and make it possible for a large wheat acreage to be devoted to other cereals. Those who strongly advocated this movement said that if carried out successfully would probably advance prices of corn around 10c a bu.

Primary receipts of wheat are being watched closely, especially by those who are bearish on wheat. Yesterday's arrivals of 918,000 bu compared with 763,000 bu last year. Kansas City, Duluth, and Minneapolis stocks of wheat are said to have decreased 1,305,000 bu recently. Some of it is going to Canadian ports, which comes out of the visible supply. The latter is the largest known at this season.

COTTON UP $1.00 A BALE

A more constructive attitude was taken by cotton traders and a good volume of business passed and a regular and higher price movement, with a close well toward the top on the most active deliveries. The late strength in the stock market had a stimulating influence in cotton and the whole trade seemed to be taking more interest in the market. France's acceptance of the debt proposal was an especially stimulating influence. Cables were up 10@20 points at the close with sales of 6,000 bales, including 4,000 bales American. Futures in Chicago closed 13@22 points higher, with New York up 10@13 points and New Orleans 16@23 points. Spot in the latter market gained 15 points to 9.70c, with New York up 10 points to 9.80c; while Galveston was 9.80c and Houston 9.70c, equalling New Orleans prices.

The government weekly crop report said temperatures were higher and rains generally were heavy with localities in the central and eastern states needing moisture. The growth in general is satisfactory. In Texas the plant bed has had a good advance but are small for the season.

Thomson & McKinnon say that the cotton market has a new vision and who can say what it will ultimately unfold? J. S. Bache and company say the feeling prevails that if the government has ceased to use political expediency as a basis for its operations and adopt more constructive measures in line with the Hoover recommendations proposal higher prices should be forthcoming. Prices follow:

PROGRESS OF HARVEST

"Except for some local lodging, winter wheat generally is in very good to excellent condition in the Ohio valley with cutting general in southern part. Harvesting is under way in the Missouri river and about completed to southern Oklahoma," says the government weekly weather crop report. "Harvesting is half to three-quarters done in many southern counties of Kansas. Winter wheat progress varied in northwestern parts of the country. Montana had beneficial showers which helped in places but in the east central part came too late, while in the Pacific northwest the crop was generally improved.

In the spring wheat belt conditions were greatly improved. In extreme northwest North Dakota and east central Montana moisture came too late to materially help. Parts of the southeast and southwest corn belt, including Kansas and Oklahoma, need moisture, but for the country as a whole the crop has made fair to good progress and is unusually well cultivated.

Nebraska crops are in generally satisfactory condition, according to the bankers' mid-month report. Condition of winter wheat is 82.9 per cent, as compared with 95 per cent a month ago and a prospective yield of 17.7 bu. It is estimated that 20 per cent of the crop will be cut with combines. The corn crop as a whole is earlier than last year, but not quite up to the usual for this date. There is about 88 per cent of a full stand. Condition of oats is 82.5 per cent, barley 84.8 and rye 80.6 per cent. Considerable rye was injured by the freeze and the drought.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—Cotton goods today were holding at the higher levels of price and yesterday for print cloths and some of the sheetings. Buying was less active. Some finished cloths were in better call, chiefly the printed lines. Wool goods held steady. Silk was selling moderately, with silk goods most active in clean-up lines. Burlaps were steady to firm. Rayon production was increasing.

WHITNEY REPLIES TO CRITICS OF MARKET CREDIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Events of the last year have demonstrated that the extensive use of credit in stock market operations does not deprive "either production or trade of its legitimate amount of financial accommodation," according to Richard Whitney, who, in his report for 1930, as president of the New York stock exchange, contends that loans to brokers "provide a means for facilitating the flow of capital into industry."

Mr. Whitney undertakes to answer the complaint that American country banks curtailed their local loans in 1930 to ("lend to Wall street." "The great wave of banking insolvencies during 1930," he says, "rendered inevitable the reflection that if these unfortunate institutions had placed even more of their funds in 'brokers' loans than they did, not merely they themselves, but also the immediate communities which they served, might today be in a very much better economic and financial condition than they actually are. Certainly, the greatest damage a bank can inflict upon its community is to fail, and there is no record of any American bank ever having failed because of excessive security loans to stock exchange members."

Mr. Whitney conceeds that there can be "an over expansion of broker's loans like any other loans even if they are unique in the complete extent to which lenders are under such circumstances protected," adding that "it can be equally undesirable to have brokers' loans too small."

NOTICE.

To the Stockholders of Central Trust Company of Illinois and to Whom It May Concern:

You are hereby notified that at a meeting of the Board of Directors of Central Trust Company of Illinois, held on the 23d day of June, 1931, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted by the affirmative vote of a majority of the whole Board of Directors of Central Trust Company of Illinois, to wit:

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors of this corporation desires and proposes:

(a) That substantially all of the assets of this corporation shall be conveyed to Central-Illinois Company in exchange for certain of the shares of capital stock of said Central-Illinois Company, which shares of stock when received shall be forthwith distributed among the stockholders and all corporate rights of the same in the hands of the Trustees who hold in trust for the stockholders of this corporation shall be transferred to and vested in said Central-Illinois Company, to be held by them for such stockholders of this corporation on the basis and upon the terms and conditions existing shares of stock of said Central-Illinois Company are so held; and

(b) That after the foregoing transfer and distribution set forth in (a) shall have been accomplished this corporation shall consolidate with Chicago Trust Company, and the consolidated corporation shall be constituted at the time of such consolidation upon such a basis that, inter alia, (1) the name of the consolidated corporation shall be Central Republic Bank and Trust Company, (2) the capital stock of the consolidated corporation shall consist of 140,000 shares of the par value of $100 each, and (3) of such shares 80,000 shall go to the stockholders of Central Trust Company of Illinois and 60,000 to stockholders of Chicago Trust Company, which prior to the consolidation will have become the owner of certain assets of The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago; and

(c) That the capital stock and/or surplus of this corporation shall be increased to an extent, if any, as shall be necessary to enable the matters set forth in (a) to be finally accomplished.

Now, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of Central Trust Company of Illinois that a special meeting of the stockholders of this corporation be and the same is hereby called to be held at the office of this corporation, 134 South La Salle Street, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, on the 25th day of July, 1931, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. (Chicago Daylight Saving Time), for the purpose of considering and/or voting upon, and/or determining and/or authorizing and/or approving all details in respect of the foregoing questions and/or proposals and any and all matters in any way germane thereto, including a change of name of this corporation if desired and also for the purpose of taking any and all such corporate action as may be deemed necessary or advisable in connection with the consummation of that certain union agreement dated June 3, 1931, providing for a union of The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago and Central Trust Company of Illinois and certain of their affiliates, and that notice of such meeting shall be given in the manner provided by law.

You are further notified that pursuant to said preamble and resolution a special meeting of the stockholders of said Chicago Trust Company is hereby called and will be held at the office of said corporation, 134 South La Salle Street, in the City of

Household's rates are the lowest in Chicago

The nationally advertised Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $20 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Loans above $100 and up to $300 are made at a rate approximately one-third less than the rate permitted by the Small Loan Law.

T-H-R-E-E 1931 BARGAINS!

BUICK 1928 Model 47 Sedan. Without doubt one of the cleanest and best running cars in this model we have ever offered. The paint, upholstery, tires and general details are way above the average and the car is ready to give its next owner many hundreds of miles of first-class service. Do not fail to see and ride in it, if you are looking for a truly exceptional car at a bargain price. $525.

DODGE 1929 D. A. 2-Door Sedan. This car is coming into our possession in almost new condition mechanically. Has had very small mileage; the paint is perfect, seat covers protect the interior and equipment includes 6 wire wheels, fender wells, cowl lights, trunk on rear, etc. We know it cannot be duplicated at our low figure of $495.

GRAHAM 1930 5-PASS. VICTORIA CPE. Model 837. This large, luxurious and handsome motor car was turned in to us under certain circumstances which permit us to offer it at a saving well over 50% of its new-car price. It has actually been in service only three months, driven just a few miles, and in no way does it show the slightest sign of service. Equipment includes 6 natural wood wheels, 6 tires, fender wells; has 4-speed transmission; guaranteed. See and ride in it today; get our special price.
